

JEWELL SEES A GREAT LIGHT

Expert Accountant Finally Figures Out What Everybody Else Knew.

ADMITS THAT POYNTER HAS BEEN BEATEN

Seven Days of Unsuccessful Juggling with the Returns Ends in Disappointment for the Faithful Private Secretary.

LINCOLN, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Private Secretary Jewell, after figuring and calculating for seven days, today admitted that the returns from the election last week indicated that Charles A. Dietrich was elected governor. Today was the first time he conceded his chief's defeat. Since the day after election he had insisted that an official canvass would be necessary to definitely determine the result of the election.

"Fifty counties have sent reports of their vote to the secretary of state," he said. "From the duplicates enclosed by the county clerk, we figure that Poynter has a plurality of 1,294, with forty counties yet to hear from. Thirty-five of those reported unofficially to the state committee and their figures show a plurality of 1,073 for Dietrich, a net plurality of 421 for Poynter. The five remaining counties all save majorities for the republican candidate two years ago. They include Douglas, and admitting that the figures are correct, Dietrich is elected by 261 votes over Poynter."

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The irony of fate has made it necessary for Governor Poynter to forget his disappointment long enough to write a Thanksgiving proclamation. This year the document is different from many respects from the proclamation issued by Governor Poynter in 1899, a few days prior to election, in which he cautioned the people against "the lust for power," and petitioned them not to become proud and forget the duties of citizenship. No reference is made to any political question in the proclamation issued this year. It follows:

"For the blessing of health we should thank the Great Giver of all good. Neither epidemic nor pestilence has visited our state."

For fruitful season and bountiful harvest we thank the Great Giver of all good. The thanks of a grateful people should be rendered to Him who rules the elements, sending the sun and the rain, the energy and industry of the people, the abundance of the harvest, the assistance of the stars in the sky, as well as to those made desolate by storm and flood in our own country. For the blessings of such thanksgiving, Christian civilization let us thank God."

By the authority vested in me as governor of the State of Nebraska, I do hereby proclaim and declare Thanksgiving, November 29, as a day of public thanksgiving. In according names being suggested: Archer, Burnside, Cameron, Douglas, Kearney, Paragon, Grant, Hamilton, Jewell, Krieger, Logan, Meade, Newman, Porter, Quincy, Russell, Sheridan, Thayer, Upton, Vine, Winslow, Yates and Zellner. No provision is made for changing the name of the street, the principal business thoroughfare. Colonel Alexander Hoagland, widely known as "the father of the newspapers," has asked the city council to pass two ordinances that are designed to correct wayward and incorrigible youths. One of these makes it the duty of the chief of police to cause the arrest of all vagrant or tramp boys and girls found within his jurisdiction and to incarcerate them pending correspondence with their relatives. It provides that wherever possible the officer making the arrest shall take the prisoner to his home, where his parents are held responsible for his correction. The other proposed law is entitled "An act to prevent the incarceration of youths, boys and girls, in station houses, jails, workhouses, etc., with old, hardened criminals, designating the officers to enforce the same, defining the penalties and declaring an emergency. This ordinance would place a fine of $5 on any officer found guilty of arresting and incarcerating with adults any boy or girl under 18 years of age. Colonel Hoagland addressed the council last night in support of these two measures and urged that they be adopted without delay. He said similar laws had been adopted in many cities.

For a City Lighting Plant.

For about the tenth time in less than three months the council has passed a resolution asking for an estimate on the cost of a city electric lighting plant. Many of the councilmen contended that the price asked for the street arc lights was exorbitant and a proposition has been submitted providing for the construction of a city plant in connection with one of the pumping stations. A committee recently appointed to prepare an estimate on the cost of a new plant decided that the scheme proposed was impracticable.

At the suggestion of Mayor Vaughan of Fremont the jurors of four cities below the first class limit of the Lindquist hotel to consider legislation proposed to correct evils in the laws governing their municipalities. The death of Mayor Vaughan's father prevented him from attending the meeting, but Fremont was represented by City Attorney Stinson. The others were:

FOR BURNING MITCHELL MAIL

Editor McBride Asks that Forty Citizens Pay Him $25,000 Damages.

OUTCOME OF A SENSATIONAL EPISODE

Business Men Object to the Paper's Course and Destroy the Plant During the Absence of the Owner.

MITCHELL, S. D., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—One of the most interesting cases that has been on the court calendar of this county for a long time will be tried at the term of circuit court for Davison county, which will begin on Monday. The case is that of Robert H. McBride against forty citizens of Mitchell, who were associated in the destruction of his newspaper, the Mitchell Mail, and his entire printing outfit.

On the morning of February 24, 1898, about fifty of the Mitchell citizens marched to the office of the Mail to carry out the agreement with the editor on the Saturday night before to buy the material and paper. McBride did not meet the committee when it called. The committee appointed one of the number to act as agent for McBride, the office was involved at a little over $200 and the amount was turned over to the agent to pay McBride. The work of demolition commenced and in a very short time the entire office material was piled in a pile in the rear of the building. Several gallons of kerosene were poured over the heap and a match started the blaze which soon consumed all there was of the Mitchell Mail. The committee was very deliberate in its actions. No marks were worn and the whole affair took place in broad daylight, without a restraining hand from anybody.

Origin of the Trouble.

The facts leading up to the destruction of the Mail were several years standing. McBride had a strong hatred for the late John D. Lawler, alleging that he came between McBride and his wife and caused their separation. After the separation McBride commenced to abuse the supposed separator of his home through his paper. He not only attacked the personal character of Mr. Lawler in the paper, but made many severe reflections on the First National bank, of which Mr. Lawler was president, and attacked several enterprises in the city. Interested citizens tried in every possible legal way to stop the publication of the paper, but to no avail. Matters continued in this way until about a week before the destruction of the paper took place.

