The body of the regular army worm is smooth and devoid of hairs, but the fall army worm has sparse hairs growing out from small black spots on the lighter portion of the body, giving it a much rougher appearance. The fall army worm, moreover, possesses a whitish Y-shaped mark upon the head and differs as well in being of considerable smaller size.

Methods of Fighting the Worm. Farmers are advised to plow as deeply as possible all fields in which the fall army worm has been observed. As is the case ored with the convention, no pains or exgenerally in fighting insects, methods which pense would be spared to make the gathernok toward preventing damage would be ing a successful one. more effective than direct ones when some damage has resulted. Chief among these methods is delaying the planting of wheat Frederick Baumberger Will Appear until the latter part of September. Alfalfa Fields Should Be Disked. There are situations, as in the case of perennial crops, where plowing cannot be resorted to. This is notably so in the case of alfalfa fields. These should be thoroughly disked and practically the same result will be obtained. In blue glass lawns a thorough raking with a long-toothed rake is recommended. However, there are various means of re ducing the number of pests or entirely exterminating them after they have appeared in the fields. These may be arranged under the heads of poisoning, trapping and rolling. Owing to the great range of food plants and the extent of the field in which the insect appear, it is difficult to poison them successfully. In the case of alfalfa fields or other fields in which the crops are cut for forage or pasture, the danger of poisoning domestic animals renders the method too hazardous to be used.

In the beet fields it is practicable to spray the plants. Paris green at the extent of one pound to 150 gallons of water should be anplied. Often when the worms have destroyed a crop in one field they will go together to the next one. How to Entrap Them.

Altogether, the best means available are directed against the worms while they are in progress from field to field. It is sometimes desirable to cut the crop upon which they are feeding to drive them out and to-DEMAND INDEMNITY ward others, where they may be entrapped. Attorney General's Opinion. PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 22.-(Special.)-In 890 and 1891 the state, under constitutional authority, issued $210,000 in bonds to take up the share of the old territorial debt apportioned to the south half at the time of constitutional provisions regulating the creation of bonded indebtedness of the state a ten-year limitation is placed on all bonds | Chinese. issued, and that point has been raised against the issue of bonds to take up the old territorial debt. When the question was raised Treasurer Schamber called up Attorney General Pyle for an opinion as to the time limit on the bonds in question. The opinion, which was received today, holds that the bonds were issued under special provision of the constitution, and to carry an indebtedness already created under different regulations than those governing the issue of bonds which created a new indebtedness and consequently the tenyear limitation does not apply to them. If the state were at liberty to take up these bonds at the present time there would be a saving to the taxpayers, of interest for several years, as at least $100,000 could be called in at once. The opinion of the attorney general, though, is not one which

Pope Leo Pronounces Benediction on Fifteen Thousand Italians at Rome.

ROME, Feb. 22.—There was an impressive scene in St. Peter's today when the pope gave his blessing to 15,000 Italian pilgrims, who filled the vast basilica. The appearance of Pope Leo, borne on the Sedia Gestatoria, evoked tremendous outbursts of enthusiasm. The air resounded with "vivas." After praying at the high altar, the pope, carried n St. Peter's chair, listened to the singing of anthems, in which the congregation joined. The pontiff was then borne through the midst of the crowd and pronounced the ommittee on commerce today agreed upon all the amendments to be made to the shipping bill, but did not reach a formal agreement to report the bill. There is, however, no doubt that this will be decided upon at the next meeting, and it is possible that a special meeting will be called for the purpose of securing this action in advance of next week's regular meeting. The amendments accepted today were made as the result of a conference with members of the house.
