

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE.

E. ROSEWATER, Editor. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Office: The Bee Building, South Omaha, City Hall Building, Twenty-fifth and N Streets.

COMMUNICATIONS: Communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to Omaha Bee, Editorial Department.

BUSINESS LETTERS: Business letters and remittances should be addressed: The Bee Publishing Company, Omaha.

REMITTANCES: Remit by draft, express or postal order, payable to The Bee Publishing Company.

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION: State of Nebraska, Douglas County, ss: George B. Tschuck, secretary of the Bee Publishing company, duly sworn, says that the actual number of full and complete copies of the Daily, Morning, Evening and Sunday Bee, printed during the month of July, 1900, was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Number of copies and Total. Rows include various circulation figures for different days and a total of 850,055.

Parties leaving for summer. Parties leaving the city for the summer may have The Bee sent to them regularly by mail.

Amarchists who happen to reside in European capitals will do well to lay low for some time to come.

A nomination on the republican state ticket in Iowa continues to be practically as good as a certificate of election.

Stock in Chinese veracity has gone up several notches during the past week, though there is still room for improvement.

The new king of Italy bears an illustrious name and will have to set a good pace to sustain the credit of the original Victor Emanuel.

To State Treasurer Meserve: Please fill out and forward the enclosed blank: The $200,000 of idle school money is deposited in — bank.

The Kansas City platform is so clear-cut and self-assertive that Bryan is going to devote his entire notification speech to elucidating just one of its numerous planks.

Nebraska fusionists talk glibly about the danger of overconfidence. Men whose knees are knocking together from fright are not in any great danger from the source mentioned.

This is the dull season in real estate circles, but a number of notable transactions have been effected by Omaha dealers in the last few weeks.

No artificial refrigeration is necessary when the rival democratic committees meet to discuss harmony, because the conversation closely resembles the first practice night of a newly organized amateur band.

The declaration of a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock of the Union Pacific is another straw pointing the prosperity wind in Nebraska and the western states from which that road draws the bulk of its business.

It luckily turns out that Mr. Conger and the other foreign embassies at Peking are alive and safe. A revision of several speeches on the Chinese question perpetrated on the public during the last few weeks may be necessitated by this joyful news.

Governor Shaw announces that under no conditions will he make an appointment to the senatorial vacancy created by the death of Senator Gear before the 16th day of August.

The consensus of opinion of the fusion candidates and committeemen who have been in session at Lincoln is that the fusionists have a walkaway in Nebraska. At the same time, however, they have decided upon a desperate campaign to keep control of the state.

Mr. Towne asserts anew that his one object is to further the election of Mr. Bryan and that his course with reference to withdrawing from or remaining on the ticket will be shaped to that end.

Congressman Robinson of the Third Nebraska district is held up as a great political forecaster. He is quoted as giving assurance that Bryan will carry New York.

Mr. Towne asserts anew that his one object is to further the election of Mr. Bryan and that his course with reference to withdrawing from or remaining on the ticket will be shaped to that end.

Congressman Robinson of the Third Nebraska district is held up as a great political forecaster. He is quoted as giving assurance that Bryan will carry New York.

Mr. Towne asserts anew that his one object is to further the election of Mr. Bryan and that his course with reference to withdrawing from or remaining on the ticket will be shaped to that end.

Congressman Robinson of the Third Nebraska district is held up as a great political forecaster. He is quoted as giving assurance that Bryan will carry New York.

DEMOCRACY AND TRUSTS. The record of the democratic party in regard to trusts is not such as to invite confidence in its present promises.

In a speech in the house of representatives on the proposed constitutional amendment enlarging the power of congress to deal with trusts, monopolies and combinations, Mr. Littlefield of Maine called attention to the record of the democracy on this question.

The succeeding congress was republican and the first bill introduced by the senate was introduced by John Sherman of Ohio.

It was opposed by democratic senators on the ground that it was unconstitutional. When the bill came before the house of representatives the democrats, not daring to vote directly against it, undertook to sidetrack it in the interest of a silver bill.

