After the presidential candidate who, to a considerable extent, stands as the representative of industrial disaffection, has been defeated—as it is said he will be—the situation so far will not be altered at all. The candidate has not made the disaffection; it is the disaffection that has made the candidate. And there is such an inuitation of it and in some of its ingredients so rabid and irredesmable as to have succeeded in temporarily waterloging a great political party that, when well affoat and its compass in good working order exists for benevolent and divine purposes. It is undoubtedly the fact that with regard to this part of the country at any rate that no consideration is just now operating with such tremendous effect as the consideration of the dollar. I want to say parenthetically, though, that I am not speaking now of the technical economic properties of the dollar—I am not a banker or a political economist, and yet without being either and being simply a preacher of righteousness—it is axiomatic to say that a dishonest dollar is a national fraud and that to indulge in a dollar that makes believe that it is a whole dollar when it is only half a dollar, would be to transform our entire people into a great American Ananias. Chairman Babcock Increases His Estimate of Republican Membership to Two Hundred.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 .- Congressman Babcock chairman of the republicum congressional campaign committee, gave to the Associated Press tonight the following statement covering the expectations of the republicans as to the next house:

to the next house:

The congressional campaign has reached a point where the only question is the size of the republican majority. In my statement given to the press on the 27th uit. I said the republican membership would not be less than 18. This number I considered at the time was sure beyond any reasonable doubt. Since then conditions have continued to improve. The Croker-Jones advice to democrats suggesting feaud by the republicans has done us much confi, for no one can point to a single instance where a republican member has been elected by fraud, ofther in the votes cast or in the count after they were cast, will the majority of the democratic representation in the house comes from districts where the republican vote is driven from the polls by the shotgun, or, if in any case it is east, it is counted for the dem cratic randidate and the will of the people defeated. This cry of wolf coming from the party that stands sponear for fraud of the worst tyne will be resented at the pills. And I have every reason to believe that fully 200 republicans will be elected to the Efficy-first congress. J. W. BABCOCK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 .- Chairman Richardson of the democratic national congres sional committee tonight made the following candidate for governor, in speaking of the situation in the state at the republican state headquarters today said:

The reports I have received up to today indicate a very much larger plurality than my former estimate. I wish to say that my former is the most conservative that has been made by any republican of sound political judgment.

Take, for example, Eric county. The republicans of Eric county say they will get 10,000 plurality there. Now, I do not claim anything approaching that, as I make all allowances for enthusiasm. After considering all the reports and taking a conservative estimate of them I feel confident in asserting that my claim of 106,000 plurality for the tleket still holds good.

The Paramount Issue.

The paramount issue to be fought out in the battle of 1900 may be summed up in five small words, Do you want a change?

This is the simple question that every citizen will ask himself before he casts his ballot and the verdict will depend upon the conclusion reached by a majority of the 15,000,000 voters who will record themselves on one side or the other next November.

It cannot be gainsaid that the American people are as prosperous and well-to-do this year as they ever have been. Do the American people want a change?

Do the American farmers, whose products are in steady demand at good prices at home and abroad, want

Do the merchants and tradesmen of the country, who are doing a larger business in the aggregate than ever before, want a change? Do the manufacturers and employers of labor in mill and factory, whose products are marketable now at fair profit, want a change? Do the professional men, whose services command higher remuneration than ever before, want a change? What would any of these classes gain by a change?

This is the poser which neither Mr. Bryan nor any of his champions will be able to answer satisfactorily. They will talk about the Declaration of Independence, about the crime of 1873, about the beauties of free silver coinage, about the disastrous gold standard, about the menace of imperialism and militarism and about the rapacity of the trusts. But all these subjects are overshadowed by the question that dominates all men who are constantly striving to better their condition, but do not willfully and deliberately expose themselves and their families to the risk of a relapse to the distressing. hard times experienced before the advent of McKinley and the ascendancy of republican policies that have restored confidence, raised the national credit and set the wheels of industrial and commercial activity in motion.—(Reprinted.)

jority of at Least 75,000. DES MOINES, Nov. 4 .- No new developments have occurred today to change th political situation in this state. If the full republican vote is cast the state commit tee claims the state will go 75,000 plural ity for McKinley and Roosevelt electors But there is a probability that the full vote will not be cast because of apathy on account of over-confidence. In some of the larger cities and towns there is also danger of the disfranchisement of a considerable number of voters because of the change in the election law, which compels the polls to close at 7 p. m. instead of hold ing open until 8 or 9, as heretofore. Some of the precincts, it is claimed, have so many voters that it will be impossible to get all the ballots cast in the shorter time. The republicans also assert they will return solid delegations to congress. The democrats contend they will materially reduce the republican plurality of four years ago, but give no figures. They also say they will elect at least two congress men and possibly four, namely: in the First, Second, Sixth and Eighth districts.

CALIFORNIA MAY BE CLOSE, Conservatives Estimate Majority in

No Case Will Be Over 5,000. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 -The campaign in California closed tonight. Both the republicans and democrats seem confident of victory. Colonel Stone, chairman of the republican state central committee, made the following statement to an Associated Press reporter today:

"We have had canvassers throughout the state and their reports during the last few
