SPECIAL ASSESSMENT VOID

Judge Smith Knocks Out One Claim of the City for Taxes.

SUIT BROUGHT ON BROADWAY PAVING JOB

Fremont Lumber Rests the Sale of Hot Laid and Secures a Judgment Against the City and Officers.

The suit brought by Fremont Lumber against County Treasurer Arnd, County Auditor Innes, the City of Council Bluffs and J. L. Waddell in which he asked the right to redeem from tax sale a lot in Street's addition on payment of the general taxes, upon the ground that the special taxes for which the property had been sold had been assessed under a law which was unconstitutional.

The members of the city council are said to be figuring on taking a trip to Des Moines and Fort Dodge to inspect the brick plants of those cities.

John Gallagher, a boarder at the Tremont house, complaining of the United States supreme court in the now famous case of the town of Norwood, O., against Baker, decided in January, 1899. It was this ruling of the supreme court that induced the legislature of this state at its recent session to amend the special assessment laws.

Two More Possibilities for Secretary of State in Iowa.

LETTS AND HANFORD ARE MEN MENTIONED

Jesse H. Martin, Who Will Examine Affairs of Clerk of Supreme Court, Will Begin Work on Next Monday.

DES MOINES, June 15.—(Special Telegram.)—Two new names were being circulated among the politicians today as candidates for secretary of state. Representative Letts of Louisa county and Hanford of Floyd are both being discussed as possibilities. Letts was a Gear man in the territory and comes from the Morrow territory, but he is being urged by the farmers of Louisa county rather than by the Morrow managers. Hanford is a Charles City man and generally known throughout the state. He is also anti-Gilbertson.

It is the general belief that A. C. Smith being some one in the Eleventh. His friends here say that he believes this, despite the fact that he has authorized no announcement in Des Moines. He is not working so much to gain the state as to split the Eleventh district.

Jesse H. Martin, who has been commissioned Governor Shorter to examine the affairs of the clerk of the supreme court in order to determine whether the charges of misappropriation of fees made by Treasurer Herriott are correct, today said he expected to begin work Monday. He expects to be able to report to the governor within a week.

MacLean of the State University of Iowa delivered the address. Sixty-one students received diplomas, the largest class ever graduated from the college. President MacLean delivered a very interesting address, choosing as his subject the mission and purpose of Iowa colleges. He pointed out that the purpose of the theory that all of the Iowa colleges should be united into a sisterhood of colleges, with the State university as the heart, or head. President MacLean experienced considerable difficulty in getting to Grinnell. He was due at 9:30, but a washout threatened to prevent his coming. ance and objects to having the breweries and saloons mulcted. The intimation is that certain members of the council are trying the old time hold-up game which prevailed under democratic administrations. The mayor says that while this supposition may be wrong, indications certainly point in this direction and he proposes to do all he can to put a stop to any such dealing. The money now tied up is needed, not only by the school district, but by the city, as the interest on outstanding claims is piling up every day.

Woman in Black Works Merchants. A woman dressed in black worked the bogus check racket on a number of merchants in the city Thursday night and Friday morning and is now among the missing. At the stores she visited she presented checks purporting to be drawn in favor of Joseph Hansen and signed by W. J. Perry of the Perry Commission company. The checks passed as similar to those issued by banks to private parties and are entirely unlike the checks used by commission firms at the Union Stock yards. A rubber stamp was used to convey the impression that the check was in payment for labor performed, as at the top the paper was marked "Pay Check," while at the bottom was the name of the Perry Commission company. The forged signature of W. J. Perry appeared at the usual place. After making small purchases at a number of stores the woman, who represented herself as Mrs. Hansen, offered up the check in payment after making the explanation that her husband was working for Mr. Perry. Generally the check offered was for $14, but one or two for $16 have turned up.

The woman who turned this trick is described as being about 30 years of age, weighs about 125 pounds, one front tooth on the lower jaw missing, dark hair, brown eyes and dressed modestly in black. Chief Mitchell went to work on the case the first thing yesterday when it was reported to him and he made a thorough search, but so far without avail. Notice will be sent by the chief to all cities within 500 miles of South Omaha containing a complete description of the woman. Mr. Perry has signified his intention to donate a sum to help run the criminal down and it is probable that the merchants who will be helped by having made her acquaintance will contribute liberally to the fund.

Jailor Elfeldt Surprised. Jailor Elfeldt had a shock yesterday when he will remember for a long time. Officer Newman arrested a long-haired individual for being drunk and disorderly on the street, and by various means succeeded in landing him in the city jail, where he was turned over to Elfeldt. During the searching process the jailor noticed a small gilt chain pinned to the prisoner's vest just above the left-hand pocket. Supposing that the chain held a watch, the jailor gave it a jerk and pulled forth a five-chameleon. When the little reptile fell into Elfeldt's hands he nearly fainted and the remarks he made to the prisoner were not long in print. It was the first time Elfeldt had run against anything of the sort and as he did not know the species he marked down on the prisoner's book, "one young alligator, belonging to John Doe." After Doe had been placed to rest in one of the luxurious iron-bound rooms provided by the city, the jailor chained the reptile to his desk, where it was on exhibition the entire day.

Extending Telephone Lines. H. Vance Lane, general manager of the Nebraska Telephone company, and party spent yesterday afternoon in the city looking over plans and routes for the new lines to be built to Petersburg, Smithfield and Elwood. This extension is to be made as soon as possible and in this work the company will spend considerable money in South Omaha. Four new cables in the business part of the city have just been completed and are now being tested preparatory to being placed in service.

Mitchell Flights Wine Rooms. Chief of Police Mitchell stated yesterday that he proposes to strictly enforce his order regarding the closing of all wine rooms and that no exceptions to the order issued will be made. Continuing, the chief said: "If we do not have men enough on the force to close wine rooms and maintain order, more officers will be added to the force, as all instructions issued must be obeyed. All violators of orders promulgated will be prosecuted."

Help for Famined Sufferers. Friday evening, June 22, has been set as the time for the holding of a meeting at Blum's hall, Twenty-sixth and N streets, to raise funds for the famine sufferers in India. It is understood that all of the pastors of the city are taking an active part in the proposed meeting and it is expected that the hall will be fairly well filled. A program is being prepared for the occasion, which will be published within a few days.