MONKEY IN THE SOUTH AND WEST. Four years ago there was much complaint in the south and portions of the west of a lack of money and of high interest rates.

THE STANDING PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, who first obtained notoriety as the champion of British free trade and is now calling loudly for the introduction of the British income tax profession here because the United States is co-operating with the European powers in China, including Great Britain, for the liberation of the imprisoned legations.

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS DISSENT. That the opposition of the southern delegations to the principal features of the Kansas City platform which were foisted on them by the votes of Hawaii and the territories that can contribute nothing to the election of the ticket was a true reflection of southern sentiment is becoming more and more apparent.

Another effort is to be made to enforce the game laws, but the fact cannot be concealed that the most flagrant violators of these laws can be counted among the most noisy agitators for game law enforcement. The law should unquestionably be put into effective application, but to do so it will be necessary first to make a few examples, not of the farmers who bring down a few birds out of season, but of the professional sports who make regular expeditions out of Omaha for the slaughter of the innocents.

South Dakota reports a shortage of harvest hands. Generally men come from Nebraska and Kansas, after the harvest in those states, to help out the people of Dakota, but this year they are so well employed at home that they had no time to lend to their neighbors.

Democrats must move their predictions into another field. An election has been called for a constitutional convention in Cuba and the time of fulfillment is too near for democracy to assert the administration never had any intention of allowing the Cubans a voice in their government.

New Orleans police officers are to be held to account on charges of cowardice in failing to do their duty in the recent perity under beneficent policies enforced by the McKinley administration, and they would suffer the most by their overthrow before Bryanism. If they thought there were any real danger of Bryanite success it is doubtful if even the inherited idea that self-preservation rests on partisan adherence to democracy would keep the south solid in the next electoral college.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY QUESTION. There is a misapprehension, according to Washington advices, as to the provisional arrangement made between the governments of the United States and Great Britain in regard to the Alaskan boundary question.

State house employes are registering a protest against being assessed for campaign purposes this year. There is a growing belief that the premium rate on popocratic officeholding is too high and that the assessments come with too great frequency.

The effect of government flat on circulating medium is being illustrated in the Transvaal, where many burghers who had supposed themselves rich have been ruined by accepting paper money, now of questionable redemption.

THE DOUGLAS COUNTY DEMOCRACY proposes to ratify the national and state nominations. A suspicion is abroad, however, that the endorsement of the state ticket is pro forma and made with a large mental reservation.

When the United States senate votes to have its members elected by the direct votes of the people, everybody should choose a partner for the millennium.

Never Will Get Back. A Missoula bond is said to have found his way back home, 500 miles, from a ranch in Kansas, but the democratic party has wandered so far afield that it never will get back.

SOUP HOUSE AS AN EMBLEM. In some of the states the democrats are in trouble about an emblem to head their tickets. In a general way the picture of a soup house would be unequal for the purpose.

AN OLD COURTYER. Baltimore American. Servia may be said to be the ministry has resigned on account of the young king's engagement and he is unable to find men to fill their places.

Big Apple Crop Expected. According to estimates based on reports from all parts of the United States, the apple crop this fall will be one of unusual size. Unless some unforeseen accident occurs, the crop will amount to about 100,000,000 bushels.

WHAT JAPAN HAS DONE. Its Trade and Credit Have Grown Since Adoption of Gold Standard. In 1897 Japan adopted the gold standard in lieu of what was nominally bimetallic, but in reality a silver regime.

TRAITORS OF KING HUMBERT. King Humbert's career was full of the efforts of a man whose courage was better fitted to meet war than peace, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

TRAITORS OF KING HUMBERT. King Humbert's career was full of the efforts of a man whose courage was better fitted to meet war than peace, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

He liked to repeat the inscription on the Iron Crown of Lombardy: "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

BITS OF CHINESE GOSSIP. The great wall of China, portions of which are still in evidence, was completed 211 before Christ.

Two of the greatest literary productions of the Chinese are a dictionary in 5,020 volumes and an encyclopedia in 22,937 volumes.

