Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Without displaying any of the sensational activity of last week today's cotton market was wearing on the trade being particularly sensitive of news of almost any description and to orders from any point of the compass. The general swing of the fluctuations was the reverse of that of Saturday, though at no time did bear sentiment of a positive character assert itself. The influence bearing on the market at the start was a bearish set of cables from the English market. This led to a weak opening here with prices down 46 H points under feverish general selling and an almost total absence of bull support. The decline did not cease with adjournment of the "call," prices further casing 66 H points before recuperation manifested itself on the down turn. Entrope, the south, the public and professional holders sold nervously, parties having profits within reach purchasing the cotton offered. Light receipts, a brief spell of buying on the reactionary theory, reports that southern spot markets were easily holding their own and claims that the print cloth situation was improving in some respects started a sharp advance before the close of the first hour and during the rest of the forenoon the market held tolerably steady without, however, railying to the closing level of Saturday. The market had another weak turn in the early afternoon and broke to the lowest point of the day under a fresh demand to unload cotton accumulated on last week's rise, supplemented by straggling sales for short account. Estimates for much larger receipts during the by straggling sales for short account. Estimates for much larger receipts during the rest of the week were partially responsible for the renewed selling, though the favorable forteasts and reasonably good crop reports figured as bear news. The market dropped in a spasmodic way, but very little new business through commission houses appeared. Trade was extremely nervous in view of conflicting reports as to the amount of damage done by the storm in Texas and mixed opinions bearing upon isomorows weekly government report. Considerable attention was directed toward Savannah, where receipts continued heavy, due to haste on the part of exporters to ship cotton and relieve the strained situation abrond. SHEEP-Today was one of the big day SHEEP-Today was one of the big days of the season in sheep receipts, but at the same time the market was in good share. Packers were liberal buyers of anything good, and the bulk of that class of stuff was picked up at a reasonably early hour. Sheep were in active demand at steady to stronger prices and lambs also brought just about steady prices. The top on lambs today was $3.25, but buyers say they would pay as high as $5.50 for strictly prime lambs.

There were a good many teeders included in today's receipts and a liberal proportion of them were lambs. The market, however, held just about steady, as the demand from of them were lambs. The market, however, held just about steady, as the demand from the country is still in good shape.
