ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The local leaders in the world's fair movement were in consultation today and reports from Washington were carefully considered. There was a unanimous sentiment that no compromise could be considered and that the clause in the bill calling for a government appropriation of $10,000,000 must be insisted on, as vital to the success of the project. In answer to a question from Chairman Tamm during the hearing, it was stated it would be impossible to hold the fair unless the appropriation was made, and this was the sentiment expressed today. This telegram was sent as an official expression of local policy.

CAR STRIKERS ARE ENJOINED

Federal Court at Kansas City Issues Sweeping Injunction.

INTERFERENCE WITH MAILS PROHIBITED

Government's Contract with Street Car Company in Kansas Under Court's Jurisdiction—May Be Done at St. Louis.

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—Federal authorities today issued an injunction forbidding any interference with the operation of the street car lines by the union employees of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. Judge William C. Hoek of Leavenworth, Kan., sitting in Kansas City, issued from the United States district court an injunction that is more sweeping in its terms than any injunction ever before served in this district in a contention between labor and capital.

The injunction is made absolute for a week, the matter being set for a hearing on Saturday next, and its restrictions shall be observed by the strikers the Metropolitan company has its fight with, for the strikers' hands are tied for seven days and in the interim the Metropolitan company can go about the reorganization of its disrupted forces.

The injunction is predicted upon the fact that several of the persons complained against as threatening the interests of the company are residents of other states and the further fact that the strikers threaten to prevent the company from carrying out its contract with the United States government to transport the city mail carriers to and from their homes.

The injunction restrains these persons and all others from in any manner, directly or indirectly, stopping or interfering with the running of cars on the lines of the Metropolitan street railway company, or from harassing, assaulting or in any manner interfering with any person who may be in the employ of the company as he goes to or from his work or as he is engaged in the operation of the street car engine union men and all other persons connected with the car houses, stopping places, stations, tracks or approaches thereto, or loitering in large numbers in or about any of the places named, or making loud or boisterous noise in the vicinity thereof for the purpose of intimidating or interfering with the company's employees.

The injunction enjoins any concerted action to cause any act or omission which will result in the stopping of the cars, or interfering in any way with an employe in moving a car which may carry a mail carrier, or a messenger, or upon which a mail carrier or a messenger may be riding.

In addition to the extra police and the county marshals sworn in today, a force of United States marshals will be on hand to interfere in case the injunction is ignored.

Up to a late hour tonight there had been no disturbance at the company's plant, which was maintaining a fairly efficient service.

It May Be Done in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—That the federal authorities are watching the strike situation closely is shown by the statement of United States District Attorney Rozier, Rozier demands that the mail cars be not the street car lines and that the street roadways, cutting the wires or in any other way and his talk contains a threat that the United States government may yet take a hand in the strike. The custom of piling stones and cutting the wires, which has sprung up only within the last few days, evidently furnishes the inspiration for Rozier's words and it is likely the strikers and their sympathizers will heed the warning.

No street cars will be run in St. Louis Sunday. Chief of Police Campbell considered it necessary that his men should have some rest and refused to detail them to keep the street car lines open. Campbell is reporting that the chief could not be moved from his purpose, the street railway people decided to make no attempt to keep the lines open.

Nine men succeeded in shattering a number of switches with dynamite on Papin street tonight. They worked openly and without being molested by the large crowd that the explosion of the charges had attracted. When the police came to the scene they scattered and escaped. Several innocent bystanders were clubbed as the blue coats cleared the streets.

Conference Ending Monthly.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The conference between the committees of the National Metal Trades' association and International Association of Machinists was resumed today.

More Miners Out.

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—The miners employed by the Pittsburgh Coal company at the Vulcan mine refused to go to work today because they were not given pay for room-turning and narrow work, and the outside workmen at the same mine were conceded in the scale, today being paid. The workmen at the Alice mine of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke company refused to work for the same reason. About 500 men are out of work.

The trouble will spread throughout the district and that 20,000 will be out in a few days.

The combine is advertising in eastern and western papers for miners to work in the Pittsburgh district.

NEW MANAGER SO THREATENING

As That Resulting from Diseases of the Stomach, and in No Class of Disorders Has the Success of the Shepard & Hendrick Practice More Thoroughly Asserted Itself.

A man with a first-class stomach may fail in business, but his body and brain are still fed with good, pure blood, and he starts anew an action of growth again.

Not so the Dyspeptic. Failure means to him the end. He sees nothing but gloom ahead. He despairs and gives up the battle and finally comes the useless old man in everybody's way, or else an early grave marks his end.

From one extreme or the other of the digestive organs comes the majority of man's ills. The statements of persons which have appeared in these columns from time to time not only show the terrible suffering that results from Diseases of the Stomach, but show that these diseases are almost invariably cured by proper treatment.

In no one thing has the treatment of Doctors Shepard & Hendrick better shown its marked superiority than in the treatment of Diseases of the Stomach. It is almost shocking to think of the severe and heroic methods of treatment used only a few years ago by all orthodox practitioners—a purge or an emetic; drugs that inflamed and irritated the delicate mucous lining of the stomach and increased the suffering, rather than allayed it—in short, added fuel to a smoldering fire. The treatment today used is successful in the vast majority of cases.

