SPANIARDS GET MORE TIME

Six Months More for Those in Philippines to Change Flags

UNSETTLED CONDITIONS THE CAUSE

Assertion of American Sovereignty in Many Towns Where Spaniards Live More Technical Than Practical.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Secretary Hay and Duke of Arco, the Spanish minister, today signed a protocol extending for six months the period of time allowed Spanish residents in the Philippine islands to elect whether they shall remain Spanish subjects or surrender their allegiance and adopt the nationality of the territory in which they reside.

The article in the Paris treaty bearing on this subject allowed the Spanish residents one year from the date of the exchange of ratifications of the treaty within which to make their choice. That period expires on the 11th of next month. The extension arranged for does not apply to Cuba or Porto Rico. It is confined in operation to the Philippines for the reason that conditions in the archipelago have been so unsettled as to warrant the Spanish residents in hesitating in making an election in this important matter.

Many important towns in Luzon, where Spanish subjects reside, are as yet without American garrisons and the assertion of American sovereignty over them has been rather technical than practical, while on the Philippine islands no American troops or representatives have been landed. These considerations are deemed sufficient to warrant the extension to the Spanish residents of more time in which to make up their mind as to their future. It may be, too, that the Spanish residents in these islands desire to avoid making a choice until they have been some authoritative and final determination in the United States of the exact status of citizens in the insular possessions of the United States.

The committee amended the resolution so as to call for information as to the comparative losses and disabilities of the United States and the Philippines as compared with white troops.

RUNNING CROJNE TO EARTH

Brilliant Description of the Defeat of the "Lion of Africa."

ROBERTS' STRATEGY, CROJNE'S CUNNING

Hands Thrown Out that Encompassed the Boer General Until His Only Resource Was Digging a Trench.

LONDON, March 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—For a concise and graphic summary from a man on the spot of the campaign which led to the capturing of General Cronje Provost-Battersby's letter from Paardeberg to the London Morning Post is probably unequalled. Under date of February 24 he writes: "Lord Roberts' achievement stands relieved by his own merits, but from the background of failure which had preceded it. It was the conception of a man undaunted by the successes of his foes and accustomed not only to win his battles, but to take the risk of losing them."

"The cavalry column had hardly gone five miles beyond the plain before the ox wagons of the Boers were in-shambled and the long lines of transports were trekking back across the very line of advance he had been powerless to check. Cronje acted with promptness and decision. By evening of this same day not a man of all the Boer forces was investing forces, beyond a few straggling bodies of men out patrolling or foraging when Cronje gave the order to retreat, was left on the ridges and hills that had been their camping ground so long.

"The Boers to the north of the town at the intermediate station and Kampherdam were firing their last shots from their large guns in ignorance of their failure on the south. About three miles from the front, eight of the Royal Horse artillery had been extreme and it is impossible to praise too highly the handling that brought nearly all of them safely through the mêlée.

"There was no time to pause and at last came three miles from the front, eight of the Royal Horse artillery had been extreme and it is impossible to praise too highly the handling that brought nearly all of them safely through the mêlée.

AT MAKEKING IN JANUARY

Even Then the Rations Had Been Reduced and Foodstuffs Were Becoming Scarce.

LONDON, March 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Writing January 20, after the first 100 days of siege had been completed, the Mafeking correspondent of the London Times says: "We have now begun to prepare for an indefinite sojourn in Mafeking and almost all foodstuffs, beyond a few luxuries, have been taken over by the military authorities. Although we have enough food to last several months, this precaution is necessary, as the siege is a hard one and many weeks may elapse before supplies can come in. The garrison has been put upon a scale of reduced rations—half a pound of bread, half a pound of meat a day. The reduction in bread took place in the early part of the year, while the orders in relation to the meat supply were issued during this week. Matches and milk are prohibited from public sale and the latest order prevents the shops from opening. All supplies of biscuits, tea and sugar—preserves also—have been commandeered. It is, perhaps, difficult to define precisely what in the present circumstances are luxuries, but there should be no doubt upon the point the price of every variety of comestible has been inflated to an abnormal value. The shopkeepers and hotel proprietors and, indeed, anybody who can find any possible excuse for doing so, have trebled the price of their goods, branding that the inflation is due to the siege."

ARMY STINKS IN RIVER BED.

In a Like Position Almost any European Army Would Have Done Its Best to Cut through the Open and, Falling, Would Have Suffered.

"But dashing tactics suit the Boer as little as yielding is suited to Cronje. His reply was 'The rats.' He and his force were completely out of sight as though they had risen into the sky, and there at this moment they are like a rat in a hole—snarling, spitting, but immovable."

MAY LIBERATE MANY CONVICTS

If Contention for Dreyer is Upheld Joliet Will Lose Cook County Prisoners.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Upon the decision of Judge Dunne in regard to the contention of the attorneys of the former banker, E. S. Dreyer, now under a penitentiary sentence for embezzlement of $316,000 of the funds of the former bank, who has retained attorneys to secure his release on a writ of habeas corpus, may depend the liberty of every convict sent to Joliet from Cook county since 1895. Dreyer's attorneys claim that the mittimus in their client's case which provided that he should be confined until released by the State Board of Pardons, was in error, in that the parole law of 1895 provided that the State Board of Pardons had no authority to release, but only to recommend such action to the governor, constituted an error sufficient to vitiate the mittimus. Dreyer's attorneys have also raised the technical point that Dreyer had been twice placed in jeopardy by the dismissal of the jury in a former trial before a decision had been reached.

