Alleged School Board Boudlers Are Not Ready for Preliminary Examination.

COWIE'S ATTORNEYS ASK CONTINUANCE

Judge Overrules Application and Defendant Waives Hearing—Case of Sears and Hess Continued Until Next Monday.

A. M. Cowie, George H. Hess and Frank A. Sears, members of the school board who stand accused of accepting bribes in connection with the awarding of school supply contracts, appeared before Judge Vinsonhaler in the county court yesterday morning.

Cowie hurriedly left the room, seemingly glad to get away. The scattering iron gray in his mass of wavy hair looks just a trifle whiter than it did a month ago and crow's-foot clusters about his eyes.

WHAT DO THE CHILDREN DRINK? Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O?

were expected to swear. This the defense did not do. The application was argued at length by either side and there was a lively war of words between the county attorney and the counsel for Cowie.

Cowie is nervous. Cowie's face blanched at this announcement, color then coming to his pallid cheeks; veins stood out on his neck like so many waterpipes.

There was a dramatic scene when Detective Buckminster entered the court room. Cowie sat at the end of a table occupied by newspaper reporters.

It seemed to be an accident on the part of Cowie. The sleuth stared boldly, though not rudely. Cowie's eyes dropped in an instant, he twisted about in his chair, and his pearly white teeth pressed down upon his thin, colorless lips.

Hess's Deftant Air. If George H. Hess is worried about this school board expose, his general appearance doesn't indicate it.

The county attorney insisted that Hess and Sears be placed on preliminary trial at once. Their attorney asked for a short continuance on the ground that being afflicted with an acute throat trouble he was scarcely able to proceed with the case.

Although an abundance of testimony has already been brought out through the primary investigation made by the members of the school board, supported by citizens, the prosecution relies upon H. B. Dodge, the Chicago window blind agent, to corroborate the testimony of the detectives. There is more or less popular prejudice against professional testimony, but as Mr. Dodge is not in the detective business his testimony is expected to counteract whatever prejudice exists.

No Pardon for Wilkins and Butler. WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The president has denied the application of Joseph Wilkins and Howard Butler for pardon. These men were convicted of violation of the oleomargarine laws and sentenced in the United States district court at Philadelphia March 17, 1898, the former to imprisonment for six months and to pay a fine of $1,500, and the latter to imprisonment for four months and to pay a fine of $500 a cost.

Robbers Blow a Quack Safe. BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 19.—The Bank of Birmingham, ten miles north of here, was robbed early this morning. It is reported that $120 was taken. The robbers used dynamite to blow open the safe. The explosion stunned the town. The robbers, it is believed, crossed on a handcar.

ARGUMENT WILL BE WRITTEN

Participants in Differential Question Will Submit Briefs.

ARBITRATOR OLDS WILL BE SOLE JUDGE

Continuance of Present Differential or Its Reduction Will Rest on the Merits of Argument Presented.

At its meeting in Chicago this week the principal business accomplished by the Western Trunk Line committee was consideration of the question of the Omaha-Kansas City differential on packing-house products to the southeast.

Technically the committee designates the territory involved in the late differential as the Mississippi valley territory, southeastern territory and Carolina territory.

An agreement was made permitting the following named parties to present arguments, individually or collectively: Each party applies in each instance on behalf of Omaha and Kansas City.

RAILWAY ORDER CHIEFS MEET

Believed to Be Holding a Most Important Secret Conference at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—The Post-Dispatch today says: One of the most important conferences of railway workmen since the great strike in 1894 began at the LaCrosse hotel today and is being held behind closed doors.

Among those who are taking a prominent part in the deliberations are: A. B. Garrison, Cedar Rapids, chief of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. G. Lutz, Cleveland, chief of Railway Trainmen; H. M. Arch, chief of Locomotive Engineers, and P. Sargent, chief of Railway Firemen.

It is said the conference was called to adjust certain differences between railroads and their employees and to consider the advisability of making a general averaging increase in the wage paid to conductors, engineers, firemen and other trainmen.

Fixing Up Central Pacific. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The Chronicle says: Now that the Southern Pacific company owns the Central Pacific the Kentucky corporation is preparing to expend considerable money in needed improvements on the Ogden line.

Two Extremes Meet

Big CLEARING SALE

LADIES' FINE FURS, Man-Tailored Suits & Jackets

The extremes of highest qualities and lowest prices. This is the sale that baffles all efforts at competition and it is simply an account of being anxious to clear out all odds and ends in our 'Cloak and Suit Department' that we connect these remarkable prices with such high grade garments today.
