Plans for New High School Examined and Discussed by Visiting Citizens,

Monresident Pupils to Be Excluded from Schools After May I Unless They Pay Tultion to End of Year.

Consideration of plans for the new High school building was the chief business that claimed the attention of the Board of Education last night. About a dozen invited visitors under the leadership of President Euclid Martin of the Commercial club were under consideration, and numerous other citizens were also in attendance.

Architect Latenser presented his plans and explained them in detail. He had the ground plan of what he termed the finished institution of the future. It contemplated a quadrilateral building 200x250 feet in dimensions. & Co. for grading the lot back of the new surrounding a large central court, with building between Eleventh and Twelfth and outer walls of stone and inner of buff brick, Marion and Pacific at 22 cents per cubic basement, while out of the center of the court will rise an imposing tower. The

As the board has only $150,000 now available he proposes to build one of the fronts at a time, completing the building as the means are found and necessities demand. Architect Latenser had prepared plans for or the 250-foot front. It appeared that the board had placed itself on record as favoring the 200-foot front, to be erected just Hamel & Co., $205 for both; Mardis & Co., east of the present building. This would mean the main frontage of 250 feet would ultimately be toward the south. There appeared to be a difference of opinion as to whether the 250-foot front should be to the east or the south, and upon that question hinged the question of which should be built first, as the first will be placed on the east side of the old building, with its first floor on a level with the basement of the present structure. If the 200-foot front is built it will cost about $150,000, while the 250-foot front will cost nearly or quite $200,000. Each will afford thirty new rooms and about an equal amount of floor space, owing to the fact that the shorter building is the deeper.

Opinions of Citizens.

Expressions were solicited from the visitors, and Mr. Martin said that speaking from a thorough knowledge of the present building, plans for the new one should contemplate an entire new structure at the earlies possible convenience. He thought regard at this time should be had to convenience rather than beauty, but the completed structure should be one that would be a credi to the city.

Edward Rosewater believed it would b advisable to build with the means now a hand a structure west of the present building to supply the present needs, an in the course of three or four years the more embellished sides of the structure could be put up, finally culminating in a frontage that would be an ornament and credit to Omaha. He was not favorably Impressed with the front elevations shown and believed the architect should be given more time. It was ridiculous to talk about a slow-burning building. A building is now either a burning or a no-burning building. Judge Keysor favored the 250-foot from and agreed with the suggestion that the building should be one that would be a credit to Omaha. He recalled how Judge Wakeley, at the inauguration of the new court house, had congratulated the people that they had a building that would meet the requirements for twenty years, while to remove the law library from it and Judge Wakeley found himself holding court be fireproof.

George H. Payne believed in building large enough at first. The first consideration should be size, the next convenience and next beauty. He favored the 250-foot

After the visitors had dispersed, the board decision, and the final adoption of plans was postponed until next Saturday evening. when it will probably be decided to adopt the 250-foot front structure and locate i east of the present building, so that the latter need not be disturbed until the time comes for the erection of the west and north sections, which may be built last for the completion of the quadrilateral.

During the evening Mr. Smith presented the following, which he said had been banded him during the afternoon:

April 16, 1900.—To the Board of Education I hereby tender my resignation as a mem-ber of the above named body. ARTHUR M. COWIE.

North Omaha Improvement Club Desires School Board to Buy Land Adjoining Saratoga School.

At the meeting of the North Omaha Improvement club Monday night the chief attraction was Councilman Karr, who was present in response to an invitation to listen to a recital of the desires of that part of Omaha in the direction or sidewalks and other public improvements. Mr. Karr stated that his interest in the matter of sidewalks had not abated in the least and as soon as he could get around to it sexteen or twenty cross-walk resolutions would be passed by the council and the northside people would be made happy.

S. R. Quigley said it was generally understood that the champion of cross-walks had been defeated in his object by the council man from the First ward, who had succeeded within three years it was found necessary in getting a lot of resolutions referred to a committee, but the president of the council asserted that the rumor was without foundain a little back room. THE OLD MISSIONS OF CALIFORNIA THE OLD MISSIONS OF CALIFORNIA are suggestive of the tawny race, who, before the buildings were wrought, discovered that sickness results when the kidneys become clogged and instead of filtering the blood, retain uric acid impurities, until the poison permeates the whole system, manifesting itself in many forms of disease. With healthy kidneys you will always be well. Sas Care and San Care Cathartic Tablets will prevent uric acid accumulations, and positively remove them from the system where they have secured a hold. Rheumatism and Kidney and Biadder Troubles were unknown to the Mission Indians who discovered the wonderful properties of these specifics now given to the world as