COST OF THE TRANSPORTS

Meiklejohn Gives the Senate Information of How Several Millions Were Spent.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Acting Secretary Meiklejohn has sent a report from the quartermaster general to the senate in reply to a resolution of January 9 last calling upon the secretary of war to report on the cost of purchase or charter of a list of all transport ships and other vessels purchased or chartered by the War department since March 4, 1897, together with their names, from whom purchased or chartered, the cost of purchase or charter, the cost of fitting up or repair, and the number and names of the vessels.

It is shown that thirteen vessels have been purchased by the quartermaster's department since March 4, 1897, exclusive of those purchased for the army transport service for transportation incident to the Spanish war. These included the ferryboat John Hancock, the steam tug General Hunt, Martha and John Barry and ten steam launches, all a total cost of $112,475, with $9,525 for repairs.

Forty-nine vessels of all classes were purchased for the army transport service during and since the Spanish war, including about two-hundred life boats, launchers, launches, and lighters, purchased in the Philippines. The total purchase price of these vessels was $8,074,455, and the total cost of refitting and repairing was $5,189,092. The most expensive vessels were the transport Grant Logan, Sheridan, Sherman, Sherman, $20,000 each, for such action. It thus appears that the Hancock, Logan and Sherman cost over $1,000,000 each and the other three named a slightly less amount.

The purchase price of the Transport Meade was $400,000, and $274,000 was expended in fitting it up. The purchase price of the Sherman was $200,000, and $250,000 additional was expended in fitting it up. The original cost of the Hospital Ship Relief was $450,000, and $265,591 was expended in its transformation. The hospital ship Measuri has cost the government so far $420,612, of which a little more than half has been expended in fitting it up for hospital purposes. Two of the large transport, Burnside and Hooker, are captured Spanish steamers. All the principal transports were acquired under the terms of their charters and were paid for out of the appropriation for the national defense.

There were 14 vessels chartered for the transport service at a total cost of $1,033,119 for services rendered, and a total cost of $1,894,342 in restoring them to their original condition on cancellation of charters. Of the chartered vessels seventy-nine were attached to the Atlantic fleet at a cost for service of $2,824,424, and for repairs of $175,580. The remaining sixty-eight chartered vessels were employed on the Pacific at a cost of $7,749,235 for service and $197,508 for repairs.

TRUSTS IN SOAPS AND FUSES.

German Manufacturers Attempt to Secure Uniformity of Prices.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Consul General Knicker at Frankfurt, under date of January 27, writes to the State department relative to a trust of soap manufacturers formed last summer in six of the Rhenish provinces with the object of establishing uniformity in the prices of both hard and soft soap. Certain methods employed in the soap-making business in these provinces to injure the trust have resulted in legal complications, whose final adjustment is awaited with great interest.

CURTAIN OF DUST WHICH ROSE FROM UNDER THE HORSES' HOOF.

The kopjes were quickly cleared by the impetuous rush of the mounted infantry. Lieutenant Sweet Escott of the Sixteenth Lancers was the first officer to fall, shot dead at fifty yards by a Boer who received a lance through his throat almost before he could produce the inevitable cry for mercy. Kopje after kopje was cleared and the Boers were driven from them right and left, as the column crashed forward like some great ploughshare, thrusting aside the enemy on either side, helpless to withstand this tremendous charge and almost powerless to harm it.

RING OF BESIEGERS BROKEN.

"At Devil's farm, at the northern end of the plain, the column halted and reformed in column after watering the horses. They had come ten miles and broken the ring around the besieged town. The pace at which the advance had been made had minimized the casualties and prevented Cronje from appearing with 10,000 men to line the kopjes on the plain. Cronje realized that he was defeated and acted with his usual sagacity.

"The cavalry column had hardly gone five miles beyond the plain before the ox wagons of the Boers were in-shambled and the long lines of transports were trekking back across the very line of advance he had been powerless to check. Cronje acted with promptness and decision. By evening of this same day not a man of all the Boer forces was investing forces, beyond a few straggling bodies of men out patrolling or foraging when Cronje gave the order to retreat, was left on the ridges and hills that had been their camping ground so long.

About three miles from the front, eight of the Royal Horse artillery had been extreme and it is impossible to praise too highly the handling that brought nearly all of them safely through the mêlée.

HORSES FALLING DEAD.

"Here the pace began to tell and horses after horse that had struggled on so far fell dead or were wounded and unmanageable in the heat of the fight. The strain on the horses of the Royal Horse artillery had been extreme and it is impossible to praise too highly the handling that brought nearly all of them safely through the mêlée.

"There was no time to pause and at last came three miles from the front, eight of the Royal Horse artillery had been extreme and it is impossible to praise too highly the handling that brought nearly all of them safely through the mêlée.
