VICE PRESIDENT IS DEAD

Garret A. Hobart Passes Away Surrounded by His Family.

Plans Completed for the Funeral Next Saturday, Which Will Be Attended by President McKinley and His Cabinet.

McKinley he came to Washington and took up his residence in the old Cameron mansion, adjoining the site of the historic old Seward house on Lafayette square, where Blaine dled. The Hobart residence during the past two years has been the scene of many delightful social affairs. Socially the vice president and his charming wife divided the honors with President and Mrs. McKin-Vice President Hobart's genial temperament and charming personality made him very popular, not only in the senate, over which he presided with dignity and ability, but with all who came in contact with him. Mr. Hobart left but one child, a girl of 22, died in 1895, in Italy, while there with her parents.

FUNERAL PLANS COMPLETED elect another senator to the office.

President and All the Members of His Cabinet Will Attend in n Body.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 .- Vice President Hobart's funeral on Saturday will be attended by the president and his cabinet, the supreme court, the senate in a body and a large committee from the house of representatives, besides many other high dignitaries of the government who will journey to Paterson to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of the vice president. Every senator has been invited to be pres-

Chief Justice Fuller no one could say whether the court would be able to attend the funeral in a body; the Scott and Kenney. officials of that tribunal generally expressed themselves as confident that it would do so.

Owing to the fact that the house of representatives is without a speaker, no arrangements with reference to the house committee were made today. General Henderson, who will be the next speaker; telegraphed to Major McDowell, the clerk of the house, at his home at Sharon, Pa., and Major McDowell is expected here tomorrow. Upon his arrival he will consult General Henderson and other representatives who and will be of generous proportions. are in the city and a committee will be appointed to attend the funeral.

Recalls Death of Hendricks. The death of Vice President Hobart naturally recalls the death of Vice President Hendricks, who suddenly expired with paralysis of the heart November 25, 1885. At the time the question of the succession to the presidency had not been settled by law, although Senator Hoar's bill, providing for the presidential succession through the cabinet had been submitted on December 4, 1883, and had remained unacted upon. The news of Mr. Hendricks' death was received in Washington late on the afternoon of November 25. President Cleveland was at dinner when the news was brought to him by Secretary Lamont. Notices were sent at once to all members of the cabinet and a special cabinet meeting was held that President Cleveland's first act was to dispatch a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Hendricks, after which a proclamation was prepared, making an official announcement of the vice president's death to the public and establishing a usage which was followed today by President McKinley.

On the morning following Mr. Hendricks' death a meeting of such members of the heard the news on his arrival at the State affair in which the ambaesador represented house and senate as were in town was held at the capitol and committees from both the White house. Law Applying to Vacancies The law applying to the vice presiden was enacted January 18, 1886, by the Fortyointh congress, first session. The main feaures are as follows:

"Be it enacted, etc., that in case of renoval, death, resignation or inability of UNCONSCIOUS FOR SEVERAL HOURS both the president and vice president of the United States, the secretary of state or ecretary of the treasury, or secretary of war, or attorney general, or postmaster general, or secretary of the navy, or ecretary of the interior shall act as president until the disability of the president or vice president is removed, or a president shall be elected."

The law further provides that when one of the above cabinet officers succeeds to the presidency he shall call a special session of ongrees. A proviso limits the succession t these who would be eligible to the presidency under the terms of the constitution who have been appointed with the advice and consent of the senate. The effect of the law is not to provide a succession to the vice presidency, but merely to secure a suc-cersion to the presidency. By the death of Mr. Hobart, Senator Wiliam P. Frye of Maine becomes president pro tempore of the senate and will discharge all the duties of the vice president as presiding officer of that body. The senate rules specifically provide that no election is necessary at the beginning of the session. Garret A. Hobart, ir., a boy of 14. Fanny, Senator Frye, accordingly, will continue as presiding officer till the end of President McKinley's administration, unless he chooses to resign or the senate wishes to

A curious coincidence of the death of Vice President Hobart is found in the fact that of the six vice presidents who have died in office four died within a few days of the same day of the month in the year of their deaths, the death of Mr. Hobart being November 21, 1899; that of Mr. Wilson November 22, 1875; that of Elbridge Gerry November 23, 1814, and that of Mr. Hendricks November 25, 1885. The other two vice presidents who died in office were Clinton and King. The former died April 20, 1812, and the latter April 17, 1853.

WAHINGTON, Nov. 21 .- All the flags in Vashington are halfmasted out of respect to the memory of Vice-President Hobart. The announcement of the vice president's death, while not unexpected, came as a distinet shock and cast a deep gloom over the where he was loved and honored. The news was first received at the White house ten minutes before nine o'clock in a private message from Paterson. The flag over the executive mansion was immediately hauled down to half mast and the doors of the mansion closed to the public. The president was deeply affected by the telegram announcing his colleague's death, and at once dispatched a telegram conveying the sympathy and consolation of himself and Mrs McKinley to Mrs. Hobart. In him the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens and one of its most faithful servants. His participation in the business life and the law-making body of his native state was marked by unswerving fidelity and by a high order of talents and attainments, and his too brief career as vice president of the United States and president of the senate exhibited the loftiest qualities of upright and sagacious states—manship. In the world of affairs he had few equals among his contemporaries. His private character was gentle and noble. He will long be mourned by his friends as a man of singular purity and attractiveness, whose sweetness of disposition won all hearts, while his elevated purposes, his unbending integrity and whole-hearted devotion to the public good deserved and acquired universal respect and esteem. The itching and burning I suffered in my feet and limbs for three years were terrible. At night they were worse, and would keep me awake a greater part of the night. I consulted doctor after doctor, as I was travelling on the road most of my time, also one of our city doctors. None of the doctors knew what the trouble was. I got a lot of the different samples of the medicines I had been using. I found them of so many different kinds, that I concluded I would have to go to a Cincinnat hospital before I would get relief. I had frequently been urged to try Cuticura Remedies, but I had no faith in them My wife finally prevailed upon me to try them. My wife finally prevailed upon me to try them.

the ordinary remedies rarely cure. Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Doctors admit that electricity is the remedy of today. I guarantee my Electric Belt to be the best body appliance on earth on a bond of $5,000. I know how to apply it, having devoted twenty years of my life to the study of the subject. My belt is made "to cure," not simply "to sell." It gives a current which you can feel as strong as you want it, but does not burn nor blister. My belt has my special cashion electrodes and a perfect regulator. Don't buy a cheap, shoddy electric belt. The best is none too good for a man who wants a cure. My Electric Belt will cure you and is worth ten times its cost.
