CHICAGO, Oct. 22 -Liberal receipts, with liberal increase in visible supply, together with outside spathy, told against the price of wheat today, despite the buildshness of early news, and December closed worker under Saturday Corn closed we and cats a shade higher. Provisions glosed un-

Duliness broaded over the wheat nearly the whole session. The interest of outsiders was lacking and business was therefore, left principally to pit traders. The market started out with a good array of builtah considerations, but the response was very weak, December opening only the higher at 74%c. Liverpool was tad higher. World's shipments were only 7.484,000 bu, over 1,00,000 bu, under Saturday's expectations. December under selling by discouraged longs and traders bearishly inclined by habit dropped in 1920,144,000 at which the market closed 5,50% under Saturday. The cash trade was rather slow, although New York claimed forty four londs taken for export. Local receipts were 244 cars, three of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duttin reported 325 cars, against 1,073 last were and 1,921 a year ago.

Corn was quiet, but firm, under a moderate general demand for futures and good buying of cash by shippers. Wet weather west wan a factor used to advantage by bulls, with higher cables and prospects of further unfavorable weather contributory factors. In oats, the bickering and dickering of a small local interest served to keep that market moving by doing business enough to call for the occasional posting of a quotation on the builetin board. The buying of 16,000 bu, by one man, who has been doing that sert of thing lately, was the only feature. The crowd is inclined to stay on the long side which feeling was helped somewhat by the corn arrength to day. BERLIN, Oct. 22—On the Bourse today. Striking I pward Movement of Prices in Spite of Late Setback.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Today's furious active and buoyant speculation was brought up with a sharp turn in the final hour of trading by a flurry in the rate for call money, which carried it up to 5 percent. This was accepted as an admonition that the speculation was overrunning the newly acquired resources of the money market and very heavy selling to realize profits set in. In some of the stocks most affected by the late selling the carrier gains are selling to the deverge level was carried down considerably below the best of the day. The effort of the built to retrieve their ground caused a very unsettled tone, but the closing was on the whole cass, with the buoyant suap apparently taken out of the market. buils to retrieve their ground caused a very unsettled tone, but the closing was on the whole easy, with the buoyant shap apparently taken out of the market. Notwithstanding this late setback there were some very striking upward movements of prices, especially in the Steel group, and the largest day's business in stocks since the earlier part of the year was transacted at a level of prices well above those of Saturday. Speculators reveled in the revivitying streams of gold which are pourfing into the New York money market from many quarters of the world. Yesterday's incoming steamers from Europe brought the total receipts of the gold changed there for import to over $3,000,000 and Saturday's receipt of $4,800,000 at San Francisco can be made immediately available to the New York money market by telegraphic transfer. The balance of the total engagements in Europe, which amounted to upwards of $5,000,000. Is fast following on the heels of the shipments already received. Neither on Saturday nor today was there a single dollar deposited at the sub-treasury for transfer to the south or west, which is a conclusive demonstration of the interior needs for currency. Sterling exchange fell weakly back to hear the gold import point and the continued downward tendency of interest rates in London and Herlin seemed further demands for gold from New York. It is important to note that the weakness of sterling exchange is largely due to the Coston Stock Quotations BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Call leans, 31-17414 cent: time loans, 506 per cent. interest rates in London and Berlin seemed to offer acquiescence in the threatened further demands for gold from New York. It is important to note that the weakness of sterling exchange is largely due to the heavy buying of stocks for London account, which amounted, according to reliable estimates, to $5.00 shares. Exchange made from this source, unlike that due to the cotton movement, does not involve a corresponding drain from New York, such as its required to move the cotton crop. London's large buying was reported to be due, in a degree, to speculative buying of calls for American stocks, which London has sold quite freely for some time past and which the current rise in prices forces that market to provide liself with. The consequence of these various favoring factors was what the brokers called the best open market for stocks since last spring. This was taken advantage of from the outside to realize on a very large scale and the professional operators became somewhat uneasy, as they detected evidence of inside selling. The spirit in the call money rate was all that was needed to precipitate the general selling movement. This development served as a reminder that it may not be expedient to lend all the newly available money resources at once for speculative purposes. This development served as a reminder that it may not be expedient to lend all the newly available money resources at once for speculative purposes. The time money market was dull today, borrowers exceeding lower rates and lenders holding out for the higher rates, but bankers looked for considerable additional requirements for iosnis to be met in the near future.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Clearings, $22,678,200; belances, $2,627,544. financial cablegram says: The maracis here were favorably influenced by the Anglo-German agreement concerning China, but business was not increased, except in the American department. It was observed that the German favorites rose, while the favorites of the French market went off. American securities were brisk throughout the session, mainly on professional business. The public sold more than it bought, being inclined to await the definite issue of the elections. Over right orders from New York started the bail rolling. Herlin, assisted by New York, lumped Baltimore & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville, the latter in the late trading. London has taken no initiative, but is predicting a McKinley boom. New York bought Anaconda freely. The demand for gold was slack and quotations were down to 71s l\(\frac{1}{2}\)d bid. London declines to deal in bills today, Paris and Berlin took all the business. Sliver was strong, closing at 30, on Indian government buying to supplement inadequate currency supplies.

