GATES SECURES RECEIVER

Carries His Point In Guardian Trust Company Litigation.

JUDGE SCORES DEFENDANT'S METHODS

Save Proof Shows that Officers and Directors Have Adopted Practices of Speculative Character that Failed in Several Instances.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30 .- Judge Amos Thayer of St. Louis, in the United States district court, has appointed F. M. Black of Kansas City receiver of the Guardian Trust company, of which A. E. Stillwell is president. The appointment was made in Judge Thayer's decision in the suit brought proofs show that the defendant company recently by John W. Gates of Chicago and other stockholders in the company. Mr. Black was formerly judge of the Missouri supreme court.

The petition for a receivership was filed in Kansas City on October 23 last on the day before the stockbolders were to have held a meeting to elect a new board of directors. The Gates petition also asked for an injunction to prevent the holding of the meeting. Judge John F. Phillips granted the injunction and set a later date for the hearing on the receivership item.

Gates et al contended that Stilwell took advantage of them in the character of securities placed in a reorganization of the company. The bonds of the old Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railroad (now the Kansas City Southern, in which Gates is interested) figured in the bill and the contention was made that the stockholders were in danger of losing $1,000,000 if Stilwell were allowed to carry out his plans. In an interview on October 23 President Stilwell raid: "Mr. Gates tried to rule the trust company, and, failing, he is now endeavoring to ruin it. The suit is a personal attack on me and an effort to pre vent the Orient railway from being built." When apprised of the appointment of a receiver today Mr. Stilwell declared that he had expected the action and was already preparing to form a new company, which would finance the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway, which he is promoting.

In his opinion Judge Thayer said: "The proof shows with reasonable certainty that the officers and directors of the defendant company has adopted a practice of organizing other corporations to engage in various enterprises of a highly speculative character, that funds of the company to a large extent have been invested in the stock and lands of such oncerns, which had at the time no market value: that money in considerable sums had been loaned to the companies, sometimes upon their stock as collateral and on other ccasions without any security; that some of these enterprises have proved absolute fallures and that the money invested therein had been wholly lost, while other of such enterprises are in a precarious condition and the outcome thereof is doubtful and uncertain.

"Moreover, in some cases, if not in all, there appears to have been such identity in personnel of the governing bodies of these corporations and the governing body of the trust company that it is impossible to believe that the interests of either were fairly considered as properly guarded in any of the transactions and dealings which occurred between them. "In addition to the acts aforesaid the

has made large investments in real property apparently without a shadow of au thority under its charter. Such unauthorized investments having resulted in the locking up of the company's available means and impairing its usefulness.

"Furthermore, the court entertains no doubt that the defendant company has paid one and probably several dividends out of its general fund that were not earned, such payments being made for the purpose of allaying suspicion as to the condition of the company and creating a false impression that it was in a prosperous condition." The court is of the opinion that the accreating trust companies does not authorize the acquisition of securities by such companies, either as an investment or as collateral for loans, unless they have at ascertainable market value and may be properly termed "investment securities. In accordance with these views the cour finds that it is unsafe for the company to continue the further transaction of its customary business until it has realized upon some of its assets and liquidated its present indebtedness.

Stilwell Not Surprised. A. E. Stilwell, president of the Guardian

Trust company, when told of the appointment of a receiver, said: "I am not surprised at the order of the court. The fate of the Guardian Trust company depends upon the wishes of its stockholders. If they wish to continue the company I will stay with them, as it will be easy to take it out of the receiver's hands, because it is solvent and soon can pay its debts. A meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Guardian Trust company will be held seen and if they decide to put the company in shape it will be done. Otherwise, I will organize and launch the United States and Mexican Trust ompany. I have all the necessary capital pledged to organize a new trust company. What effect will the receivership have on the affairs of the trust company?"

'It will prevent the company from engaging in active business. When the linilities are settled the receiver will be dis-The liabilities of the company are about $300,000 and its assets are more than $3,000,000. There is no danger of the stockholders or creditors losing anything." "What effect will the receivership have on the affairs of the Kansas, Mexican &

LEAGUE Transcontinental Passenger Association Has New Element with Which to Figure.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 .- After wrestling all day today with the proposition to grant rate of $50 for the round trip from Chicago to San Francisco on the occasion of the Epworth league convention the next summer members of the Transcontinental Pas senger association finally referred the matter to a committee consisting of J. Francis of the Burlington, J. Sebastian of the Rock Island and E. L. Lomax of the Union Pacific. The committee will report tomor-

While there is no doubt that a round trip rate from Chicago will be made to all persons going to San Francisco and returning here by the same route, passenger officials are not able to agree as to the rates to be made for persons wishing to go to the Pacific coast by one route and return via another. The roads which run to the north Pacific coast points are not members of the Transcontinental Passenger association, but they were represented at today's meeting and demanded the privilege of making a round trip rate of $50 between Chicago and Portland and Seattle, with the further privilege of quoting an arbitrary rate of $13.50 via the Shasta Route to San Prancisco. It is likely that the demands of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific will be granted by the association, because they have intimated that they will make the rates named if other roads make a rate of $50 from Chicago to San Francisco and return on account of the convention of the Epworth league.

BOARD TO BIND ITS BOOKS

Library Officials Will Install Money Saving Machinery in Basement at Modest Expense.

At its meeting last night the public II brary board decided to install a bindery in the basement of the library building. The board has been paying on an average of $1,500 a year for book binding to the various binderies of the city. It has been unable to have its work attended to premptly, even when distributing the books among three or four different binderies, and has occasionally been obliged to send them out of the city. Estimates submitted showed that with the investment of $500 in machinery and supplies the binding and regaining of the library could be attended to by its own employes without increased expense and with no delays such as are now encountered.

Another important matter acted upon at the meeting consisted in the adoption of favorable report on the establishment of a branch library and reading room to be located at Sixteenth and Vinton streets and kept open daily for the benefit of the neighboring citizens. The report of the committee placed the expense at $1,200 a year, including the installation of books

The board listened to the usual report of its librarian and audited bills aggregating $1,742. The circulation was shown to have increased 121 per day over last year The board accepted a report of the judiclary committee denying the request of the Omaha Medical society for the exclusive use of a portion of the basement for a reading room and meeting place.
