SWALLOWING PROCESS OVER

Bridge Motor Line Completely Surrounds the Suburban Company.

SAME STOCKHOLDERS OWN BOTH NOW

Will Operate as Separate Lines Under One Management, but Matter of Fares is Still an Unsettled Question.

The deal whereby the stockholders of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Railway & Bridge company, through G. W. Waffles of Omaha, secure the Omaha, Council Bluffs & Suburban railway was finally consummated about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, after the parties interested had held an all-night meeting in the offices of the suburban company in this city. The deal was consummated and W. S. Reed, formerly president and secretary of the Suburban company, having disposed of their entire holdings to Mr. Waffles, retired from the company and their places were taken by Mr. Waffles and W. S. Cox of Omaha, who is understood to represent the interests of Guy C. Barton and Frank P. Murphy, president of the Omaha Street Railway company. Before adjourning yesterday morning the directors of the Suburban company present at the midnight meeting elected G. W. Waffles president and W. S. Cox secretary. While exact figures are not obtainable, one of the persons directly interested in the deal said that the purchase of the Suburban line, including the resort at Lake Manawa, had cost the stockholders of the old motor company in the neighborhood of $400,000. From another source it is learned that these figures are about $500,000 high. The directors of the Suburban company prior to the sale were George Townsend, W. S. Reed, F. E. Spenscheid, A. B. DeLong and C. E. Hannan. F. E. Spenscheid retired at the time the Suburban company bought the property of the East Omaha Street Railway company. Thus when Messrs. Townsend and Reed retired yesterday morning it left C. R. Hannan of this city the only remaining member of the original board of directors. He sent in his resignation, but says Mr. Waffles declined to accept it. When seen yesterday afternoon Mr. Hannan did not quite seem to know where he was at, and expressed the opinion that he had been "bumped" in the deal, although at the same time he admitted that all of the claims of the Lake Manawa Railway company, of which he had formerly been receiver, had been allowed and the cash paid over to his bank by Mr. Waffles.

Beginning the Suburban.

Following the all-night meeting Mr. Waffles called a meeting of the "stockholders" of the Suburban company at the office of C. E. Hannan at the power house. Those present were G. W. Waffles, W. S. Cox, J. H. Millard, N. W. Wells, president of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Railway and Bridge company; J. J. Brown and George F. Wright. W. S. Cox tendered his resignation as director and George F. Wright of this city was appointed in his place. J. H. Millard was also elected a director and treasurer of the new Suburban company. The matter of fares was discussed and referred to a committee consisting of G. W. Waffles, president of the Suburban line; N. W. Wells, president of the old motor company, and W. S. Dimmock, who was elected general manager of the Suburban. It being decided that it would be more economical to run the two companies under one management. After this meeting it was stated that the Suburban line and the Bridge line would run as separate properties. At the same time it was admitted that the stockholders of both companies were identically the same. Hardly had the meeting at the old company's office been brought to a close before wagons lined up in front of the First National bank, where the offices of the Bridge line company were, and all the papers, office furniture and other effects of the Suburban company were hauled to the offices of the old motor company at the power house.

What the Company Figures On.

George F. Wright, who, in addition to becoming a director of the new Suburban company, is also its general attorney and secretary of the board of directors, when seen after the meeting yesterday afternoon, said: "Yes, the old company has secured the Suburban company, but the two roads will be run as separate properties, although under one management. General Manager Dimmock of the old motor company has also appointed general manager of the Suburban. The matter of fixing the fares to be charged will be settled, I think, in a day or so. The stockholders in both companies are now identically the same. That is to say, the stockholders of the Bridge line had secured the stock of the Suburban."

When asked if the new Suburban company intended to operate the line to East Omaha over the Terminal bridge, Mr. Wright said that he presumed under its charter it would be compelled to do so. The charter provides that the company shall run at least three trains each way daily from this city to East Omaha. As to the line on Avenue C, he said it would undoubtedly be connected with the Terminal street with the line of the old company on Avenue C and that the rails laid from that point to the Illinois Central depot would be taken up and used to replace steel on the old company line that was worn out. When asked if there were not negotiations pending for the ultimate consolidation of the Omaha Street railway, the Bridge line and the Suburban road, he said there was, but that the Bridge line and the Suburban would go into the deal as two separate corporations.

Should Mr. Hannan Insist on Retiring from the Directorate of the Reorganized Suburban Company.

