This is due to the fact that the people as a rule do not seem inclined to take any chances on losing the good times they have been and are now enjoying under the republican administration. The farmers especially are supporting Mckinley, as they remember too well the prices they obtained under the previous administration. It is not at all necessary to point out to them the advantages of a continuance of the present administration. They realize this themselves and in my judgment they will vote this fall for a reto a democratic administration. Wherever I have spoken I have been greeted with good crowds and my speeches appear to have been listened to with interest. In short. I think the conditions for the reelection of President McKinley are most favorable. During his stay here Secretary Wilson had a conference with National Committee-man Ernest E. Hart and other prominent ocal republicans.

EAT BEFORE GOING TO RED.

It is Poor Judgment to Retire on an Empty Stomach. Many people have an idea that it is inurious to eat just before going to bed, but doctors laugh at the suggestion and often county are now well under way. The county I prescribe a light supper as a cure for in-

"Some physiologists hold that the stomach should be allowed this period of complete rest and that in consequence it is better to go to bed fasting than to satisfy the craving for nourishment, but if the food eaten just before retiring is of an easily digested character the tax upon the stomach is not sufficiently great to deprive it of the rest which is necessary for its proper action the succeeding day

"Nothing better can be suggested than a glassful of milk, but it should always be at blood heat. Cold liquids will do harm rather than good, for in that case the blood is not drawn to the stomach with the same rapidity and in the same quantity as it is when warm liquids are taken. In a great many instances long-continued insomnia may be completely cured, after an interval of, say, a couple of weeks, by the steady adherence to such regimen.

"Lettuce, especially when dressed with oil, has a soporific effect on account of certain sedative principles which it contains. "Heavy suppers after the theater, so opular among city people, are extremely deleterious to health if taken regularly, but it must be remembered that in the majority of cases an hour or two elapses between eating a theater supper and retiring for the night, and the muscular activity so necessary to the proper digestion of heavy meal is supplied when the supper s eaten at a restaurant or at some other place away from one's home

"Broiled live lobster and Weish rarebit, the two favorite after-dinner dishes of a large class of people, when eaten late at night are about as digestible as leather, and many a devotee at their shrine awakens the next morning with a sick headache as the result of his indiscretion. Cheese in any form is indigestible at night. 'A broiled English mutton chop or small not a very fushionable theater supper, is as good as any that can be taken from the standpoint of the physician.

"Raw oysters produce no bad effects if very easily digested, though the hard part s much less so. Fried oysters and clams should be tabooed at night."

and avoidance of hurt on the part of the congregation. Cannot the minister's wife be trusted to make the very best possible appearance that her husband's salary will permit her to make? When a woman is expected to minule on terms of equality with the wealthy as well as the humble she asturally does not want, for her husband's sake as well as her own, to be noticeably badly dressed, nny more than she wishes to bring upon herself the charge of extravagence. What she really desires, more than anything else, is to manage so well that she is able to pass unnoticed, so far as clothes are concerned."

Mothers endorse if, children like it, old folks use it. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. It will quickly cure all throat and lung troubles.

SAN FRANCISCO. Sopt 30.—The steamer Curaceae brings news of a storm which was raging along the Mexican coast when it salled for the north. Several vessels were driven ashore among them being the German bark Planet, which will be a total loss. "The Planet went ashore on September it," said Captain Parsons of the Curacao. "We just missed the worst of the storm by running to Gaymas. The following day Mazatlan was swept and the wreckage was something fearful. Houses were blown down, roots were lifted, trees uprooted, telegraph wires twisted out of their post-tions and vessels swept from their moornings. WRITE.

Postoffice is Robbed.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Sept. 30.—The postoffice at this place was broken into early this morning and robbed of $5.00 in money and stamps. The robbers are supposed to be experts who have been operating in this section for some time.

to all the office buildings around town and look at their rooms. You can find plenty of them vacant and you can probably get any size room you want. Then come to THE BEE BUILDING. You will not find so many rooms from which to make a selection. There is good reason for that. All the rooms in

are first class and the few that are vacant are just as good as those that are occupied. Rents are no higher than in buildings which may burn up like a hay stack.
