The samples that the inspector obtains is divided into two parts and two distinct tests are made, to avoid any possible error. Mr. Jones says that the two tests seldom vary in grade.

TOO BIG FOR INDIVIDUALS

Irrigation Projects Must Be Backed by Municipal, State or National Appropriations.

F. H. Newell, hydrographer of the United States geological survey, passed through the city yesterday on his way from Wyoming to Washington, D. C., and called upon Secretary Utz of the Commercial club. Mr. Newell is interested principally in irrigation. Pursuant to his orders he attempts to interest others in the building of reservoirs for the conservation and distribution of water throughout the rich but semi-arid section of the middle west. Mr. Utz told him that the Commercial club had already decided upon a course of action looking toward the encouragement of irrigation. Some time in November, said he, the club hopes to assemble several of the western engineers in Omaha while they are on their way to Washington and entertain them at a meeting, at which will be urged upon their attention the necessity of a national appropriation to assist in extending the irrigated area of several of the western states.

"In order to meet the results from irrigation," said Mr. Newell, "and to benefit the largest scope of country it will be necessary for the expense to be defrayed by municipal, state or national appropriation, according to conditions, as it doesn't seem likely that the middle west has anything in the way of an appropriation." Mr. Newell for several months has been in Wyoming and Colorado, where he has measured rivers, surveyed reservoir sites and investigated artesian conditions.

How in a Saloon.

A bloody fight occurred in the White Front saloon on lower Fourth street early this morning when John Waldner, the bartender, and two other men were killed. Christian and John Olson. It was time for closing and the bartender asked the two men to leave which they declined to do. When the request was repeated the bartender, who was armed with a revolver, used a chair as a weapon. He defended himself as best he could and was holding the ground when Patrolman McCarthy appeared and arrested Johnson and Christian. Olson escaped, but was arrested later. Waldner received two wounds, one in the chest and one in the arm, which were severe ones, which were sewed up by Dr. F. J. Sargent. The men possibly arrested vigorously and McCarthy had to put up a hard fight to hold them.
