

ROOSEVELT DAVIS OKLAHOMA

Next Vice President Guest of Honor at Reception of Rough Riders.

MORE THAN 10,000 PERSONS PRESENT

Patriotic Speech Delivered by New York Governor in Which a Plan is Made for Civility and Decency.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 3.—An enthusiastic reception and a rousing demonstration from rough riders, cow-punchers and citizens of all classes, white, black and red, were accorded to Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York today.

The second annual reunion of Roosevelt's famous regiment brought 16,000 persons to this little western city. Of the 1,100 men who originally composed the Rough Riders, only about 200 were here to greet their colonel. The surprising part of it is that the city took care of her guests so well. Of course there was some inconvenience, but everybody was in the mood to take things good naturedly and the second day of the reunion can be described as a great success, with but one distressing feature. That was an accident to Clifton George, secretary of the local committee on reception, who was thrown from his horse and is thought to have sustained a fractured skull.

The central figure was the New York governor and the guests of the city vied with each other in extending to him a large western ovation. The governor himself rode a black charger in the procession, which passed through the principal streets. He was cheered all along the line, the cries "Hurrah for Teddy," being the prevailing sentiment. He was not attired in the garb of the Rough Riders, but wore a plain black cut-away coat. The brown members and spurs on his boots also marked him as the colonel of his famous regiment.

Pathetic Feature of the Day. The procession was formed of members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Confederate Veterans, cavalry from Fort Reno, a band of cow men in their native garb, members of the Twentieth Kansas, First Tennessee and other military organizations and civic organizations of Oklahoma City and Guthrie.

A pathetic incident of the reunion today was the presence of Mrs. Allen Capron, the widow of Captain Allen Capron of the Rough Riders. She had been questioned and asked to give the delivery of Governor Roosevelt's address and the greeting between her and the governor was very affecting. She carried in her hand the guidon of the regiment draped in black and when the boys of the Rough Riders bore to the platform the colors of the regiment she wept bitterly. Mrs. Capron came to Oklahoma especially to attend the reunion of the regiment in whose affairs her husband bore so valorous a part.

The exercises of the day were held at the fair grounds and were presided over by A. H. Claassen, chairman of the local committee of entertainment. Governor Barnes of Oklahoma and Mayor Van Winkle of this city made welcoming addresses, and Mrs. A. S. Jennings of New York sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Colonel Roosevelt rose to his feet when the last strains of the soul stirring anthem were heard and soon the entire assemblage of 5,000 people were reverently standing. The scene became dramatic when a Rough Rider unfurled the stars and stripes and waved the banner over the governor's head.

A temporary interruption that threatened to result in a panic happened during Governor Barnes' speech. One of the supporters to the speaker's stand broke and it was thought for a moment that the structure might fall.

Roosevelt Gets a Welcome. The introduction of Governor Roosevelt was the signal for an extraordinary demonstration and at times he could scarcely proceed with his address owing to the applause.

The following is the governor's speech in full: My fellow citizens, men and women of Oklahoma, I have never been in your territory until this morning. I have never seen you here. You are some of my boys, blood of my blood and to some of you some I am bound by the ties of friendship. I have one man to my brothers. I hope to come down here often and the next time I hope I shall see you in your homes and not in the streets.

I know I don't have to say to you, least of all to those who know me closely like my comrades in arms, that I am proud of you. I don't say how deeply I appreciate the way in which you have met me this morning, with the blue and the gray, with the men who fought in the Union armies and with the men who followed next to the valiant comrades with whom they had so long served together. Each side proving the valor of the other, each entitled to be proud of the courage of the men who respected officers, Baldwin, Vanous and James Wilson induced Norton to leave the cellar and he was taken to the city jail. He said he was glad to be safely under arrest, for he could not understand why he had not been killed outright and he did not want to take any more chances with shot guns.

My fellow citizens, men and women of Oklahoma, I have never been in your territory until this morning. I have never seen you here. You are some of my boys, blood of my blood and to some of you some I am bound by the ties of friendship.

