Lofty Indifference to the Independent Movement Gives Way to the Ordinary Course of Partisan Opposition.

LINCOLN, July 23 - (Special.) - Officers of the people's independent state central committee have formally declared war against the populist or middle-of-the-road party and today they fired the first shot in the shape of a protest against allowing any of the candidates of that party to file certificates of nomination in the secretary of state's office. The contention arises from the use of the little word "populist," which, it is claimed, was plagiarized from the name of the people's independent party. The real object in filing the protest is to prevent the name "populist" from being used on the official

Chairman Edmisten begins his protest with the assertion that a "certain body of men purporting to hold a convention intend to assume as their party name the political designation 'populist.' He next informs the secretary of state that this name has customarily and usually been applied to the people's independent party," and that it was adopted at Grand Island for the purpose of confusing and deceiving voters.

Secretary of State Porter advised the delegates to the Grand Island convention not to use the name "populist" without some prefix, such as "straight" or "true," and it would not be a surprise to many of them if he decided to grant the injunction asked for by Chairman Edmisten. It matters little, however, which way the secretary of state decides, for the case will be appealed to the supreme court for final settlement. As court does not meet again until September the prospects are good for a decision some

As to the right of the middle-of-theroaders to a place on the ticket under the name of "populists" opinion among the fusionists is divided. The law provides that no portion of an old party name shall be used by a new party and under this provision the people's independent party hopes to keep them off the ticket. It is admitted that the people's independent party has been commonly known as the populist party, but the latter name has never been used on any official state ballot. In defense of the mid-roaders it is claimed that the court cannot take cognizance of any name that does not appear on some official record, that the name "populist" as applied to the people's independent party is similar to the application of a nickname or an epithet to an individual and has no place in court in determining the real name of the party.

Text of the Law.

Following is the text of the law governing protests against filing certificates on nomi-

LYONS MAN DRIVEN FROM TOWN.

LYONS, Neb., July 23.-(Special.)-Andrew Adams, a carpenter by trade, was taken from his home Saturday night by a number of persons supposed to be his neighbors and after tying him with ropes they carried him to the banks of the Logan was told of the many warnings sent him by the marshal and also other persons to stop misusing his family and as he did decided to give him a dose of his own medicine. He was asked if he would rather be hung by the neck until dead or would rather die by being drowned. He chose the latter and he was thrown in the creek. He was fished out, however, before much harm could happen to him and by his own request he was let go with the understanding that he leave the country. Adams, who is an old soldier, draws a good pension from the government. It is asserted that when he draws his pay from the government or from his work he spends it for liquor and, going to his home, misuses his family by beating them until they are compelled to seek the aid of their neighbors for safety. Adams at one time lived with in his family at Dunlap, Ia., and also at Pender under similar circumstances.

White there is a strong influence working for the fulfillment of the Repeated Declaration Made that Govagreement of the state committee, made months ago, as to a distribution of the offices in order to effect fusion, there is also an opposition of considerable proportions to that arrangement. This latter is caused by the candidacy of a number of men whose nominations must necessarily be in violation of the agreement. An open conference of tators when the Powers case was called temocrats and populists was held this morning at which a general feeling in favor of standing by the agreement was displayed. But Chairman Riddle of the populist committee insisted in suggesting that the democrats nominate ex-United States Senator John Martin as their candidate for associate justice. Martin is not a democrat and this office goes to the democrats under the agreement. If the democrats nominate him an enthusiastic fusion will be effected beyond doubt. If they refuse the agreement may be broken and in that case an entirely fort witness said the men were told to renew deal will have to be arranged.

The original agreement provided for the following disposition: Democrats, associate justice, secretary of state, treasurer, one judge of court of visitation and solicitor of court of visitation; populists, governor, lieufunds and turned over all his property to tenant governor, attorney general, state auditor, congressman-at-large, superintendent of public instruction and one judge of court of visitation; silver republicans, insurance superintendent and one judge of court of visitation. the best kept building in the city. No extra charge is made for janitor service. The building is always kept in repair and it is to be noticed that tenants rarely move out of the Bee Building.