McBride asks for damages amounting to about $25,000 for the burning of his outfit. He has continued to live in Mitchell for the purpose of bringing his case into court. An action was commenced shortly after the incident occurred, but it was postponed from time to time as various points that came up in the case were argued before the circuit or supreme court, and which prevented the case from coming to trial. Notice was given a few weeks ago that the action could be ready for a hearing at the November term. On account of the wide knowledge of the case in the county the court issued an order for an unusually large panel of jurors to be drawn for the term. Fifty jurors were drawn in the hope that a jury could be obtained from that number to try the case. The case was first started in Aurora county by the plaintiff on the ground that he could not secure a fair jury in this county, but as much time has elapsed since then it is likely that a jury can be obtained.

Mr. McBride has retained as his attorneys H. F. Pollock of Plankinton and Judge Atkins of Sioux Falls. The defendants have secured the services of A. E. Hitchcock of this city and A. B. Kittredge of Sioux Falls. E. H. Winsor and P. M. Hammer of this city are also associated in the case. The defendants in the case are made up of the leading business men of Mitchell.

Call for Outstanding Warrants.

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The district court at Pierre is preparing to make a call for all outstanding warrants. The call will be made about the 20th of this month.

WILL IT BECOME POPULAR?

How Do You Like This New Food?

Vegetarians, anti-coffee drinkers and food reformers of every persuasion take a back seat for a new food has been discovered. A society has recently been formed, the members of which pledge themselves to eat no food whatever that has been cooked. They claim that uncooked food is the only rational, healthful diet. That our remote ancestors ate no cooked food, and therefore if we do the same, vigor and health will be our reward.

Raw meat, raw potatoes, raw wheat, raw eggs, raw everything, is the enticing food of the food reformers. They are enthusiastic about the food, and they are not alone. They are establishing restaurants in the larger cities where this delightful menu may be served daily.

Modern cooking is often a dyspepsia producer, because we fry so many foods which should be baked, steamed, broiled or boiled; cooked food is indigestible because each particle of food is encased in hot grease which the digestive juices of the stomach can not easily penetrate; but properly cooked food is more easily digested than the same food uncooked, and we predict for the new food a very limited following.

The real cause of indigestion is the lack of hydrochloric acid and pepsine in the stomach so that no matter how well cooked the food, it can not be well digested unless the gastric juice is abundant and contains the necessary amount of pepsine to dissolve the food.

Therefore the most sensible cure for poor digestion is to take after each meal some safe and reliable digestive like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which supply pepsine to digest the meat, eggs and dainties to digest the bread, potatoes and similar starchy foods.

Laxative medicines never cure indigestion because they have no digestive effect whatever upon the food; on the other hand the food is undigested and therefore will be of no use; laxatives; good digestion does away with constipation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain pure aseptic pepsin (government test) dextrine and the digestive elements which weak stomachs lack and they cure indigestion by assisting the overworked, rundown stomach in its hard work, until it is restored to its normal condition, when the tablets are no longer needed, but there are thousands of robust men and women who never eat a meal without taking one or two of Stuart's Tablets, because by so doing they can eat what they please and when they please and be free from any bad after effects.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Mistake in Blowing Whistle Brings About a Dispute that May End in a Strike by Eight Hundred Men.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—There is a possibility of a strike among Union Pacific shopmen at this place. Several secret meetings have been held by the machinists and a strike may be ordered at any moment.

The men say four of their number were discharged yesterday without just cause. It seems that the shop engineer neglected to blow the whistle until six minutes after 12 yesterday at noon and during the meal hour he set the clock ahead and blew the whistle again at 1 o'clock. Four machinists are alleged to have refused to return to work until six minutes after 1, and upon being reported to headquarters were discharged. The machinists' union held a meeting and demanded the reinstatement of the discharged employees. This, it is said, was refused and the men held another meeting today to discuss plans for future action. It is understood the younger men are strongly in favor of striking, while the older ones urge a settlement of the difficulty by arbitration. There are over 800 men employed in the shops here.

SOUTH DAKOTA IRRIGATION

Government Engineer Says Sioux River's Waters Can Be Stored in Lakes Pointsett and Kampeska.

SIoux CITY, Ia., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—As one result of the last session of congress a survey was ordered made by the United States Engineering department to determine whether or not it would be feasible as claimed, to build reservoirs at Lakes Pointsett and Kampeska, in South Dakota, near the headwaters of the Sioux river, in which the surplus water of the spring rains could be stored and let into the stream during the dry seasons to keep the flow uniform. Colonel H. M. Chittenden of this city, government engineer in charge of the improvement of the upper Missouri river and the improvement of Yellowstone park, has just returned from an inspection of the country near the lakes and the engineering problems which are involved and he asserts that the plan is so very feasible that he has no doubt about its being adopted and the reservoirs built.

"The expense of the necessary dams," he said, "would be insignificant, nor would there be damages to pay for the overflow of private lands which constitute the greater part of the expenses of most of the channels from the lakes to the Sioux river. At Lake Pointsett it would be necessary to dredge a channel about four miles long over level land. Through this the waters of the Sioux during high water would be let and the freshets deflected. These would fill the beds of the old lakes. Pointsett has an area of about twenty-three square miles, Kampeska a third as large. The dams could be built to admit the river water at one season and to let it out again at another. It is an extraordinary combination of circumstances should be so favorable."

The purpose of the reservoirs would be to hold water for the cattle, which graze in the neighborhood of the lakes.