I know I don't have to say to you, least of all to those who know me closely like my comrades in arms, that I am proud of you. I don't say how deeply I appreciate the way in which you have met me this morning, with the blue and the gray, with the men who fought in the Union armies and with the men who followed next to the valiant comrades with whom they had so long served together.

IN BEES ANNUAL VACATION CONTEST

BURGLAR GETS IN A TIGHT BOX

Citizens of North Omaha Roundup and Almost Exterminate a Housebreaker.

George Norton, born in Kansas City 23 years ago, fishwasher by occupation and burglar by choice, had an adventure with a citizen's posse Tuesday evening which caused him to welcome the sight of policemen and thank them for delivering him from certain death.

Norton was on the screen of a cellar window of Attorney William T. Nelson's house at 3702 North Eighteenth street, which had been closed for the summer, and entered. He struck matches to get his bearings and the light was seen by a neighbor who knew the house had been left unoccupied. The alarm was given and a citizen posse gathered about the house to effect his capture. Norton ate preserves and jellies to his stomach's complete satisfaction. Then taking a glass jar of preserved cherries he was about to leave through the same window, but Herman Busch of 3704 North Eighteenth street was there with a shotgun to see that the burglar did not get out alive, and he fired a charge point blank at him as soon as his head appeared. The shot hit the burglar in the chest and he broke the glass jar in Norton's hand and scatter cherry juice over his face and clothing, which was thought at first to be blood.

A hurry call was sent to the police station and the patrol wagon responded. Officers Baldwin, Vanous and James Wilson induced Norton to leave the cellar and he was taken to the city jail. He said he was glad to be safely under arrest, for he could not understand why he had not been killed outright and he did not want to take any more chances with shot guns.

YOUNG AMERICA'S HOLIDAY

Rocket Began Promptly at Six and Lasted Until Late at Night.

Treasurer Hennings Wants to Start on Another Collecting Crusade.

Two years ago the Spanish union was in bad odor in the United States and no loyal American would think of ordering it from a bill of fare. But if this year Young America felt any similar compunction the Chinese fireworks it was so slight as to be scarcely appreciable. Perhaps it is because the had news from the Flowery Kingdom has been confirmed and the youthful diplomats believe in giving the pigtail the benefit of the doubt. In any event the consumption of paper-wrapped noise, colored fire and villainous smells is as general this year, seemingly, as ever before.

Hundreds of small boys watched the post-office clock yesterday afternoon anxiously awaiting the stroke of 8, for at that hour the embargo was to be lifted from the city's fireworks. The afternoon no doubt seemed oppressively long. But at last the hour struck—or started to strike, whether the clock completed the six strokes will never be known, for they were drowned in a roar of popping, crackling, bangs, booms, zizzies and snaps which continued until far into the night. As the evening advanced sky rockets, Roman candles and fire balloons appeared above the roofs at intervals. Out in the residence districts many a lawn was converted into a miniature arsenal, resplendent in variegated fountains, pin wheels and other ingeniously wrought "pieces" to the art of pyrotechnics.

In the business section, however, noise seemed to have no effect on every thing else and the loud-mouthed cannon cracker was monster of the situation.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of A. H. Henny at Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Dr. Henny's, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by Kuhn & Co., druggists.

SUICIDE THEORY SCOUTED

Friends of Miss Carey Butlin Do Not Believe She Took Her Own Life.

Miss Carey Butlin, 30 years old, employed as a stenographer for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, died very suddenly Sunday night from an overdose of chloroform at her home, 214 North Twenty-eighth street, where she had been with her sister. The body is now at Burket & Dodder's undertaking rooms. No arrangements for the funeral will be made until her brother, George Butlin, who is private secretary to Senator Thurston, returns from Washington. He is expected to arrive today.

