GENERAL WHEATON AND FAMILY RETURN

Jonathan Prentiss Dolliver Eases His Conscience and Squares the Government Books by Signing Over Back Salary.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.-(Special Telegram.) - Senator Pettigrew was considerably worked up today over the report that his son had been roughly handled by an usher in a Kansas City theater. Mr. Pettigrew stated that his son had gone west Kansas City enroute. "I received a telegram this morning," said Senator Pettigrew, from a newspaper in Kansas City informing me of the occurrence and as circumspectly as I knew how told the story to the boy's mother. Of course, I don't know anything about the merits of the case, but if the boy was smoking cigarettes and refused to stop using them when requested I guess he got the South Dakotan, "that his mother will will break her heart.

Wheaton Family at Home.

General Frank Wheaton and Mrs. Wheaton, with their daughter, Octavia, have just returned from a three-years' stay abroad and have taken a house on Columbia road, this city, where they will be at home Saturday afternoons during the season to their friends. When General and Mrs. Wheaton were at Fort Omaha society had ample opportunity to plume itself and enjoy associations with buttons and shoulderstraps and the old fort was never so gay as during the time General Wheaton commanded the Second infantry. Since his retirement as major general in May of 1897 he has been making an extended tour in Europe, having been presented in London, Dresden and Rome. Miss Miller, also well remembered in Omaha, a sister of Mrs. Wheaton, will in the future make her home with the family.

Senator Dolliver has been greatly worried over the difference of rules between the house and senate disbursing offices and in order to permit his successor to the house, James P. Conner. to draw his salary he refused to go up against the auditor for State and other departments and settled the amount he drew as congressman by a deposit to the credit of the fund from which his salary was drawn. Then to wind up his association with the house in a monetary way he gave his personal check to the clerk of the house for the amount he had drawn for clerk hire from August 23 to November 30, which closed the

PROBABLE JANUARY WEATHER Chief Moore Forecasts in a General

Way Probable Conditions for Coming Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.- The following statements are based on average weather conditions for January, as determined by long series of observations. As the weather of any given January does not conform strictly to the average conditions the statements cannot be considered forecasts: January is a month of severe storms in the middle latitudes of the North Atlantic ocean. Along the transatlantic steamship with a surveying party and had stopped in tracks these storms set in with southeast gales, which shift to west and northwest, with freezing temperature. Westwardbound vessels experience sudden shifts of wind from the southeast and storms of comparatively short duration and have prevailing strong head (westerly) winds. Storms encountered by eastward-bound yessels are fewer in number and of longer duration. The vessels and the storm travel what was his due. My fear is," continued in the same direction. Storms seldom appear in the tropical regions of the Atlantic learn the truth about the difficulty and it and Pacific oceans in January. On the north coast of western Cuba, however, and in the gulf of Mexico high and cold north winds are not uncommon during the winter months.

In the lake region and the Atlantic coast districts of the United States the severest January storms come from the middle west and southwest, with northeast, shifting to northwest, gales and snow to the north and rain or light snow to the south of the paths of the storms. In the Pacific coast states the rainy season is at its height and strong gales occur from the central California coast to Alaska. In the plateau and Rocky Mountain districts and on the great plains the prevailing weather is fine and cold. This entire region is, however, subject to occasional cold waves of great severity which, with snow and high winds, sweep southward to New Mexico and Texas and sometimes to the Rio Grande and northern Mexico, causing great losses of stock on the great ranges.

Frost is likely to occur in any part of the United States in January and about once in five years severe freezes occur in the guif coast districts and in central and

United States Renews Efforts to Get West India Territory.

TOP PRICE SAID TO BE 12,000,000 KRONER

Opposition in Deumark to the Sale Believed to Have Been Overcome to a Large Extent and That the Deal Will Be Consummated.

