With the passing of the final hop last evening the Country club went into hibernation until buds and birds again temp city folk to make the journey along the old overland trail. For several weeks penple of fashion have felt the chill of the evening air and have made up their minds by degrees to surrender the informality roads in favor of the more precise but well-heated domain of the drawing room. Zephyrus, the west wind belying his gentle name, and Boreas, the northern blast, have smitten them and last night they de- the Country club for that purpose.

misted. The occasion last evening might easily have been a thanksgiving for a most happy first season from the viewpoint of society, golf and finance and the merrymakers were not without the feeling of mutual felicitation. The interior of the club house has been adorned by accretions until it is a delightful den, pleasing ready placed just east of the club house. to the eye of all who have the heart of a good fellow. The regular Saturday night dances have been a bright spot in the summer lives of the stay-at-homes and the dining room, dancing floor and to those whose aim was to be diverted.

It is not meant to imply that the club house will wrap itself in the folds of its Smith. gravel walks and stand solitary through the winter, for the golfer of the sterner mort will stand true to the eighty acres. Relieved of the feminine presence his will be the privilege of putting feet in high books and spinning yarns over flowing muga in forbidden pinces.

There was little extra preparation for the last ball of the season, except that a string orchestra was present and more at Metropolitan hali. elaborate refreshments were served. The informal spirit ruled to the last and little Shepherd met for a social evening at the pretension was made in the way of even- home of Rev. Percy Silver on Monday evening dress. It was altogether a happy close ing. to a happy summer.

Even though the season is scarcely conventional for such occurrences, the list of weddings again rises to its abnormal stature of the last few weeks. Cupid seems to aim no less surely in ulster and gauntlet than when attired in his more scanty springtime attire. The reversal of the season during the last two weeks into April mildness may have had its moral influence upon those who must pay rent and coal bills or stay single. Some of the functions were in churches with tapers and choir boys, but the great majority, following the simplicity of the day in such things, were in home parlors in the presence of chosen friends. There are other similar events of importance impending

A number of the clergymen and prominent laymen of the city were present at the reception.

For several years, Eucalyptol, Guaicol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, and only very recently an ingenious chemis; succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics into a pleasant, effective tablet.
