In speaking of the record of the last year Bishop Morrison referred with eloquent ulogy to the deaths of Henry Adams Nealy, D. D., bishop of Maine; Mahlon N. Glibert, D. 12, condjutor bishop of Minnesota, and to the deaths of two priests of the Iowa diocese, Rev. Levi I. Jenner and Rev. Joseph I. Corbyn, until lately rector of St. Mark's church, Anamosa, and five prominent laymen of the diocese, among whom was the late D. C. Bloomer of this city. In speaking of the deaths of these men the bishop said: "These men leave many mournings. Their going means so much to the several parishes to which they belonged, as well as to the diocese. It means much to a parish to have groceries, teas, coffee, flour, fresh and salt in it a thoroughly reliable, intelligent Christian man, a man who stands in the community for all that makes men strong and art, Leonard Everett, S. Advises Sale of Griswold College. Referring to the church institutions of the liocese, the bishop said St. Catherine's hall at Davenport had enjoyed a prosperous year. of Griswold college his report was different. Griswold is in all its departments defunct. It would be foolish to attempt to resurrect it. The money is not to be had, I advise the sale of the block of land upon which the college buildings stand. The price agreed upon between the Board of Education of the city of Davenport and the executive committee of the board of trustees is $3,000. This is a good price for the land, equitable both to purchaser and seller. The buildings are practically of no value except for the purnoses for which they were erected. The history of the property is this: Bishop Lee in 1856 paid $3,000 for the two blocks, including Wolf hall, which was already built, and had been used for educational purposes. Kemper hall was built at a coat of $55,000. We will have the block of land on which the cathedral stands free of all incumbrance—this part of the original purchase is now worth $30,000. The actual cost of the block on which Wolf hall stands was $18,000. This, added to the $55,000 put into Kemper hall, makes $2,000. So we will get out of the block in which Wolf hall stands was $18,000. This, added to the $55,000 put into Kemper hall, makes $2,000. So we will get out of the block in which Wolf hall stands was $18,000. This, added to the $55,000 put into Kemper hall, makes $2,000 and direct the trustees of Griswold college to convey to the bishop of lowa and his successors in office so much of the block upon which the cathedral stands as still remains in the possession of the trustees in trust for the uses and purposes of the cathedral. I would also suggest that the trustees of furlished hall, be instructed to turn over the balance of the purchase magey to the trustees of funds and donations, to be invested by them, and interest to be paid semi-annually for the purpose of repairing and enlarging $1.5000 the purchase magey to the trustees of funds and donations, to be invested by them, and interest to be paid semi-annually for the purpose of repairing and enlarging $1.5000 to the purchase magey Of Griswold college his report was different.

them, and interest to be paid semi-annually for the purpose of repairing and enlarging St. Katherine's hall. In conclusion the hishop commended the work of the women's auxiliary and urged that much be made of the work of the Sunday schools, The portions of the bishop's address referring to the increase of diocesan missions and the sale of the Griswold college property were referred respectively to the committee on state of the church and committee on educational institutions.

TOM SMITH DEFENDS HIS SEX

Lawyer from Harlan Gets After a Professor from Kansas in Earnest.

Dr. Chrisman Attacks Man as Being Incapable of Love and Gets Hot Rejoinder from a Man in the Audience.

DES MOINES, May 22 (Special Telegram.)-Tom Smith of Harlan, the lawyer, immortalized his name by a spontaneous burst of oratory in defense of men before 3,000 women of the National Congress of Mothers at its second day's session here this afternoon. Smith's speech was the climax of one of the most dramatic scenes ever witnessed in Des Moines. Oscar Chrisman, professor of paidology, or child study, in the State Normal school at Emporia, Kan., brought on the storm and when it was over he left the convention hall in disfavor with one of the greatest organizations of women in the country.

"Men never love," declared Prof. Chrisman. "What is called love in men is simply Why do you fix up your girls in fine clothes and send them to parties? For no other reason in the world than to make them marriageable."

Hot Deninl Hurled at Him.

Again the house was swept by a wave of murmuring disapproval and the dose of hisses was repeated. Half a dozen women sprang to their feet to speak, but Mrs. Birney, the president, announced that Mrs. Winfield S. Hall of Berwyn, Ill., had prepared a paper for the opening of the discussion, and Mrs. Hall took the platform. She combated the assertions with force. "Men do love," she cried, in a voice that penetrated every corner. "Prof. Chrisman's position is wrong, radically wrong. I know that the women in this building, and the members of the Congress of Mothers will bear me out in my denial of the truth of Dr. Chrisman's declarations." In the midst of the handelapping that followed Mrs. Hall's speech the voice of a man was heard in the room. "I resent the statement of the gentleman from Kansas that there is no love in man. We all know that is not true. The idea that man's feeling for woman is limited to sexual passion. It is false. I say that it is a shame for this man to come before a body of women like this, or before any body anywhere, and make such statements. It is a shame. I resent it in behalf of men, and I don't care whether the man who makes the statement comes from the east or the south or from Kaneas. It is not the truth, whoever says it.'

Smith's Statements Endorsed.

The members of the Congress of Mothers fairly shouted their delight with this speech The applause lasted several minutes.
