The Bee Will Give Seven Splendid Trips to Working Girls.

Three More Trips Besides for the Most Popular Girls in Nebraska and Wesetrn lows-A Spirited Contest Expected.

The enthusiasm shown over the vacation contests last year, and the appreciation of the young ladies who enjoyed the trips have led The Bee to make these contests an expected. While working in the towns they annual event. This year seven trips will be to the young ladies of Omaha, Council Bluffs and South Omaha who earn that they must have a horse and that they their own living. Like last year, it will be a merry war little pills that cleanse the liver and bowels. and, although a spirited contest, the best of good feeling may be expected. The prizes are worth the winning and the girls with the most friends will come to the front. Every one knows of some girl whose life is spent in the office, factory or behind the counter, for whom a vacation trip is impossible except as the result of this plan which The Bee has taken to give them a much needed rest and well-earned vacation. If you happen to know of anyone, begin saving your coupone at once and help her to the best of your ability.

There will be seven trips and the one receiving the highest number of votes will have the first choice, but all of our trips have been planned to make them as nearly the other two parties as their choice for 4-yard to one-yard square, suitable for as possible equally attractive, and the seven winners will have a vacation which many to be unable to find available and adaptable a person of means will envy.

AFTER RURAL MERCHANTS Kuights of Ak-Sar-Ben Anxious

Show Them the Sacred Elephant.

"We want the merchants in the outlying towns tributary to Omaha to join the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben," said H. J. Penfold, a member of the board of governors this morning. "Primarily we seek this for the reason that we want the superb enjoy ment of membership in the fold to radiate beyond the confines of Omaha and bring into closer bonds of comradeship and goodfellowship the merchants of the smaller towns and the business men of Omaha. Three or four years ago there were about 1,200 knights living in the towns within miles of Omaha, and at the time Ak-Sar-Ben was in the heydey of its prosperity and influence. Since the expositions a sort of coldness has originated in the outside towns and cities toward Omaha. We believe that Ak-Sar-Ben is the influence that will dispel this feeling more effectively than can any other means that might be employed.

"Our idea is to have the merchants from sell dickets, limited until October 31, as towns within 100 miles of Omaha come in on special excursion trains every Monday night St Paul, Minn., and return.....$12.65 and go through the initiation, becoming full-Minneapolls, Minn., and return...... 12.65 fledged knights. They would be accorded Buluth, Minn., and return...... 16.98 such a generous and hospitable welcome as the subjects of the king are able to bestow and there is no question that the feature would be a most pleasant one to the visitors as well as the resident members of the knights. They would be shown a good time. fed upon the fat of the land and sent on their way rejoicing. Every train leaving Chicago for Phila-delphia over Pennsylvania Short Lines has

When Mr. Penfold was informed relative to the action of the passenger officials in determining that no lower rate than one fare for the round trip would be granted for the Ak-Sar-Ben excursions from nearby towns he was much disappointed. "In suggesting this plan to the railroads we laid particular stress upon the necessity of the railroads giving most liberal rates to the merchants who would naturally be the ones to avail themselves of the opportunity of joining the ranks of Ak-Sar-Ben," he said, "a one-fare rate is too high. In order to promote closer relations between the business interests of Omaha and nearby towns the railroads could afford to grant a much lower rate. It would be utilized by the business men who are their patrons and would be in the nature of a compliment, although we wouldn't expect a rate lower than that necessary to pay the expenses of operating a special train. I believe that the various roads entering Omaha could run excursions on Monday nights from a distance of 100 miles and secure from 200 to 400 passengers. We hope to secure more liberal concessions from the railroads and l believe that the out-of-town membership of Ak-Sar-Ben will be as large this year as it was three or four years ago. This belief, of course, is based upon our success in receiving more generous treatment at the hands of the railroads."

FINE TRAINED ANIMALS.

They Are the Stars of Prof. Gentry's Circus. Over 100 dogs, fifty ponies, a score of so of monkeys and two tiny elephants comprise the animal actors of Prof. Gentry's aggregation, which is to visit and delight both old and young in Omaha all of next week. Since last seen here this exhibition has not only been enlarged, but greatly improved upon. New acts and new features take the place of the old and the performance the professor now presents is original. It is said aside from a thorough education of the animals they form a praiseworthy horse and bench show. HAYDEN BROS

Among the interesting episodes that are making trading most attractive in the town, that in shoes impressed the "ad" man the most. By inspiration or intuition, or some other way, the shoes here have a fascination for him. It may be from desire to touch up the shoe humbugs-but no matter the incentive, the highest note of comfort and economy strikes him as peculiarly manifest here.

Clear business sense and successful thought are throwing up entrenchments around the wants of shoe traders. The store is perhaps reflecting the best interest of the retail money spenders, but we are conscious of limits in low price giving. We are cautious not to raise more hopes than we can conjure. Come with the guiding fear of disappointment and notes of interrigation. It'll give a deeper meaning to the sale, a higher conception of the methods the store employs to make shoe retailing better.
