BALL MONOPOLIZED PEOPLE'S ATTENTION

Sobemianism Attendant Upon Carnival Week Offered Excuse for Putting Conventionality Aside and Having Good Time.

Social Calendar.

Aside from the Ak-Sar-Ben ball and the Lyman-Dickinson wedding the last week has been devoid of any attempt at formality, sorighly, and indeed these two were quitenough. Society has been almost en irely menopolized of late in preparation for the ball and Priday night its anticipation was realized for the event was one of the most brilliant in the social history of the city. It was a gathering of the talent and beguty not only of Omaha, but of the entire state, and one of his must pleasing features was the presence of so many of the young women who will make their fermal debut this season.

There were a few informal gatherings. complimentary to the slatting guests, which brought together a number of women who have been leaders of Omaha society at Brandels, Misnes B. Ronewater, Hellman

Careless of consequences, or possibly conflient in his own strongth, the man snatched one of the sacks and then turned to dodge the shower of confetti thrown by the other boy. Neither of these people can tell just how it happened, but the next minute the bystanders were surprised to see a young woman and two boys running down the street, the boys pulling her on and she resisting with all her strength and screeming. Some one rescued her from the urchins and when her escort floally came up she said nothing. It was not necessary her mask was gone, but she just "looked" at him. His gloomy face was the subject of much comment Friday night.

Woman's Club Begins Work. The Woman's club will hold its first meeting tomorrow. The reports from the biennial will be finished and delegates to the State Federation at Lincoln elected Mrs. Stoutenborough, ex-president of the State Federation, will be present and give a falk on traveling libraries.

PLAIN TALK To Catarrh Sufferers.

Every person suffering from catarrh in its many forms knows that the common letions, salves and douches do not cure. It is needless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, because every victim of catarrhal trouble knows it for himself it

Pennies Passed for Dimes.

John Darnell, after giving some fifty pennies a bath in acid to make them bright, was doing a rushing business on the Midway Friday night, passing his "raised" coppers for dimes. In the electric light the coines had a silvery sheen and bore a close resemblance to dimes, and, in the rush of making change, few of the concessionaires detected the chest. The detectives are said to have a tip that with Darnell in the city is an accomplica whose specialty is raising nickels to E gold deces. Several merchants have complained of having been defrauded by his clever counterfeits. Pennies Passed for Dimes. lever counterfeits.
