BAG A BUNCH OF THIEVES

Police Pick Up an Active Squad of Well Known Pickpockets.

HAD BEEN FOLLOWING BRYAN'S CIRCUIT

Part of the Gang Which Has Been Working Along the Route of the Candidate is Now in Jail.

As the result of a fight between two members of the gang the police succeeded yesterday afternoon in arresting five men, whom they have strong reason to believe are pickpockets who are following William Jennings Bryan around the country. The men gave the names of Charles Ellis, Phillip Hastings, Charles Miller, D. Harrison and E. Neary. They were evidently booked for syndicate park, South Omaha. Charles Ellis and Phillip Hastings engaged in the fight which attracted the attention of the police to them and led to their and their partners' arrest. Hastings is quite an elderly man, while the other four are comparatively young. The fight between Ellis and Hastings occurred about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon near the corner of Pearl street and Broadway. When first noticed Ellis was beating Hastings. The latter seemed endeavoring to get away from his assailant, but was knocked down. While Hastings lay on the sidewalk, with his head banged over the curb, Ellis kicked him twice in the face. At this point in the fight Warren Dalley, a former member of the Fifty-first Iowa volunteers, rushed to the rescue of the old man and knocked Ellis up against the billboards in front of the Eisenman building and held him until the arrival of Officer Wilson. Ellis was at once taken to the city jail, while another officer escorted Hastings to the office of Dr. Waterman, where two deep cuts on his right eye, caused from the kicks from Ellis, were sewed up. In answer to questions as to what had caused the fight, the old man said they had had an argument over politics and that his assailant was an entire stranger to him. At the city jail they professed to be unacquainted with each other, but it happened that some of the officers had seen them and four others together earlier in the afternoon and a search was promptly made for their supposed partners. In less than half an hour three others of the gang were rounded up on Broadway just as they were preparing to board the cars for Omaha. A sixth member of the gang, who was seen earlier in the day, managed to escape. When brought together at the city jail all five professed ignorance of one another, but as soon as they were locked up they dropped this and sent for an attorney to look after their interests.

Evidence of Their Trade.

Examination of the five men's effects showed undoubtedly that they were pickpockets traveling in the wake of Bryan. Each of them had a copy of the New York Informant, giving the list of county fairs and other public gatherings throughout the country, and one of them, the man giving the name of Neary, had a memorandum book in which were entered the dates of meetings at which Bryan was billed to speak, some of these dates being marked "good," this being taken to indicate that the meetings thus marked meant a good field for the plying of their trade of pickpockets. Three gold chains and two handsome gold watches were found on the gang and these the police believe are the proceeds of their pocket-picking. One of the men, giving the name of E. Neary, was found a gold hunting-cameo watch and gold chain with cameo charm. The numbers of this watch are: Case, 305,176; works, 8,022,135. On Harrison was found a gold hunting-cameo watch and gold chain with a $1 gold piece dated 1873 attached. The numbers on this watch are, case, 3,563,299; works, 7,790,195. Miller had $15 in his possession and Hastings was possessed of $10, while the other three had each about $5.

Bound for South Omaha.

That the five men were booked for syndicate park yesterday afternoon is evident from a notation in Neary's memorandum book. The police are of the opinion that the men were afraid to go to Omaha direct by the train. A home answering the description of the animal belonging to Hudatz was found near the highway just over the county line in Harrison county. The buggy and harness were sold to the supposed owner, a farmer. Deputy Sheriff Baker has gone to investigate. For tonight the attraction at the Dohany theater will be "The Man." It is reputed to be one of the best comedy plays on the road. The spectacle is said to be original, new and above the average and all through the piece is very clever. Well Known Thieves.