cations that planters in the Adantic states were incided to hold their cotton. The temptation to ship cotton from the southwest, however, seems in force, picking being still in favorable progress. The fact that the weather map shows no change toward lower temperatures in the crop region brought considerable cotton on the market which had been accumulated Saturday on frost prognostications. There was little investment buying, however, in view of the fact that prices have sustained already a serious decline. In the afternoon business was dull. NEW YORK, Oct. 22 DRY GOODS— The market has not opened for the week very actively, the warm weather being a hindrance to the enlargement of jobbors' trade. Stocks in first and second hards ternain unchanged, with asents well sold ahead at current values, with some agents trade. Stocks in first and second hands remain unchanged, with asems well sold ahead at cirrent values, with some agents unable to fill orders on account of the inshibity of their mills to accent orther orders except for delivery in the distant future. The cotton market has had little influence upon frading, as agents declare that unless there is a decided decline there will be no possibility of a corresponding weakness in the price of plece goods. Agents look for an improvement after the election, but whether there will be a radical change at that time few are willing to say decisively. In woolens and worsteds the market is unchanged and a sagging tendency, especially for men's wear. The print cloth market has been in much quieter condition than Saturday, with sales of small amount. The Fall River price on sixty-four square regulars remains at 3½c. Reports of offers slightly under this figure are for outside makes and at second hands. No business is in progress in either wide or narrow odds, with prices substantially unchanged.

Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Oct 22—The cotton market remains of the "waiting order." Called this morning were disappointing and the local contingent sold, having an additional incentive in continued large recipits, feeble southern spot markets and an unsatisfactory consumption, while there was an almost entire absence of public speculative support. Following the opening call, which was easy at a decline of 275 points, there was a further loss of $218 points. Selling was arrested by some indications that planters in the Atlantic states were inclined to hold their cotton. The temptation ta ship cotton from the southern sept market sold.

All the arrivals were only two cars of confed tended to make the market slow and draggy.

There were only two cars of confed cattle on the market and they were on the common order. As was the case on Friday, packers were not anxious to buy that kind cattle on the market and they were only two cars of confed cattle on the market and they were on the country of the treat of the draggy.

COLLEGIANS AS MULETEERS

Sigma Chi Men Pilot Carload of Mules Across Continent.

ARE HAVING A ROYAL GOOD TIME

Landlords Refuse Them Admission to Inns and Walters Ask to See Their Money Before Serve ing Them.

A trainload of government mules, 250 head of them, enroute from Porto Rico to Manila, passed through Omaha Saturday and stopped over for water and a few hours' rest. It was an especially favored train of live stock, in a way. Few consignments have crossed the continent in charge of so able an escort, for five of the crew were college graduates and wore upon their blue flannel shirts the Sigma Chi emblem of a Greek letter traternity.

In compliance with a solemn compact enered into before leaving Middletown, N. that they would not shave until they had landed in San Francisco, these frat men were sights to behold, and there is little wonder they had been mistaken for hoboes and denied hospitality at half the inns at which they applied. They smoked good cigars and sometimes used Jockey Club, but It could not disguise the aroma of the stock train. Some of them even bad their shoes shined, but it was a stupid hotel clerk who failed to see through this thin veneering of respectability. The result was a riotous time, full of adventures that were about as exciting as a foot ball game.

At a little town out in Oblo where the rain sidetracked to allow a special to pass they entered a restaurant and called for a dozen raw for five. The waiter sized them up and, after a whispered consultation with the cashier, served the oysters, but served only ten on a plate.

"How's this?" asked Rogers. "It took twelve to make a dozen where I was raised." 'That's all right," retorted the person with the apron, "you'll get two more each when I see the color of your money.

The quintet was made up of Richard Knight, real estate dealer, Washington, D. Thomas C. Rogers, attorney, Middleown, N. Y.; Herbert L. Royce, general superintendent of the street rallway system at Middletown; C. S. Ambler, miller at Newark, N. J., and H. T. Osborne, an insurance agent at Albany, N. Y. The remainder of the party was made up of mule whackers of the deepest dye. All were in the government employ, being classed as "civilian teamsters," for which service they received $2 a day and found. The fraters tried to negotiate with the quartermaster general for a slight advance over this figure, urging as a reason their ability to swear in Greek, but the general told them that for purposes CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET, of mule driving the American system of profanity has no equal.

Last in Indianapolis.

"Speaking of profanity," said Mr. Rodgers, " I had an experience in Indianapolis two days ago that I'll not soon forget. Our train pulled in there about 5 you ever been in Indianapolis? No? to my ears. No shipwrecked sallor ever welcomed a beacon light with more gratitude than I greeted the ornate oaths of Cochran. They gave me a distant goal toward which to move out of that labyrinth of shipping. A moment later I was with my friends. "After Cochran had left off his devotions

I learned from him that a mule, whose hoof he was attempting to release from a feed trough, had kicked him. I suppose the kick must have hurt. Any way, he said it did and he was still rubbing the spot when I handed him a cigar and asked if Royce and Knight, had returned yet."
