FIND CORPSE IN THE RIVER of Old California Miner and Prospector Turns Up in ten tork. NEW YORK, May 22 .- A corpse found in he North river today is believed to be that of J. W. Moyle, a mining stock broker of San Francisco, who disappeared from the Hoffman house April 9.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 .- J. W. Moyle, whose corpse was found in the North river. New York, today, was an old California miner and prospector. Of late years he was a mining promoter and his business was transacted mainly in London and New York. He had not been in California for some time. It was known among his friends here that his business had not been prosperous of late and when he disappeared in April considerable apprehension was felt. So far as known he has no relatives here.

Man Thrown from Freight Train. CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 22 .- (Special.)man named John Underhill was found alongside the Union Pacific tracks three miles east of Rock Creek station yesterday morning. He was suffering with a broken leg, which had been snapped in two places, a dislocated hip and a contusion on the head. Underhill was taken to Rock Creek on a hand car and from there brought to Laramie, where his wounds were dressed, He was later taken to a Denver hospital. Underhill tells a tale of cruelty, which if true will not only result in the discharge of one or more persons in the employ of the railroad company, but their arrest and prosecution as well. Underhill says that he was a passenger on a freight train and that he was riding on a pase. When near Rock Creek he was approached by a brakeman and ordered to get off. The train was running at a lively rate of speed and Underhill remonstrated. The brakeman persisted and pushed Underhill from the train. For a long time Underhill was unconscious and laid out on the prairie from Saturday morning until found yesterday morning. He was unable to move and shortly after regaining con-sciousness he became so thirsty that he was unable to call for help from the passing trains or gangs of section men. He was discovered by a tramp. Curiosity Saves Life.
