

WHO STANDS NEXT TO THRONE

Karr Believes Himself Heir Apparent, but Council Holds Otherwise.

NEW ORDINANCE TANGLES SKEIN TIGHTER

Vests Authority to Fill Vacancy in Council, but Charter Throws Succession of Power to Carr "For the Time Being."

The ordinance designed by the council to provide for the succession in case of vacancy in a city office has only resulted in more confusion in the minds of city officials. If death or some unforeseen occurrence should leave the chief executive's office without a tenant, the council would probably have to struggle royal between Carr and his colleagues in the council. Under the charter Carr believes that he is heir apparent to the executive throne until the end of the mayor's term, three years hence. The councilmen, on the other hand, consider that under the new statute they are authorized to fill such vacancy by an election in their own ranks. The new ordinance provides that whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of mayor, city clerk, treasurer, tax commissioner or councilman by reason of death, resignation or removal from office, such vacancy shall be filled by a majority vote of the entire council. The only charter provision covering succession in city office is section 75, which reads that whenever any vacancy shall happen in the office of mayor by death, resignation, absence from the city, removal from office or refusal to qualify, the president of the council shall "for the time being" exercise the duties of mayor.

"For the Time Being." The uncertainty of the charter provision lies in the words "for the time being." Carr says that he has consulted the legal department and is confirmed in the opinion that "for the time being" means until the next regular election, which interval at the most would include nearly three years. Carr adds that the charter is above and beyond any ordinance and that he is authorized to assume the duties of mayor in case a vacancy should occur before 1903. In case it should come to war between Carr and his colleagues, there would result a most delicate adjustment in the balance of power. In naming the mayor or successor the council would naturally be obliged to do without the co-operation of Carr. Carr's position would be expected to work for Carr's promotion, inasmuch as the former would fall heir to the presidential throne. Lohbeck and Burley, factionist members, could not be counted upon to act with Carr's colleagues. This only five votes would remain, a bare majority, with which to elect a new incumbent. If one of these should fail to stand fast, the council would be unable to avail itself of the privilege conferred by the new ordinance.

The council and city officials have pondered for several days on the problem and have found but one solution—they propose a toast to the good health and long life of Mayor Frank E. Moore.

Similar Cases in History.

In June, 1895, a vacancy occurred in a city office by the enforced resignation of Henry Bolls, defaulting treasurer. His deputy was not such a one as could be entrusted with the duties of the office at a crisis and the bondsmen, headed by Charles Steele, held the reins for several weeks. Treasurer Dumont was then nominated by the mayor and placed in the office without any legal authority whatsoever. Another similar case occurred in August, 1894, following the death of City Clerk Will Wakeley. The duties of the office were assumed by Deputy Evans until the election of Beecher Higby. There was a doubt as to whether Higby should take charge of the office at once or wait until the expiration of Wakeley's term. The difference was amicably adjusted and the arrangement continued until Higby's actual term began.

City Hall Briefs.

The council will meet this morning at 10 a. m. to consider the appropriation ordinance and other routine business. A telegram has been received at the superintendent of schools' office from Secretary Miskimmins announcing the death of his sister near Des Moines. Miss Miskimmins has attended her sister for several weeks. License inspectors George Steele, her son, his ultimatum on the wagon peddlers, and beginning today, all who have not paid their annual fee of six will be arrested for violation of the eighty-five peddlers of this class but forty-five have so far made payment. The threat of the city treasurer given publicity in the Bee, that he was on the point of demanding upon delinquent taxpayers, with district warrants, has borne immediate fruit. Yesterday more than fifty citizens appeared and settled the amount of their arrearages. The Board of Health is much pleased with the readiness with which the city is complying with the requirements regarding cleanliness. The sanitary officers have served a large number of notices during the coming of warm weather and the injunctions in nearly every case have been complied with. The health commissioner considers the city at the present time in good sanitary condition.

A Valuable Folder and Map.

A large folder, which is called No. 21 of the Four Track series, has been issued by the passenger department of the New York Central lines. This folder bears the title "Round the World by Way of New York and Niagara Falls in Sixty to Eighty Days." It contains a large amount of information of a cosmopolitan character, and an excellent railway map of the United States, showing the railway systems in good proportions. This folder is a sequel to the address given by Mr. Daniels before the International Commercial Congress at Philadelphia, and serves to illustrate the immense debt which the manufacturing and commercial interests of the country owe to transportation lines for the effective manner in which they have advertised the products of America, coal, mines and mills to the people of every country on the globe. The map which accompanies this folder is unusually clear and distinct and the coloring and shading are artistically treated. A copy of this folder will be sent free, postpaid, on receipt of 3 cents in stamps by George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent, New York Central, Grand Central Station, New York.—Travelers' Official Railway Guide.
