They are also mitted to specify he stated that one of the women conducting such an establishment had in the bank $50,000, made in the business of Omaha in a comparatively few years, and that on dresses made this year her profits were something over $29,000. Contrary to expectation the milliners are from Paris to the White Rock Mineral not so fortunate, for while the profits are Spring company as follows: good they are not what they have been in a few months each year.

Questions Readily Answered. While some of the owners of smaller houses have objected to the questions propounded by the agents the larger establishments have without exception given them all of the assistance in their power. At one manufactory the proprietor devoted half a day to investigating his business with the agent. The books were all brought into the private office and for that afternoon the door was locked to all visitors. When the books were completed it was found that the exact amount of business in the manufacturing department could not be ascertained, as much of the goods purchased was sold in unusnufactured form, and no separate books were kept of these sales. An estimate was made on the basis of the stock on hand, which was compared with the steekman's books, showing a difference between the two estimates of less than $300 on a business of more than $200,-000 per annum. The amount of work done by each operative was taken and compared with an average of what could be done if the people put in full time, the result showing that among the 200 odd persons employed the value of the lost time in a year amounted to less than $3,000.

Among the statistics to be secured in the total amount of wages paid each year and the number of persons employed. This is one of the delicate subjects touched upon by the enumerator and the one where the most trouble is found in securing answers. An agent having the larger establishments in charge speaking of this phase of the hardest to get of any. Sometimes it is really impossible, but usually a good estimate can be made. The larger houses make the least trouble. I have visited and examined the books of a dozen or more houses employing more than 100 men and of the entire list I find that The Bee pays the best wages to its employes of any establishment in Omaha."

Announcement of the Theaters. This afternoon a matinee performance will be given of "A Runaway Girl" at Boyd's theater. Tonight the company will conclude its engagement. At every performance the theater has been well filled.

The piece is received better than any one that has played the theater this season-Tomorrow afternoon Herrmann, the great prestidigitator, will open for an engagement that will continue to Tuesday night. He promises some weird and wonderful transformations and tricks, all of which are new. The mysterious Tub of Neptune is one and La Supplice de Lutece is another. The cremation is his piece de realive before the audience and then brought into being. Seats are now on

WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 5.-The White Rock Mineral Spring company has lust The dresemakers are another large and received word that the gold medal at the informed that the French government chemist pronounces White Rock an absolutely perfect water from the standpoint of purity, taste and mixing quality

The method of making the award is an interesting one and is told in a letter

Jurors selected from different countries times past and the seasons are limited to were appointed to judge American waters. The French government chemist made an analysis of each water, not knowing its name, but under a number. This analysis was furnished each jurer, who in turn tested each water under numbers correponding with the chemist's numbers. Neither juror nor chemist knew what water he was testing. The individual jurora marked their opinion of the different waters on a scale ranging from 1 to 20, but their judgment of them all was based on analysis, taste, mixing quality, etc. "After each juror had put down his marks for each as he thought they compared, the numbers so put down were added together and that sum was divided by the number of jurors as follows: Waters folling between I and 4 by this division were designated 'ordinary;' 4 to 8, 'fair 8 to 12, 'good,' 12 to 16, 'very good,' 16 to 20, 'perfect.' White Rock was the only water that fell between 16 and 20 out of 21 competitors. It is said to be unheard of that one should fall in charmed circle of 16-20, and not another reach 16.