Miss Butlin worked as usual Saturday and seemed to be in ordinary spirits. She quit at 1 p. m. and went home, as that is the customary hour for closing the office on Saturdays, where she had been at the house she said nothing about feeling ill. Sunday afternoon her sister went out to call on a neighbor. When she returned about 8 o'clock Miss Carey was lying on the bed unconscious. An empty bottle which had contained chloroform by her side, the physician called, but the poison had been in the room so long that he could do little for her and in about two hours she died. She left no word as to why she had taken the drug. It was known, however, that her general health was not what she was used to, but she was not ill when she was last seen. Her friends are confident that her death was due to her having taken an overdose of the drug and scout the theory that she committed suicide.

GUILDER'S NARROW ESCAPE

Leslie Van Guilder, 2024 Charles street, a laborer in Guion & Ledwith's planing mill, Eighteenth and Nicholas streets, met with an accident yesterday while working on his left arm. While feeding rough lumber into a buzz saw he made a quick move to dislodge a quantity of refuse from the gearing when suddenly his coat sleeve caught in the wheels and in a fraction of a second he felt the teeth of the rip saw eating into his flesh.

He fainted and was carried into the office, where a physician attended him. An ugly-looking wound was found in the fleshy part of the arm just below the elbow, but further examination showed that the bone was not affected. The doctor thinks he will be able to save the member. Seven stitches were taken to close the wound.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Treasurer Hennings Wants to Start on Another Collecting Crusade.

The situation with reference to delinquent special taxes and the absolute necessity of some solution of this problem is too well known to you to require comment. I believe that under the powers given me under the legal rights of the city in relation to these assessments be determined. The threshold of this work I shall be met by the necessity of having the undivided and continuous advice of labor and other counsel. The city attorney's office is at present overburdened with the normal demands of the city upon it and I believe that this work which I now ask you to authorize should properly be assigned to the city attorney's office at this time.

Assuring your honorable body of my desire to serve the public in the power now asked at your hands, I beg to remain, your obedient servant. A. H. HENNING, City Treasurer.

The communication was referred to the judiciary committee.

All lunch peddlers using four-wheeled vehicles will hereafter pay a license of $100. An ordinance making this provision has been under discussion for several weeks and was finally passed last night. The ordinance reduces the license of ticket brokers from $25 to $10 as was also passed.

Ordinances were passed providing for the paving of the following streets: Dodge street from Seventeenth to Twentieth; Chicago street from Sixteenth to Twenty-second. An ordinance was also passed creating a street improvement district for the paving of Nineteenth street from Dodge to Capitol avenue.

City Engineer Rosewater reported that he had examined the paving on Leavenworth street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets and found that it will be impossible to bring this paving up to grade without great expense. This street and all the building along it have settled more than one foot. Raising the pavement would necessitate raising sidewalks, which would then be higher than the entrances to the abutting store buildings. No funds are available for the improvement and the city engineer advised that no change in this street be made at present.

The city engineer was authorized to change the grade of Jones street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth streets in such a manner that it will correspond with established grade.

Councilman Karr introduced a resolution empowering the Board of Public Works to expend not more than $50 in each ward for cutting weeds on the principal streets, the money to be taken from the emergency fund. The matter was referred to the committee on street improvements.

A resolution was adopted approving a ten-year lease of the Chicago Lumber company upon Seventh street north of Douglas street and Dodge street between Seventh street and the railroad right of way. The annual rent is $25.

The council approved the appointment of Theodore Olsen, Edward Stringer and Charles L. Thomas as appraisers to assess the damages property owners will suffer in the grading of Ferrieth street from Jackson street to Jones street.

A LITTLE BIG WASTE.

DISTINGUISH between economy and wisdom.

Sitting at home to save shoe-leather is economy, but it is scarcely wisdom. In the same way, doing without Ivory Soap is economy but it isn't wise; your risks are greater than all possible saving. Every cheap soap contains free alkali. Now, free alkali will eat its way through the new oil cloth on the kitchen floor. Imagine then what it will do in a single Monday's washing! Is such economy wise?
