"You ask my opinion whether such ruling of the court was a reversable error, and as to the propriety of appealing the case.

"In regard to this I would say that I think the court erred. If the check was regular it did purport to be the legal obligation. I know of no law which makes a check not stamped by the maker invalid. Section 7 of the act of the internal war revenue law of 1898 says: 'Such unstamped instruments shall not be competent evidence in any court.' This does not make such instrument invalid. The last clause of section 14 to whom the same is issued or by whom it is sold, or transferred, shall, before selling or transferring the same, affix thereon the stamp or stamps indicating the tax re quired.' The person to whom the check was given, could, under this provision, have affixed a proper stamp and it would be admissible in evidence upon the theory upon preponderance of authorities hold that the provision of the revenue law provided that certain unstamped instruments shall not be received as evidence in any court, relate alone to the United States court and not the

I was a sufferer for eight years from that most distressing of all diseases, Eczema. I tried some of the best physicians in the country, but they did me little good. The palms of my hands were covered, and would become inflamed; little white blisters at first would appear, then they would peel off, leaving a red, smooth surface which would burn like fire, and itch; well, there is no name for it. On the inside of the upper part of both my limbs, great red blotches, not unlike hives, would appear, and as soon as I became warm, the burning and itching would begin. Night after night I would lie awake all night and scratch and almost go wild. I got a box of CUTICURA Ointment, a bottle of CUTICURA · RESOLVENT, and gave them a thorough trial, and after a few applications I noticed the redness and inflammation disappear; before I had used one box there was not a sign of Eczema left. I can truthfully assert that $2.00 worth of CUTICURA REMEDIES cured me.
