HOBOKEN HORRORS GROWING

So Far Remains of Sixty-Seven Victims of Saturday's Holocaust Recovered.

GRUESOME FISHING FOR HUMAN LODIES

Next Week, When the Waters Begin to Give Up Their Dead, it is Believed the Horrors of the Situation Will Be Quadrupled.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Sixty-seven bodies of victims of the Hoboken fire have been recovered. Each hour that passes witnesses additional recoveries of bodies, seared, maimed and burned beyond all semblance of humanity. And the half has not yet been told, as all the bodies brought to the surface today were caught on grappling hooks.

About the first of next week the people will realize the appalling loss of life, as it will then be time for the bodies that are now lying at the bottom of the river to come of their own accord to the surface of the water. The list of missing is still placed at but few below the 300 mark and when the bodies begin floating to the surface the grimness of the situation will be realized.

The bodies recovered up to 11 o'clock tonight include forty-one men in O'Donnell's undertaking rooms in Hoboken, ten in Hoffman's in the same city, twelve in the morgue in New York and four dead hands of the Saale, which were reported late tonight to be brought to this city. Thus thirty-seven have been either positively or partly identified. Most of them, so far as has been discovered, being victims from the Saale. Twenty-one of the identifications were made by Second Officer Sanders of the Saale, who was helped in the task by firemen, carpenters, machinists and other employees of the vessel.

Those who will undoubtedly swell the list are the two hundred and forty odd men from the steamship, including officers, cabin boys, women, others, machinists, coal passers and trimmers, the greatest loss of course, being among the men who were below decks and could not get to the open boat. The same choked them back and the heavy falling debris beat them down to their death. Of these the greater part are foreigners and the lists of their names are being checked off by the steamship company's officers as soon as any identification can be made. Then, too, there are some thirty-five persons who were on small boats, lighters and about the docks in various capacities.

The burned North German Lloyd vessel with that of the Thingvall line reach out into the river like long, charred arms of some great body, which still steams and smokes in its last hours of life. Rising above the whole mass is still a heavy cloud of smoke that fills of much fire and heat remaining in the ruins of the large storehouse at the north end of the ruins.

Main Will Be Total Loss. The general agent of the North German Lloyd line, Gustav H. Schwab, was at his temporary offices in Hoboken most of the day trying to straighten out the situation. He could not form any estimate of the losses as yet, but the company was doing all it could to get itself out of the tangle. The company sent money down to the docks and paid it out to the survivors.

More than $14,000 in cash was sent out to the men today and suits of clothing were given to every man that asked for them. Food and shelter was also provided for the company's men. Superintendent Moeller, of the North German Lloyd line, late tonight returned from his trip to the various vessels that lay in the river. Concerning the general situation at this hour he said:

"The steamship Bremer can be repaired without a great outlay. She burned until 6 o'clock tonight, when the last flame was snuffed."

"The steamship Mainz is still on fire and is burning in holes. Now, I believe the ship will be a total loss."

"The Saale lies deep in the water. The wrecking boats started at work on it right away and it will probably be floating in several days. Its portholes were shut and the water was pumped out of it as fast as possible. It has raised about twelve feet and as it is far under there can be no estimate as to how badly it is damaged. We cannot tell just how far it is burned, but all above is practically wrecked."

"All of the steamers are now in charge of the wrecking companies and they of course have instructions to save as much of the ships as they can."

"It is very hard now to tell what our losses will amount to. Today we found some fifty-one bodies around the pier up to 6 o'clock. Most of them, so far as my information goes, were from the Saale."

Speaking of the plans for the immediate future Mr. Moeller said: "We will first have to clear up matters. The fire underwriters will first have to give us free way before we can begin anything. As soon as they make their reports to us and let us have a free field, we will clean up the pier and then make our arrangements and draw up our plans and specifications for new docks."

"We will get the Lahn in on Wednesday of this week. It will be taken care of at the Canard pier. The Trave is due the Wednesday and it will be put in at the French line docks. The Barbarossa will be here also on Wednesday and it will first make up to the White Star line pier. No. 45 will discharge all of its passengers at this pier and then go to pier No. 48 of the same line and put off its freight. It will make up here for sailing. The Kaiser Wilhelm II is due here on Wednesday afternoon or early Thursday morning and it will be docked at pier No. 58 of the Lackawanna line."

Still Finding Omissions. There are still thirteen enumerators to report at the office of the superintendent of the census of the Second Nebraska district, although every district outside of Omaha was made out by Thursday evening. It will be impossible for the final reports to be made out by Thursday evening as population data of Omaha is still being received and traced. The prohibitions against the greater part of this week will elapse before the Omaha schedules are forwarded to Washington and the population work in the district will not be closed until that time.