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 29 - The United States minister, Mr. Swenson, has informed the Danish government that the United States offers 12,000,000 kroner for the Danish Antilles and will not give more.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.-The negotiations between the government of the United States and the government of Denmark has been in progress, though intermittently, for the last two years. In the earlier stages something was attempted here through the resident minister of Denmark, Constantin Bruen, and one Captain Christmas Dirkbut while these efforts laid the foundation for what followed in Europe, hey could not be regarded as successful, and after mature consideration, the State department decided that Mr. Swenson, the best person to deal with the case in the interest of this country. Therefore he was given full instructions and some measure of authority. He had nearly succeeded in his object last spring, when, through an internal change in Denmark, the minister of foreign affairs was displaced. The new minister was opposed to the transfer of wave of patriotic feeling swept over the country before which the government was obliged to yield and the negotiations were suspended for the time. Now a change has taken place in the public mind of Denmark and the present minister of foreign affairs has, it is believed, rejuctantly come to the conclusion that, for financial reasons, i s scarcely possible to hold on to the islands. Their export trade, normally done in large part with the United States, has been greatly depressed and though the commerce might yield sufficient taxation with unrestrained intercourse with the United States to make the islands self-sustaining, at present they are a drag on Denmark and the Danish government is obliged to make good a considerable deficit on their ac-

The sum named in the Copenhagen dis patch as offered by Minister Swenson, 12.-000,000 kroner, as the price to be paid for the islands, is roughly equivalent to about $3,240,000. It is impossible to learn whether this is the maximum price to be offered. Purely business reasons would account for the official silence on this point. It is gathered that Mr. Swenson was allowed considerable latitude in dealing with the matter, but it is intimated that he has about reached the end of his abilities on this point.

Of course an acceptance of this proposi tion by the Danish government would not complete the transaction. The transfer can be accomplished only under a form of treaty. which must be accepted by the senate of the United States, and in addition, owing to the necessity of providing the money to be paid for the islands, the house or representatives must have its say, being called upon to make the necessary appropriation. The treaty would undoubtedly consummuch time in its consideration, basing the belief on the course assumed by the senate up to this point in passing upon treaties, and as scarcely more than two months remain with the present session of congress, speedy action would be required on the part of the negotiators at Copenhagen in order hance for action upon the treaty before this adjourn-

After the ceremony a large number of guests pressed forward to present their congratulations to the happy bride and groom and this pleasant office over they were ushered into the dining room, where spread was laid such as only Mr. Boyle knows how to provide. The catering was done by Balduff of Omaha and included among other delicacies terrapin from Maryland, salad in cases, fruits, creams, bonbons and a wonderfully composed bride's cake. The punch bowl was filled again and again with a concoction for which Mr. Boyle has long been famous and this same punch bowl has also a history, for it was brought from China years ago by Commodore Boyle, long before any one heard of the open door. ## DEATH RECORD.

Gustave Pecaut. SIOUX CITY, la., Dec. 29 .- (Special Telegram.)-The life of a hardy French voyageur, Gustave Pecaut, who left St. Louis with a company of 100 trappers and explorers in 1839 and who halted later at the site of Sioux City and became one of its first settlers, came to an end tonight. Pecaut had been failing gradually for years. His early life is part of the history of the development of the great northwest territory. On the Antelope, one of the first steamers to ply up the Missouri river. Pecaut and his men went to the little Chevenne, thence further in a rude barge to headquarters. They explored and hunted and trapped in the virgin forests among the Indians of the far northwest until some three years later, when they drifted back down stream. Some few stopped at Stoux City, among them Theophile Brugier and Gustave Pecaut, and theirs were the first three homes erected on the present site of the city. As a landlord of an inn Pecaut has since then accumulated a snug property, which he left comes into the world practically without pain to the mother. Taken during the period of gestation, "Favorite Prescription" puts the mother into a condition of physical comfort which naturally results in mental quiet and confidence. It cures nervousness and nausea. It encourages a healthy appetite, and induces refreshing slumber. The hour of maternity comes on without any dread or shrinking, and the abundant strength and vitality of the mother ensures the birth of a healthy, happy child.

As a tonic for nursing mothers, "Favorite Prescription" cannot be excelled. It promotes the nutritive secretions, and so furnishes abundant nourishment for the thriving infant. It has a great advantage over many so-called "nourishing" fluids which are in effect only stimulants and impart no real strength to the mother. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a true temperance medicine. When it is remembered that many a child has received the first impulse to alcoholism at the mother's breast, it should be a matter of especial maternal care to avoid all alcoholic beverages and so-called "tonics" which are only stimulants.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is essentially a woman's medicine It regulates the periods, stops unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so for the sake of a little more profit. His profit is your loss in this case. Therefore, insist upon "Favorite Prescription," the medicine you can rely upon because it has cured so many other women.

Women suffering from disease in aggravated form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
