forgot; the jacket and the snake filling the places where the feet of their conquering armies trod and the dwellings of their prince while here in America, in the latter days of the age, the Jewish people, the habits of their oppressors, the Jews are observing those rites which increased the rulers of those bygone days.

Following the history came responsive reading of a psalm and the second toast, "To Husband and Wife." The minister then explained the reasons for the presence on the table of the bitter herbs, the lamb and the mixture of sweet vegetables. Then came the meal, which occupied an hour's time, at the end of which the ceremonial was again taken up with the prayer and the third toast, "The Children, the Hope of the Jewish People." Songs of ancient Hebrew origin, translated into English, followed, being sung to tunes which have reached in the secret of the East and returned to us again in proscribed race, the tunes of "Adir Had," "Adir Bimcheh" and "Had Gadyo, Had Gadyo." This last song is an allegory, relating to the people who have had dominion over the people of Israel, and is undoubtedly the original of the nursery story so well known to all children of how the old woman who was driving a pig called on the stick to beat the pig and upon the stick's neck called on the fire to burn the pig and when the fire would not burn called on the water to quench the fire and then upon the ox to drink the water. This song has all of these characters except the pig and the old woman. The Jewish people are typified as a lamb, the Egyptians as a cat, the Romans as a dog, the Magicians as a snake, the Crusaders as a steer and the final actor is the angel of death, which bears all from the scene of the action.

PUNISHING SCHOOL PUPILS

H. A. Doud Comes to the Defense of Mrs. Larrabee, a Teacher in Central School. OMAHA, April 13.—To the Editor of The Bee: The first article on the first page of The Evening Bee of April 13 may do great injury to our Omaha school teachers, and in particular, if the reports of ill-treatment of pupils to be in serious. As the father of one of the boys mentioned in the article I strongly object, as he also does, to having his name coupled with those of children reported as having "been forcibly punished" by Mrs. Larrabee. This teacher has never in any way punished Ralph Doud, and he has no grievance against her, but only against The Bee, which so strangely, though perhaps unwittingly, exaggerates Mrs. Larrabee's course in dealing with other offenders.

FATE CRUEL TO JOHN WALSH

Old Mendicant the Victim of Pillage and Assault Upon an Estate Once His Own. Saturday afternoon an old man, feeble and infirm, was dragged out of a covered wagon standing on a vacant lot near Fourteenth and William streets and assaulted by a ruffian. Not content with kicks and blows the ruffian looted the wagon and laid waste the old man's supply of provisions. An hour afterwards a series of ill-adviced outrages called at the police station and swore out a warrant for the arrest of his assailant.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Omaha Philosophical society meets at 2:30 p. m. in the Paxton cafe. James E. Scripps of the Detroit Evening News is the guest of his son-in-law, F. W. News. Mr. Scripps inspected the plant of the Bee during the afternoon yesterday. Dan Daly, a machinist employed at the Pacific shops, was so severely shocked by an electric light wire on Saturday night that his recovery is considered doubtful. W. J. Coleman was brought to Omaha Saturday afternoon from Des Moines. He is charged with the murder of Robert W. Cook, committed by Robert W. Cook with a forgery on February 11.

OLD RELIGIOUS CEREMONIALS

Interesting Celebration of the Passover by the Reformed Jews in Metropolitan Hall. Friday night witnessed one of the oldest religious ceremonial in the history of the world. For 3,300 years the annual return of spring has brought with it the Jewish Passover, and on the eve of "Pasach" or Saturday in the homes of all Jews has been observed "Seder"—the domestic feast of the Passover, at which the master of the household tells the story of the bondage of the Jews and of their miraculous escape from Egypt.

90,000 pounds of coal, 2,500 pounds of flour and groceries, 17,574 pieces of clothing, 535 pairs of shoes, sixty-five blankets, twelve stoves, and various miscellaneous articles.

The association was established in 1892 and for six years was under the direction of the late Thomas L. Kimball. The success of the charity was largely due to his efforts and the trustees are anxious that the work may be continued. To do this, however, the trustees appeal to the friends of this organization to lend it their support at this time. The total of the association's obligations amount to $2,585.18 and the public is requested to increase this amount as far as possible by its subscriptions.
