STRIKE IN BUILDING TRADES

Trouble Likely to Occur on Monday Unless Conditions Change.

Building Trades Council Holds One of the Longest Meetings on Record -Local Situation is Thoroughly Discussed.

Unless one side or the other recedes from its present position there will be a strike in the Omaha building trades next Monday. There was a meeting of the employers' association of sheet metal workers Thursday rooms to consider the matter of the increase Players were present from both this city to the republican ticket." of wages demanded by the Sheet Metal Workers' union, wherein that union requests a maximum price of 40 cents per hour from the 28-cent minimum they are now receiving

The meeting lasted for over two hours and at its conclusion the secretary of the association announced that they had arrived at a conclusion which would be submitted in the form of an ultimatum to the union at its meeting Monday night. Until the union received the communication the price fixed by the employers would not be made public. Delegate Neiderweiser of the Sheet Metal Workers union was seen at the meeting of the Building Trades council. He said the union had decided upon a scale of 40 cents per hour and had decided to strike before accepting less; that the union had sent a committee to the Employers' assoclation, which had returned with an offer from that association of 25 cents per hour, and that the union had at that time voted to receive no communication from the employers unless they acceded to the demands of the union. Delegate Neiderweiser continued:

We want to have no trouble over the matter, and, therefore, last year we notified the bosses that this year we would demand 40 cents per hour and thus gave them an opportunity to make future contracts on Our minimum has been 28 cents, but many of the men have been receiving as much as 25 cents per hour, so really the raise is not as much as it seems. We do not see why we are not entitled to as good wages as the plumbers and bricklayers, as we are out of work as many months in the year and are as much subject to loss of work because of the condition of the weather. There are about thirty employers in the city and many of them are ready to pay the advance demanded by the uplon, but one or two of them who run the Employers' association are holding out. know of three or four firms who have told their men to report for work Monday morning at the advance, which will be paid regardless of the action of the Employers' as-In fact, some of the men who have told us they would pay the advance were present at the meeting of the employers tonight. They kept still and did not express their sentiments because they hope all of the members of the association will sign the scale and they will have no ill-feeling toward those who are ready to Building Trades Council.

The meeting of the Building Trades council Thursday night was one of the longest on record and the time was devoted to discussing the local labor situation in the light of the demands being made by the various unions of the council for increased wages It was the sentiment of all the delegates present that no union was making unfair demands and it was resolved that the council would stand by each union until the employers conceded the scale proposed.

Some of the delegates took exceptions to the remarks of the secretary, as published ! in The Bee Wednesday afternoon, and sought to fasten upon him the statement that the demands of the gravel roofers were exorbitant. A motion prevailed to have the secretary publish a retraction of the article in question. The secretary of the council denied that he had anything to do with the article except where quoted and announced that he was willing to stand by those re-

The Gravel Roofers' union had a meeting with the Employers association Wednesday night, but no agreement was reached. There will be another meeting this evening in the Barker block, at which it is hoped the agreement will be signed. The gravel roofers are now working under a classified scale ranging from 25 cents to 35 cents per hour and demand a flat scale of 40 cents per hour.

Park Board Refuses to Use Its Funds to Transform Harney Street Into a Boulevard.

Councilman Mount of the Seventh ward made an ineffectual plea before the Board of Park Commissioners Thursday afternoon that Harney street, from Twentieth to Thirtyfirst streets, might be incorporated into the boulevard system. He urged that when the Thirty-first street boulevard is completed Harney street would be the natural avenue thereto from the downtown district. board, however, felt that the move was rather in the direction of thrusting expense on it which should naturally accrue to the property-owners benefited and that the fate of the proposed Thirty-first street boulevard was itself too uncertain to make any extensions advisable at this time.

A fox, which was offered to the board at a reasonable sum by J. Wright, was purchased for the zoo at Riverview park. The payroll was audited and approved as

Metal Beds

We believe we can truthfully say we show more rich desirable designs in iron and brass beds than any other store. Artistically designed and finished beds does not necessarily mean high priced. Some very rich novelty designs it would pay you to see before making your metal bed purchase. Morris Chairs

We have just added to our large new spring showing of Morris Chairs a particularly good value-it's a chair worth all of $13.78. Shop around and you will find that this is the price ask-