Black dogs and black cats are the favorites in China in the line of food, because when eaten in midsummer they will insure health and strength.

Twenty-seven Japanese and seventeen Chinese officers are attached to the German army for instruction, besides representatives of other foreign armies.

Monseigneur Favier, the Roman Catholic bishop of Peking, holds, by virtue of a decree of the emperor, the local rank of mandarin of the grade equal to that of the governor of a province.

No greater crime is known in China than that of desecrating a graveyard. Because graves are found everywhere in China, the first railroad built there had to follow a very circuitous route in order to avoid them.

Prince Ching, the Chinese general, who has been so friendly to foreigners, was for some time lord chamberlain of the court and was president of the taung yamen in 1858, when Lord Charles Bessborough visited it.

Long before the Chinese era the Chinese were making porcelain and had innumerable styles of decoration. This was hard paste, or natural porcelain. Soft paste, or artificial porcelain, is made of various substances and is almost translucent.

Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, who is in command of the British force in China and of the allied forces which attempted the relief of Peking, is an Irishman, whose family has contributed many distinguished names to the British navy.

The Roman Catholic interests in China are very large. There are 750 European priests, 400 Chinese priests, 3300 churches and chapels, in addition of various schools and over 500,000 converts under the care of the Vatican.

The Chinese are remarkable as a nation for their carefully preserved historical annals, even from the most remote periods of antiquity.

WHAT THE WITS SAY. Philadelphia North American: "Our correspondent is a little mixed in his amusements," said the news editor. "He says the allies in China have taken another knock."

Chicago Times-Herald: "I thought," said the man who wanted to enjoy his vacation in the mountains, "that you charged only $1 a week for board and a room? Here you are in the mountains."

Baltimore American: Mr. Sappelsh-Fer-er-Miss Frontem, I came this evening to see you. Miss Frontem-Well, you had better come some time on Tuesday. That is our ironing day.

Indianapolis Journal: "Well, Billy, how do you like camping?" "The rest of them seem to be having a good time; it keeps me running in and out of town all the time to get them something to eat."

A SUMMER ELEGY. Colorado Springs Gazette. The curfew sends the kids all home av'ne; The skelter getteth busy 'round our bar; For gauzy lingerie we warmly pine; The white duck pants are seen-and summer's here!

The hotel advertisements crowd the press; The pink shirt waist and sailor hat appear; The weary folk seek some shady wilderness; To battle with its bugs-for summer's here!

The cyclone sweepeth Kansas as of yore; The foam grows deep and deeper on the shore; The maiden bath flannels by the score; The bathers haunt the sands-for summer's here!

The landlord smilith blandly in his glee; Each lassie hath her laddie hovering 'neath her; A languor o'er us steals-for summer's here!

Do you have a dull, painful feeling around the eyes whenever you use them in any kind of work? Is there a "burning" sensation that makes you feel sore and irritable? Just enough pain to be uncomfortable, but all the time? If you have this trouble your eyes need help. It is Nature's demand for less work and fewer hours. Your eyes are over-strained. If you would wear glasses they would do the work of focusing and your eyes would be at rest. If you will begin wearing them at once in your reading, writing and sewing you will probably not have to wear them on the street. We do not charge for consultation. Come and see.

J. C. HUTESON & CO., EXPERT OPTICIANS, 1520 Douglas Street. "Measured Words" If we measure our words as carefully as we do our clothing, it is so our advertisements may fit the case as well as our clothing fits. NO CLOTHING FITS LIKE OURS. When we say that our suits for men, boys and children are reduced 25 Per Cent we mean exactly and precisely what we say. THIS SALE COMMENCES TODAY, and includes every suit in the store (except black clays)-none reserved- all weights and kinds of materials- serge, flannel, chevot, cassimere, worsteds, etc. Skeleton coats and vests, crash and all winter weights left over from last season. WE NEED ROOM, hence this special reduction of 25 Per Cent Browning, King & Co., R. S. Wilcox, Manager. Omaha's Only Exclusive Clothiers for Men and Boys.