It will be necessary to elect two other residents of this state in addition to Mr. Wright on the board, as the company's charter provides that three of the directors must be residents of this state. Mr. Wright stated that by-laws of the company allowed for nine directors and that the board would be filed to this number at the next meeting, the date of which had not yet been decided upon.

Good Thing for Old Company.

The final outcome of the deal, which has been pending so long, comes as no surprise to the people of Council Bluffs, as for a week or more past it was generally known that the old company had absorbed the Suburban and that this accounted for the haste in which the matter of getting the city council to grant rights of additional streets to the Suburban company was rushed through. As the matter now stands the old company will lose nothing should the supreme court affirm the decision of the district court, which held that its fifty years franchise was null and void. It will now have the fifty-year franchise of the Suburban company to fall back upon, which gives

Reed Will Remain Here.

W. S. Reed stated last night that while he has retired from the Suburban company he intended to remain in Council Bluffs and make this city his home. He and his partner, George Townsend, will open offices in Chicago and this city, and he will stay here to look after western business, while Mr. Townsend will take charge of the Chicago office.

Howell's Anti-Kawf Cures coughs, colds.

Reports of Thieving. Mrs. James Cochran of 1708 Seventh avenue was awakened yesterday morning about daylight by a noise in the dining room. On entering the room to investigate she was startled to find a stranger standing by the sideboard. She asked him what he wanted and he replied he was looking for a piece of soap. Before she could arouse the other inmates of the house the fellow backed through the door into the kitchen and disappeared. It was discovered that he had been in the bedroom occupied by T. A. Cochran, the head of the family, and abstracted a gold huntingcase watch chain and other trinkets from the latter's trousers, which were on a chair by the side of the bed.

Mrs. Harrison W. Martin of 322 Park avenue discovered a burglar in the cellar of her residence about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. She emptied the six chambers of a revolver at the intruder, but her aim was uncertain and the fellow made his escape through a window. Mrs. Martin described the man as being tall and wearing a slouch hat.

Harry Burke, the blind son of P. Burke, the Broadway blacksmith, went into Linder & Filley's saloon yesterday morning to quench his thirst. While drinking a glass of beer some one stole his gold watch from his pocket.

Commonwealth 10-cent cigar. HAS ANOTHER HIGH SCHOOL SITE.

Board of Education Abandons Glen Avenue and Takes Street Tract.

The Board of Education at its meeting last night returned to its first love and once more selected the Street tract on Fifth avenue and Bluff street as the location for the new High school. This site was selected after the board had first resumed its action in choosing the old High school site, an appeal from which action has been taken by Attorney Chambers. The Street tract was the first site selected by the board after the proposition to build a new high school and the purchase of a site and the erection of a new High school had carried at the school election in March, 1899. The site did not meet with general favor and the action selecting it was rescinded and the Oakland avenue site chosen. The Street tract has a frontage on Fifth avenue of 215 feet and on Bluff street of 206 feet and can be secured for $5,000.

McDowell of Omaha Meets with Serious Accident; While Riding Near Arion.

DUNLAP, Ia., July 27.—(Special.)—While riding in the motor car on Monday evening E. R. McDowell of this city and John McDowell of Omaha met with an accident which, it is feared, will result fatally for McDowell. The tongue of the vehicle in which the men were riding came down while the team ran away, throwing the men out. Caldwell escaped with a few bruises about the shoulders and face. McDowell was picked up unconscious and taken to Arion, where he was attended by a physician, who did little to restore him to consciousness, but to no avail. His wife was summoned from Omaha and she arrived on a late train. The unfortunate man was still unconscious this morning when placed on a stretcher and taken to Omaha.

HARRISON COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

Delegates Chosen to Des Moines and a Strong Ticket Nominated.

MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., July 27.—(Special Telegram.)—The republican county convention of Harrison county was called to order at Missouri Valley on July 26 today. Prof. H. A. Kinney was made temporary chairman, and afterward permanent. A committee of one from each township was chosen to send delegates to the state convention. Those chosen were as follows: E. C. Arthur, H. A. Kinney, T. G. Hood, A. P. Lyman, T. L. Canfield, E. J. Dewell, Albert Bowen, T. J. Arthur, Alton Stern, M. Watson, G. A. Kellough, George W. Egan, J. S. Dewell, C. W. Kellough, W. Middleton. While the committee was out preparing the list of the following candidates were nominated: For auditor, B. F. Huff, for clerk of the county court, E. S. Garrison; for recorder, H. L. Harvey, and for county attorney, Hon. J. A. Traver. There were several other speeches made and the speakers were cheered to the echo.

