The principals, Curley Suppley and Jack Abbott, came highly recommended. Their records were fairly good, Supples being looked upon with especial favor owing to his pugitistic career and the fact that he is generally considered as a possible candidate for lightweight championship honors. The two fighters had never met each other previous to the day of the battle in Omaha and prior to the fight each was optimistic over the outlook. Both seemed to consider the battle a crucial point in their careers. Supples knew that if he should suffer a knockout at the hands of Abbott his future aspirations would be wrecked and he would practically be a "dead one" in pugilistic circles. Abbott, on the other hand, had the chance of his life to put up a fight against a promising lightweight and victory meant for him immediate recognition as a "comer." The circumstances of the fight lead to the belief that Abbott was "fixed" during the day preceding the meeting, whereby he con sented for a consideration to release his chances for advancement in puglistic cirles and give Supples an easy victory,

Supples and Abbott may continue from now until doomsday protesting that the fight was on the square, as they did on the night and the day following their meeting, but few of the spectators who witnessed the affair could be made to believe it, no matter how plausible the argument presented. The actions of the men in the ring from the tap of the gong were not such as to indicate a scientific struggle for the mastery. They smiled and coquetted with each other throughout the entire contest. RHEUMATISM,

Sciatica, Lumbago or Lame Back Are Caused, Like So Many Other Diseases, by a Lack of Nerve Force.

With this weakness of the nervous system the digestive organs get deranged and the food not being properly digested turns sour and the result is that the acid is taken up in the blood, making it acid instead of remaining alkaline.

Nature, as usual tries to throw off the impurities in the blood, and succeeds to some extent while the weather is mild and the patient is not exposed in any way, but just as soon as there is a change in the weather, either cold or dampness, then the acid cannot get out and there are chills, pain in the back, kidneys, muscles and bones, shooting pains in various parts of the body and swollen joints.