ANOTHER CENSUS FINISHED

Board of Education Completes Its Enumeration of School Children.

FIGURES BELIEVED TO BE CORRECT

Decrease Shown Not Regarded as Significant, as Last Year's Returns Are Known to Have Been Unduly Amplified.

Under the direction of the committee on boundaries of the Board of Education enumerators have been busy for several weeks taking the census of the children of school age throughout the city. Their labors are now complete, though several ward totals will be checked over to correct errors and omissions may be corrected. The difference of 1,000 in favor of one year ago is not looked upon as significant by the board members who were fully aware that the returns in 1899 had been unduly magnified. The committee this year, made up of Members Bruce, Smith and Moore, gave the most positive instructions to the enumerators to make the canvass correct regardless of the comparative showing. The returns this year are regarded as nearly accurate as could possibly be obtained.

Another feature in the apparent falling off was the exemption, which brought hundreds of transients of school age into the city. Even though this class had no intention of attending school it was included in the census whenever the visitors happened to come within the age limit of 2 and 21 years.

As to the enumerators, the board has been notified of persons omitted from the census in the Third ward and a recount is said to be increasing the number filed by the original enumerators. It is probable that a recount will be required in several wards.

A number of instances of decrease in school population is reported in districts where but one vacant house exists.

The reports of enumerators for the years 1898 and 1900 are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Ward, 1900, 1898. Rows: Ward 1 (2,384, 2,316), Ward 2 (2,107, 4,487), Ward 3 (2,229, 4,108), Ward 4 (2,215, 2,862), Ward 5 (2,202, 2,423), Ward 6 (2,202, 2,423), Ward 7 (2,202, 2,423), Ward 8 (2,202, 2,423), Ward 9 (2,202, 2,423), Ward 10 (2,202, 2,423).

SYRIANS CARVE EACH OTHER

How in the Colony Results in the Serious Wounding of One and the Wounding of Others.

Trouble broke out anew in the Syrian colony near Thirteenth and Williams street late Monday afternoon after a few weeks of comparative quiet, and now one of them is in the hospital, another is in jail and a third is out under bond.

The Farrar and Domet families live in the rear of 1328 South Twelfth street, one on each side of the alley. The heads of both families work in the city street repair gang and it was just after they had returned from work that hostilities commenced. After a preliminary of loud talking and cursing, Farrar pulled a wicked looking stick with a blade several inches long and stabbed Domet in the left breast, inflicting a deep but not necessarily dangerous wound. The members and retainers of both families mixed up in the row to such an extent that Mrs. Domet received a severe knife wound

WINK DOES THE BUSINESS

Chicago Man, Unable to Withstand Its Blatantness, Invests in a "Foxy" Watch.

An auctioneer in Lee Aultman's auction house, 1415 Douglas street, winked at O. L. Baker of Chicago, and immediately afterward winked at a fellow watch for $7.00. A few minutes later Mr. Baker returned and winked the auctioneer to redeem the wink, but the latter told him that the twinkling of an eyelid is without status in law and the gentleman from Chicago could go home himself.

Mr. Baker brought the matter to the attention of the police.

"I am a civil engineer," said he, "and am on my way to Cheyenne. Here's my railroad ticket. Sunday afternoon, having nothing better to do, I dropped in at the auction house and stood there listening to two or three men bid on a watch. They run it up to $6 and then the bidding lagged."

"You give me seven," the auctioneer said, addressing me on the side.

"No, I answered. 'I have a good watch. I don't need it.'"

"Well, give me seven," he insisted. A young man left it in here yesterday and I don't want to let it go for six. Give me seven and I'll give you more than that for it."

"Then the auctioneer winked at me very slyly."

"I planked down $7 and he gave me the watch."

Here Mr. Baker of Chicago unwrapped a pointed watch of the kind quoted in wholesale catalogues at about 50 cents per watch.

"And you gave him $7 for that?" asked Captain Hayes.

"Yes, sir."

"What did you do it for?"

"Well, that's what you know, captain—I thought he meant by that, he wanted to show those fellows who were bidding against me that they were a lot of cheap skates, and that he would redeem the watch as soon as they went out."

"Officer Reigman went back to the auction house with Mr. Baker, and the hot air merchant was told that he would have to discharge the $7 and receive his watch. The auctioneer shrugged his shoulders and complied. The Chicagoer is satisfied in a financial way, but the man of winks and blinks is as much of a mystery to him as ever."

EMPLOYEES CAN CELEBRATE

June Salaries to Be Paid City Officials Before the Fourth of July.

A special meeting of the council was called yesterday and an ordinance was passed that will allow all city employees to have their June salary before the Fourth of July.

