GRAND JURY ENDS ITS WORK

Shortest Session in Many Years of the Inquisitorial Body.

THOMAS R. SENTER IS AGAIN PRESENTED

Alleged Swindler from Missouri Held Under His True Name to Answer to the Charge of Defrauding Lounge & Lounge.

The district court grand jury, which was impaneled last Wednesday afternoon, completed its deliberations yesterday morning and adjourned for the term. The business before the grand jury was the smallest for many terms and this accounted for the early adjournment. Of the indictments returned five only were made public, the defendants named in the others not being in custody yet. In only one case did the grand jury ignore the charge and return a "no bill," that of E. E. Dugan, a 16-year-old lad charged with placing a brick on the motor company's Manawa tracks and causing the derailment of a car. Before adjourning the members of the grand jury visited the county and city jails. The former they reported as being in good condition, but they did not think as well of the city jail.

An indictment was returned against Thomas R. Senter, the Memphis (Mo.) man charged with, under the name of James L. Palmer, uttering a forged instrument in this city October 14, 1898, by means of which he obtained a loan of $400 from Lounge & Lounge.

Two indictments were returned against Mike Smith, the young man who broke into the store of the Swanston Music company on the evening of October 8 last and stole a number of musical instruments, was indicted.

Two indictments were returned against Mike Smith, the young man who skipped his bail and was brought back on requisition papers from Plattsmouth. One indictment is on the charge of stealing coal from the yards of R. H. Williams on Fourteenth avenue on the night of September 7 last. The other indictment is on the charge of stealing two rings valued at $85 and $25 respectively, the property of Mrs. B. A. Landreger. The theft is alleged to have been committed September 22, while he was out on bail on the coal stealing charge.

In conjunction with Mike Smith an indictment was returned against Archie Walker, charged with complicity in the theft of Mrs. Landreger's rings. The rings were recovered from an Omaha pawnbroker, where, it is alleged, they were pawned by Smith.

Divorces were granted yesterday by Judge Green to J. F. Spining from Jennie E. Spining and Catherine Heaston from Jefferson Heaston. In the latter case Mrs. Heaston was married in 1866 and her husband deserted her ten years later. Mrs. Heaston was married last evening to H. J. Landon of this city.

The divorce suit of Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie is still occupying the attention of Judge Green. The hearing will be resumed Monday morning.

REPUBLICANS CARRY OUT ALL BUT SPEECH-MAKING OF THEIR PROGRAM.

Last night's storm interfered with the republican ratification celebration of last Tuesday's victory at the polls and kept many at home who otherwise would have taken part in the parade. The program had to be shortened and there was no speechmaking, as originally planned, at the corner of Fourth street and Broadway. There were several hundred enthusiastic republicans in line in the parade and the line of march as originally laid out was followed. Brooks Reed, chairman of the democratic county central committee, was on hand and carried out his part of the wagger with Chairman Wright. He rode at the head of the procession beside Chairman Wright in a wagon, holding a transparency on which was inscribed: "I am here, but not because I wanted to be Brooks Reed."

All about the line of march Roman candles and rockets were discharged by the thousands and the noise made by the shotgun brigade was simply deafening. Congressman Dave Mercer of Omaha and Congressman Smith of this city, and other prominent republicans rode in carriages, there being fifteen in line. The members of the colored McKinley Marching club acted as an escort to the guests of honor. The parade was witnessed by thousands, the streets being crowded all along the line of march.

Death of Dr. Patton.
Dr. W. L. Patton, a well known resident of this city for thirty-six years, died yesterday morning at the Woman's Christian association hospital, after an illness of only twelve hours' duration. He was removed to the hospital Friday evening, seemingly suffering from some bowel trouble. It is supposed that this, added to the infirmities of old age, produced heart failure. His death was sudden and somewhat unexpected by the attending physicians.
Dr. Patton was 75 years of age and was born in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He leaves four sons and three daughters.

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Burns soft coal clean as hard coal in a base burner.

What Our Customers Say.
Had always used a hard coal base burner till last winter, when I got a No. 26 Cole's Hot Blast. It heated three rooms, fire never went out, and I can't see but what we got just as even, steady heat and just as great cleanliness as we ever had with hard coal. F. HERRING, C. R. 1 & P.
