BRYAN HAS A TURBULENT DAY Gets Good Crowds and Hears Some More College Chaffing. ATTACKS SENATOR DEPEW AT HIS HOME Says He is Not Fit to Be in the Senate Because of His Financial Connections.

west the democratic contention would be as popular here as there. Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour and twenty-five minutes, concluding his speech at 11:30 o'clock. The entire audience remained until the end. Colliques with Cornell Boys. Colonel Bryan today experienced his second encounter of the campaign with college students. It occurred at Ithaca and the students were from Cornell. The incident was not so exciting as at Ann Arbor, for the reason that the young men were not so persistent, but there was one feature of interest not noticeable at Ann Arbor. This was the participation of young women in the affair. A hundred or more members of the opposite sex were stationed at the windows just back of the stage and they disturbed the proceedings by lowering posters bearing pictures of President McKinley. The young men greeted these with yells. A large percentage of the students were in sympathy with Mr. Bryan and some shouted lustily for him when his replies to the questions of their fellows were to their liking. The day's work was rendered interesting by a spirited meeting at Auburn, the house during his lifetime of Secretary Seward, and by Mr. Bryan's pointed reference in his speech there to the manager of an important manufacturing enterprise located at that point, which he intended should have greater than local application. Speeches were made during the day at Cortland and Binghamton and several smaller places. The day's work closed with a meeting at Rochester late tonight. The meetings of the day were generally well attended and those at Ithaca and Binghamton were especially large. Probably the Binghamton meeting was the most enthusiastic of the day. Mr. Bryan's speech at Cortland was addressed almost wholly to the farmers, and he there expressed the opinion that one farmer out of 100 was benefited by republican policies. He pleaded to his auditors to throw off the yoke of partisanship and assert their independence. He declared the farmers were every year owing more and owing less of the wealth they create. At Binghamton, where Mr. Bryan had the largest and most enthusiastic audience of the day, he took especial notice of the fact that some of the manufacturing plants of that town were closed, saying: "It is strange to me that it is necessary for you people to have an empty and silent tannery and match factory in a town and not know what a trust means and will do. It seems to me that every man with the power to think that every one with reason ought to know that industrial monopoly means the closing of factories, the throwing of men out of employment and the making of slaves out of those employed."

VOTE IS AGAINST REVISION Summary of the Polling of Presbyteries on the Creed of the Church. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The vote of the presbyteries on the question of the revision of the confession of faith as thus far reported is as follows: For revision only, 30; declaratory statement, 2; revision and supplemental creed, 10; substitute creed, 5; dissential of the whole subject, 33; total number of presbyteries voting, 110. There are 222 presbyteries, including twenty-one in foreign lands, most of which will not vote in time for the report of the committee, and there are eight or ten presbyteries which have only one meeting during the year, in the spring. A report will be presented by the committee to the general assembly, which meets in this city next May, with recommendations. The votes of two-thirds of the presbyteries will be necessary for the assembly to send down any overtures on the subject. The presbyteries voting for revision desire as a rule modification of certain expressions, such as "elect infants dying in infancy," which they ask to have changed so as to read "infants dying in infancy are included in the election of grace." The majority of these presbyteries ask that the revision be along the line of the reports submitted by the revision committee of 1892. Presbyteries which voted for a declaratory statement desire to have such an explanation of disputed points in the confession as was adopted in May, 1878, by the United Presbyterian church of Scotland, which, in connection with the question of salvation of infants, has adopted the following: "In accepting the standards it is not required to be held that any who die in infancy are lost." The advocates of a supplemental creed do not desire to do anything with the confession, but simply to add to the confession a brief statement of Calvinistic doctrine in simple language. POSTAL WILL GO IT ALONE General Manager Baker Says His Company Will Not Go Into Big Telephone Trust. NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Vice President and General Manager W. H. Baker of the Postal Telegraph company made this statement today: "Rumors are in circulation regarding a pending combination of the Postal Telegraph Cable company, the Commercial Telegraph company, the Western Union Telegraph company and the American Bell Telephone company, with the Telephone, Telegraph and Cable company of America. Officers of the Postal Telegraph Cable company and the Commercial Telegraph company deny emphatically that either company is contemplating any such plan and state that the Postal Telegraph-Cable company and Commercial Telegraph company are not for sale." Testimony in Ferrell Case. MARYSVILLE, O., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Ella Snible was the first witness called today in the trial of Rossignol H. Ferrell for the killing of Express Messenger Lane. She testified that she saw the man who shot at the hotel in Plain City on the night of the murder. She testified that she recognized the man who shot at the hotel as the man who was arrested in New York last week. A. C. Walker, a Columbus policeman, next gave testimony as to unimportant details in connection with the hiding and removal of Lane's body. The prisoner's betrothed declared her faith in him and expressed confidence in his despatch.