Omaha officers identified the seven men under arrest as members of what is known as the "Gorilla" gang of pickpockets. With the exception of Hastings, the old man who was beaten by Ellis, the entire outfit was arrested in Omaha July 30, the day that Sells & Forepaugh's circus showed there. The gang is said to be the smoothest that ever worked in this section of the country. The real name of the old man, Hastings, is said to be McGregor and he is the "banker" of the gang. From what one of the fellows let drop it seems that Hastings had spent some of the money which he ought to have divided among the rest and that led to the assault on him by Ellis. McGregor has been identified as a man who was arrested here eight years ago by Officer Claar for tapping the till at the old Colorado house. Gravel roofing, A. H. Read, 541 Broadway. Resists the Tax. Mrs. Lulu Patton commenced suit in the district court yesterday against the city to have declared null, void and illegal the assessment against her property for the paving on Oakland avenue and Avenue E. The suit, like several others of a similar character against the city, is based on the recent decision of the supreme court, which held that assessments for public improvements on the lineal front footage of the abutting property and not according to the benefits derived by the property from such improvements were illegal and the law providing for their collection unconstitutional. The amount involved is $435. Mrs. Patton also asks that the county treasurer be restrained from selling her property, which is located in Mill addition, at tax sale.

A complete line of new fall suits just received at Smith & Bradley's.

PORT DODGE, Ia., Aug. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The citizens of Port Dodge, Irrespective of party, turned out on massed numbers today to hear the appointment of the Hon. Jonathan Prentiss Dooliver to the United States senate. The demonstration was of a spontaneous character and demonstrated in which he is held in his own community. In the evening a large concourse of people formed in the business center of the city and up Central avenue, headed by a brass band and filling the street with the flare of skyrocket and roman candles, marched to Senator Dooliver's residence, located in Port Dodge, where they seemed to have surrounded the Dooliver residence. Senator Dooliver with his wife and intimate friends met the throng on his front porch. Hon. R. M. Wright was master of ceremonies, and in a brief and well chosen speech stated that the citizens of Port Dodge had met for the purpose of expressing to their distinguished fellow townsman the appreciation which they felt for the honor that had been conferred upon him and upon them in his appointment as senator.

Howell's Anti-"Kaw" cures coughs, colds.

The Elks' outing and banquet at Lake Manawa yesterday was not so well attended as had been anticipated. About 150 members of the order from Omaha and Council Bluffs, with a few from the adjoining towns, gathered at the banquet table at Manawa park. Despite the small attendance the banquet was a merry affair, enlivened by a program of short speeches and songs and other turns by several members of the vaudeville troupe now performing in the Casino. After the satables had been discussed to the satisfaction of all, John S. Baldwin introduced the speakers, the talkers and topics being as follows: Lyle J. Abbott of Omaha, "Sociality," John Mahanah of Lincoln, "The Actor," Emmet Dintley of Council Bluffs, "Fraternism," George P. Cronk of Omaha, "America," Victor E. Bender of Council Bluffs, "Brotherhood."

Abandon Fight on Holdout.

R. C. Dodd, business manager of the Omaha Waters' union, is quoted as saying that the fight against W. S. Balduff, proprietor of the cafe at Manawa park, is to be declared off. It is said that this determination was reached owing to the waters' failure to secure the support of the Central Labor union, which did not approve of the attack on Caterer Balduff. In the event of all the proceedings brought against Balduff by the Omaha waters being discontinued, Mr. Balduff will drop the criminal proceedings brought by him against Dodd and others, whom he charges with conspiring to injure his business at Lake Manawa.

Mrs. Smith Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Mary M. Smith filed a petition in the district court yesterday, asking for a divorce from Wilson Smith, whom she married in Toulon, Ill., on June 19, 1894. She alleges that her husband ill-treats her and fails to properly provide for her, and that recently while she was sick, he refused to secure her any medical attendance. She further alleges that her husband fails to provide her with a suitable dwelling, although well able to do so. The Smiths own eighty-five acres of farm land in this county on which they live, and the plaintiff asks the court to grant her such alimony as it deems right.