During the last two weeks large gangs of men have been working on street repairs which were authorized by the council. The pay for the work must come from the general fund, and as there is no money in that fund the comptroller cannot draw the warrants. Councilman Mount asked the council to take some action that would make it possible to pay for this emergency work.

Nothing was done and there is no money in sight for the workmen who have been repairing the damage done to streets by the recent heavy rains.

Communications were read from Peter Merges and N. P. Baker, both street car conductors, claiming damages for personal injuries sustained June 11 on Twentieth street between Douglas and Dodge streets.

A deep hole was washed in the street and a pole was set up to warn teams of the danger. Both these men allege that they are conductors claiming damages for personal injuries sustained by the pole and an agent in their communications that the pole was set up by city employees. Merges states that he has been unable to work since that time and asks $200 damages, while Baker asks $100.

George Averill presented a statement concerning injuries he sustained in the High school grounds the night of June 22. He fell into the excavation made just east of the High school building and injured his left leg in such a manner that he believes he will be unable to walk for a year.

At a recent meeting the council voted to expend $12,500 of the money in the cleaning, curbing and guttering fund in the purchase of a pneumatic street cleaner. Mr. Lobeck questioned the right of the council to make such an expenditure and asked City Attorney Conrad for an opinion in the matter.

The city attorney supported the action of the council.

Joseph Frenzer made a proposition to compromise special improvement taxes for the paving of California street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets and for the paving of the alley in the block bounded by Fifteenth, Sixteenth, California and Webster streets. He alleges that a protest against the improvement was filed by a majority of the interested property holders in 1893, before the work was done.

The Omaha & Southwestern Railroad company requested permission to extend two tracks from their present terminus to a point across Pierce street and the matter was referred to the committee on railroads.

CAME NEAR ENDING HIS LIFE

St. Paul Civil Engineer Found in Unconscious Condition in Dodge Street House.

At 11 a. m. yesterday a man supposed to be F. L. Bishop, a civil engineer of St. Paul, Minn., was found in a house in Dodge street at 428 E. B. from the rear where it is said he had been staying for two days. Before he went to the house he had been drinking heavily, his favorite beverage being wine. Between drinks he took morphine and when found he was unconscious. He was black in the face and respiration was hardly perceptible. He was removed to the city jail, where physicians decided that he was suffering from tartaric acid poisoning from the wine, complicated with an overdose of morphine. Artificial respiration was resorted to and at 2.30 he was able to be taken to Clarkson hospital, but died there late at night. The coroner took charge of the body.

DIED. GOODWIN—Mrs. M., mother of Mrs. E. L. Morgan, July 2, 1906, aged 90 years. Buried Tuesday at 4.28 P. M. from the residence of E. L. Goodwin, 263 North Twelfth street. Burial in Greenwood cemetery. In Memoriam papers please copy.

FIRE AND POLICE MATTERS

Allison McWilliams Dismissed from the Fire Department and Four Others Engaged.

For several weeks Allison McWilliams of the fire department has been on trial before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners on a charge of insubordination and failure to perform his duty. At its meeting last night the board found McWilliams guilty and dismissed him from the fire department.

Fatrumen T. C. Kerr and Fireman F. D. Quinby presented their resignations and the board accepted them. Clarence Eakin, Leroy W. Lester, Woodson Porter and Charles F. Burd were elected regular members of the fire department. Franklin W. White of the fire department was suspended fifteen days for failure to report for duty.

The following leaves of absence were granted members of the fire department: Ed Leader, fifteen days; John A. Henderson, thirty days; William Bohan, ten days.

Chief Danahoe of the police department asked the board to purchase a Bertillon cabinet, in which the photographs and measurements of criminals may be kept. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

WARREN PUTS FAITH IN WEST

Wyoming Senator Believes that Nebraska and His Own State Will Join Republican Cause.

United States Senator T. E. Warren of Wyoming, accompanied by his daughter and private secretary, arrived in Omaha from Wilmington Sunday and since that has been a guest at the Willard hotel. He is on his way to Sheridan, Wyo., where a three-day jubilee is to be held July 4 and 5, inclusive. He will then return to his home in Cheyenne, where he will spend the summer.

"It is safe to say," remarked the senator, "that we will re-elect President McKinley against the field, whoever they may nominate in Kansas City. I sincerely hope, too, that Nebraska will help us. She ought to do as well as gates on all sides of her, and I confidently look for the great commonwealth to swing into the McKinley column.

"Wyoming will go republican. We lost the election three-four years ago by a handful of votes, but carried it in '05 and will carry it again this year."

"I do not think the present trouble in China will have any effect upon the political campaign in the United States. This government would be a craven indeed if it did not protect its ministers and that is what it is doing now. As for taking a hand in the partition of China, however, that is another matter and no one seriously charges this government with having any such purpose in view."