Killed by Fall in Well.

STORM LAKE, Ia., July 27.—(Special.)—C. E. Harwood, a resident of this city, employed in digging a well at Truesdale, six miles north of Storm Lake, was overcome by foul air yesterday afternoon and fell at least seventy feet to the bottom. On ascending a gas pocket was struck and the well commenced to blow with increasing volume until after 5 o'clock on Thursday, at which time Mr. Harwood deemed it safe to venture down to a point forty feet below the surface, where he wished to fasten some cables. The presence of the gas had been proven by the usual lamp test and his fellow workmen tried to dissuade him from making the experiment, but in vain. Death must have been almost instantaneous. He was impeded to recover the body until three or four hours later as the grappling hooks failed to catch on his light-weight garments. The deceased was 35 years old, a highly respected citizen and the only support of his aged mother.

Dairymen Prepare Convention.

STORM LAKE, Ia., July 27.—(Special.)—A committee appointed by the State Dairywomen's association, consisting of President W. K. Boardman of Nevada, Ia., Vice President W. Guyer of Fort Dodge, Secretary J. C. Daly of Charles City and Captain E. W. Stetch of Newell, were in Storm Lake yesterday arranging for their convention in Storm Lake. The dates 13, 14 and 15 were decided upon and an attendance of fully 1,000 members is looked for. The convention will serve as a school of instruction and papers touching all dairy questions will be read and discussed. James Lumbard, the famous singer, will be present, as usual, to assist in the program.

ONE HUNDRED MARCHING CLUBS IN STATE

Hotel Lobbies About the Capital City Present Quiet Appearance, Which is Said to Respect the Coming of a Storm.

DES MOINES, July 27.—(Special Telegram.)

Within the next two weeks the republicans expect to organize 100 marching clubs after the Rough Rider style. Some of them will be supplied with horses, but the majority will walk. Chairman Weaver of the state central committee is sending out copies of the constitution, which each club will adopt. These clubs are to be of sort public organizations. The civic section will have a president and other officers, and the military branch will have the regulation army officers. Each county chairman is expected to appoint a colonel. Each congressional district will have a brigade and each county a regiment.

A report from New York says: "Miss Rebecca Miller, a Presbyterian missionary at Teng Chow, China, has written to her sister, Miss Mary Miller, Mechanicsburg, Pa., under date of June 17, telling of the numerous outrages that had occurred in that vicinity. She says that it makes her wrathy because Conger has not listened to the warning he has received from Americans, principally missionaries, who fled to avoid arrest. She then makes this surprising statement: 'Conger took warning in time to get his family out of danger before the Boxers tore up the railroad. Teng Chow is loyal to the missionaries. Two Boxers who came here failed to stir up mischief.'"

It was quiet, even dull about the hotel lobby today. Politicians said it was simply the calm which respects a storm, and that there will be no complaint of lack of activity tomorrow. The Gilbertson men were most in evidence and were confident, but there was a sufficient number of the Morrow lieutenants to keep track of events. The paramount question today was concerning the secretaryship. The supporters of Reiman and Martin were keeping eyes wide open to detect anything which might indicate the leaning of the Gilbertson men and the Morrow lieutenants were especially anxious to secure the least information showing the direction of the wind in northwestern Iowa. A prominent worker in the Morrow forces said today that the situation was: "In the air." He believed the treasurership fight was still anybody's fight.

Charges Against Physicians.

The next quarterly meeting of the State Board of Health and State Board of Medical Examiners will be held next Wednesday. At that time the question of charging the physicians always comes up for transaction, will be disposed of and in addition the Board of Medical Examiners will sit as a court for the trial of three physicians who have been summoned to appear on charges of negligence in connection with a falling chimney case. At last meeting of the board it was decided to summon the three physicians accused of these charges, but their names were not given out. One of these is a health officer and the others were attending physicians in cases of smallpox which they refused to recognize as such until the disease spread and caused an epidemic in certain communities, which might have been avoided. The trial of these physicians will be held behind closed doors, but the result of the board's finding will be given out. Should the testimony substantiate the charges the certificates of these men will be revoked.