A person with a healthy stomach will eat a meal and in the period following the food-taking will have a contented, satisfied sensation. The dyspeptic, if he does not eat, will have suffering come to worry him for having neglected eating, or, after he has eaten, he will have a feeling of being too full, and then will come the feeling of languor or headache, or there will be pain through the bowels, or a gnawing sensation within the stomach, belching up of gas, heartburn, irregular bowels and coated tongue.

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mr. George Spangler, Credit Man for the McCord-Glady Company, wholesale and retail grocer, speaking of his catarrh of the stomach, says: "Catarrh of the stomach has been with me for several years. Almost invariably after eating I would have a dull, heavy pain in the stomach and bowels, as though filled up with lead or putty. The food would lie in the stomach without digesting, causing discomfort, dizziness and faintness. A number of physicians tried to help me, but none of them could cure me. It was not until I began with Dr. Shepard & Hendrick's treatment that I was cured. I finished the course about three years ago."

Stomach Trouble.

Jonathan Sharp, Rushville, Ill.: "For many years I had a lump in my stomach. It seemed as though it was a stone. I had a craving appetite, but could not eat. I was very thin and my stomach and bowels. My weight had decreased and the sourness of my stomach made it necessary for me to use large quantities of soda, but the acidity could not be relieved. The Shepard & Hendrick treatment has cured my dyspepsia thoroughly. I can eat anything now that an Indian can."

Home Treatment.

Doctor Shepard requests all who are deaf, all who have had nervous diseases, all who are all who realize that they are not fully cured by their hearing to cut out this

FRANK DERR IS ACQUITTED

Jury Pronounces Him Not Guilty After Deliberating Twenty-Four Hours.

After twenty-four hours' deliberation a jury in Judge Baker's court has declared Frank Derr not guilty of murder. The verdict was rendered at 10:30 o'clock yesterday.

Derr and his wife arrived at the court house yesterday morning. The jury was called at 10 o'clock and the prosecution suspended of the defendant was quite noticeable. Mrs. Derr was even more anxious, but she controlled herself like a heroine.

At first the jury came in Derr and his wife sat side by side in front of the bench. Mrs. Derr moved her chair a little closer to her husband and laid her hand upon his shoulder. It was less than five minutes—but evidently seemed to the Derrs like so many hours—four the time the jury entered the court room until the clerk read the words, "not guilty."

"The defendant is discharged," said Judge Baker in formal tones.

Derr remained seated as though he could not move. His countenance was blank; his face ashen. Characteristics of her sex, Mrs. Derr wept. She apparently tried to avoid open demonstration, but the joy of her husband's acquittal was too much for her. Jumping from her seat she embraced her husband and then extended her hand to each of the jurors. Derr, aroused from his reverie, joined his wife in the handshaking, which extended from jurors to attorney. Mrs. Derr approached the bench after she had thanked the jurors and expressed her gratitude to Judge Baker. Several friends of the Derrs accompanied them to the court room.

NO PROSPECT OF SETTLEMENT

Contractors and Striking Carpenters Further Apart Than Ever—Good Feeling Giving Away to Anger.

The building trades situation in Omaha is probably worse than it has been at any time since the strike of the carpenters and woodworkers May 1. All day Friday a special committee from the Bricklayers' union, acting in the capacity of peace-maker, argued and pleaded with the carpenters and woodworkers to settle their differences upon some basis of compromise. Their appeals were in vain and prospects of a settlement are far from bright.

At first the best of feeling was shown by the members of the contesting associations to their opponents, but this feeling is giving away and expressions of anger are now common when members of the Contractors' association discuss the situation, which are equalled by the juramentous language of the carpenters and woodworkers. On several jobs in the hands of the association contractors union men are employed. These men say that the contractors are paying them 40 cents an hour, while the contractors affirm that the men are receiving but 25 cents.

Another Smallop Case.

"Say, mister, use of that Smallop. What's you gwine to do about it?" This was the startling query of a Jim Fargo, a board-walker at the police station Saturday evening. "For heaven's sake get outside the station house, or you'll be a board-walker," retorted Desk Sergeant Marshall, while other members of the office sought safety from spectators in flight.

The negro went into the station yard and a long distance from the station, where he awaited the arrival of City Physician Ralph. An examination was made by Dr. Ralph and Dr. Ames, who agreed that it was a well defined case in the first stage. Payne was then removed to the city pest house.

A PROFESSIONAL WOMAN.

Experiments Made with Food. A certain professional woman in New York, connected with one of the largest institutions, has had a peculiar experience with an experiment in using a certain kind of food. It seems that in October last she had a serious illness and was at the point of death, the brain and body in the last stages of exhaustion. Her remarkable recovery was due to the fact that she had the attention of the makers by some of her friends and in reply to a letter she wrote as follows:

"I have no objection to the public knowledge of the wonderful transformation in my system has undergone by the use of Grape-Nuts since November, 1899. I
