ENORMOUS ISSUE OF BONDS
Erie Railroad borrows $35,000,000 with which to pay for coal Property Purchased.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—It was announced today that the Central Trust company will finance the $35,000,000 4 per cent bonds of the Erie Railroad company, which will be issued for the purchase of the Pennsylvania Coal company. The property of the Erie Railroad will be back of this mortgage, which will be further secured, it is reported, by a large amount of the stock of the Erie Railroad, Susquehanna & Western Railroad company.
The fact that J. P. Morgan & Co., who arranged the purchase of the Pennsylvania Coal company by the Erie railroad, have been arranging with their banks for a loan of $25,000,000 has been known for several days and the presumption was that this cash was to be used in the liquidation of the indebtedness of the Erie to the Pennsylvania Coal company's stockholders. The issue of the bonds will in turn pay these loans and leave something over for the Erie to use as treasury for use by the Erie in improving its coal properties.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO MEET

Important Business to Come Up at its Annual Session.
RELIEF OF SUPREME COURT NECESSARY

Bills to Expedite Work of the Judges Will be Introduced in the Hope of Becoming Law This Winter.

The Nebraska State Bar association will hold its next regular meeting at Lincoln Wednesday afternoon and evening, beginning at 2 o'clock. The afternoon session will be devoted to a discussion of proposed bills for the relief of the state courts and legislative committee of the association to the next legislature.

The most important of these bills is one relating to the relief of the supreme court. The proposed bill has been prepared by W. D. McHugh, chairman of the committee, after consultation with many members of the bar, and its terms embrace the most acceptable compromise which could be reached. Briefly, the supreme court will be authorized to appoint nine standing referees whose duties shall be determined by the rule of the court. It is the intention of the authors of the bill that referees shall be given power to hear all cases referred to them by the supreme court and determine the facts and conclusions of law. This system in vogue nine cases can be heard and decided where but one can be heard before the court at present. At the same time the system of referees obviates the objection urged by many lawyers against the commissioner system, as every case is passed upon, at least formally, by the supreme court itself.

Another bill to be considered is one reducing the time in which appeals can be taken to the supreme court from the district court. At present appeals can be taken within six months after the close of the term at which the judgment is rendered and appeals on writs of error may be taken at any time within a year after the close of the judgment term. It is proposed by the association that the time in which the appeal may be perfected be made the same in each case and not more than six months allowed.

The question of foreclosure of mortgages will receive attention, as the association desires to have a substantial bond required in cases where appeals in foreclosures are made. At present, it is stated, the system of "waste bonds" is in force and any one can appeal and not be responsible for the value of rents while they hold possession of the property pending a hearing of the appeal.

At the evening session a banquet will be spread, the guests of the association being General Manderson and Charles J. Greene of Omaha, Henry D. Estabrook of Chicago and John N. Baldwin of Council Bluffs. The association desires to have a full representation of the Omaha bar at the meeting and banquet regardless of membership in the association and requests all persons not members of the organization who desire to attend to send their names to Judge Wallace, president of the association, or to R. W. Brockmeyer, secretary, at the executive committee. The price of the banquet has been fixed at $1.
