

PHYSICIANS HOLD AUTOPSY

Doctors Endeavoring to Ascertain Cause of G. M. Wright's Death.

SYMPTOMS OF POISONING APPARENT

Positive Diagnosis Could Not Be Made and Post-Mortem Examination Was Resorted To—Inquest May Follow.

George M. Wright, ex-superintendent of the county poor farm, who was taken seriously ill of some mysterious malady Tuesday morning, died at his apartments in the Sherman flats shortly before midnight that night without having regained consciousness. There were strong indications of morphia poisoning, but the attending physicians say they were unable to make a positive diagnosis of his case and in order to ascertain the cause of death a post-mortem examination was conducted by Drs. E. R. Porter and J. C. Bishop, Dr. W. R. Lavender was present as the coroner and after the autopsy reported that there was no positive evidence of poisoning, but advised that the contents of the stomach be carefully analyzed.

Dr. Lavender stated in the report that the heart, stomach and kidneys of the dead man were badly diseased and that the condition of the heart was such that it alone might have caused his death. A little morphia, the doctor stated, taken to relieve pain, might have hastened death on account of the dangerous condition of the heart. Mr. Wright's condition was discovered by his wife about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was then unconscious and breathing heavily. Dr. Bishop was called and later Dr. Coulter was summoned in consultation. A stomach pump was brought into use, but not in time to be effective, as the poison—if he had taken poison—had been entirely absorbed into the system. Then, by means of artificial respiration and a galvanic battery, the patient's life was prolonged for nineteen hours.

Suicide Theory Scented.

The suicide theory is quite generally accepted by the neighbors and other tenants of the Sherman flats, but this is emphatically denied by the members of his family and of the secret societies to which he belonged. They say he is not the kind of a man who would take his own life. Those who incline to the hypothesis of suicide ascribe several possible motives. Poor health is one of them. It is said that he had been doctoring for some stomach trouble and that he was beginning to despair of ever regaining his physical strength. Two weeks ago he was overheard to remark that he would never take another drop of medicine. The report that his domestic relations were unhappy is denied by his relatives and by Mrs. Wright herself.

The deceased was manager and bookkeeper for the Standard Bridge company, with offices in the New York life building, Robert S. Drake, president of the concern, was in Chicago, Ill., yesterday and whether or not Mr. Wright's accounts were regular will probably be known today, when the president will return.

Mr. Wright's life was insured in the Aetna and Royal Arcanum for an aggregate amount of $10,000. He was a member of the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Modern Woodmen and Royal Arcanum orders. The funeral will be held Friday at 1 p. m. The details of this have not been arranged as yet, but it is probable that one or more of the lodges to which he belonged will conduct the services.

Wright's Life.

George M. Wright was born in Terre Haute, Ind., forty-three years ago. He came to Omaha in 1888 and soon after married Miss Franka Davis, daughter of E. I. Davis, chief clerk adjutant general U. S. A. About this time he also entered the military service. He was in the battle of Pine Ridge, securing his discharge, he assumed charge of the government hospital at Fort Omaha, which position he held three years. He then became superintendent of the county poor farm, serving until the appointment of the present incumbent, when he went into the bridge building business.

A year ago last March his mother died, leaving him $2,000. His wife and a daughter 3 years old survive him.

Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Desperate tactics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Pepsin Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles.

ORE WAITING TO BE WEIGHED

Series of Accidents to Scales Causes Congestion of Lured Ore in Yards of the Smelter. A peculiar state of affairs is responsible for a decrease in the force employed at the smelter. All ore intended for use at that institution has been weighed upon the scales of the Western Weighing association. These scales have been in bad condition for some time and a day or two ago they collapsed. Workmen are now engaged in building new scales, but it will be some time before they can be used.

When the association's scales were no longer available the smelting company ran cars upon the scales of the Union Pacific Railway company. But few cars had passed over before a train ran off the track, derailing the scales. They were repaired, but now the smelting company declares that the weights are not correct and they will not accept ore or pay freight until the weights have been verified by the association scales. Cars of ore are piled up at the smelter, but none has been unloaded for several days. The question of demurrage is to be taken up later.

The Heavens of Woman. Was graciously shown by Mrs. Charles Dowling of Butler, Pa., in a three years' struggle with a malignant stomach trouble, that caused distressing attacks of nausea and indigestion. All remedies failed to relieve her until she tried Electric Bitters. After taking it two months, she wrote: "I am now wholly cured and can eat anything. It is truly a grand tonic for the whole system, as I gained in weight and feel much stronger since using it." Clear digestion, nervous strength, improved appetite, gives new life. Only 50c. Guaranteed, at Kuhn & Co.'s drug store.

CARRIER BETRAYS HIS TRUST

John H. Eich Confesses to the Theft of Money from Registered Letters.

NO EFFORT IS MADE TO CONCEAL GUILT

All the Looted Missives Are Sent from One House and in Small Amounts—Domestic Trouble Alleged Cause.

John H. Eich, a letter carrier at the Omaha postoffice, has been arrested on the charge of embezzling registered letters. He gave bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the preliminary examination, which will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Eich entered the employ of the government as letter carrier August 1, 1892, and for several years has carried route No. 25, lying west of Thirty-eighth street, between Farnam and Cumings. On August 15 of this year he received a letter for registration from a woman living at 118 North Thirty-eighth avenue. The letter failed to arrive at its destination and the sender called at the postoffice to make inquiries. The records were examined and showed that the letter was still in the hands of the carrier. While this matter was being investigated W. A. Weber, living at the same number, complained that a letter addressed to Mrs. Sarah Weber of Glenwood, Ia., given to the carrier for registration, had not arrived at its destination. As Weber left the building he met Eich, who confessed to the theft of the letter and gave him $10, the amount contained in it.

The house on Thirty-eighth avenue seemed to be fatal to Eich. The next letter he was given to register contained $150. It was addressed to Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago. Eich took the cash and destroyed the missive. Another letter given him by the same person in the same month was also appropriated with the funds it contained. The complaints all came in about the same time.

Eich Admits His Guilt.

Yesterday Postmaster Inspector Sinclair and the postmaster decided that they had a case against the carrier and he was taken into the office of the latter and questioned. As soon as he was confronted with the evidence of his guilt he broke down and confessed. In a signed statement to the inspector, which he says was made at his own suggestion, he states that the first letter was lost, but admits appropriating the funds contained in the other letters. Eich attributes his action to trouble in his family. For several years the Eich household has been a scene of infelicity which culminated about three months ago in a separation between husband and wife, the latter taking possession of the only child. This trouble has seemed to prey upon the mind of the mail carrier, until his friends believe him mentally irresponsible at the time of the embezzlements.

When first taken in charge by the inspector he was asked to produce the record of registered letters received by him. He told the inspector that he had lost it, but afterward delivered it to the officer. The record shows the receipt of the letters and bears out the confession. This record will be used for the purpose of making a thorough examination into his affairs, although he states that the four letters already discovered constitute the total of his embezzlements.
