

Praised by a Preacher

From the Free Headlight, Grand Junction, Iowa.

No higher praise can be given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People than the many voluntary testimonials from ministers of the gospel which have come from all parts of the country and which have more than supported all the claims made for this excellent medicine.

The most recent endorsement is that coming from Rev. Knott Hill, pastor of the M. E. Church of Grand Junction, Iowa, who says: "I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy having been used in my family with highly gratifying results. For three or four years I was a sufferer from general debility. I seemed to be lacking in vitality, was tired out of my feet, and my head gave me no rest or refreshment. I was troubled with headache much of the time and although I was not confined to my bed, my illness incapacitated me for energetic work in my pastorate."

"A sister-in-law living in Nebraska who had suffered very much and who has used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, recommended them to me and I decided to try them. I had taken but two or three doses of the pills when I found that they were helping me and further use of the remedy brought such relief that I am glad to offer this public recommendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the interest of suffering humanity."

NEBRASKA WOMAN'S BOOK OF APHORISMS

Chicago School Writes of American Expansion—Investigating the Conditions and Means of Development of the Mind.

Prof. Edwin Earle Sparks, assistant professor of American history in the University of Chicago, has written "The Expansion of the American People: Social and Territorial." The author has been particularly happy in his selection of materials to show the growth of the American people. The manner of living, the methods of travel, the mode of doing business—all these material manifestations of the growth of the nation are graphically described and abundantly illustrated by means of reproductions of old wood cuts and photographs of every description. The book is invaluable to every student of the nation through all the changes in the life of the people down to the present day. Scott, Foresman & Co. Price $2.

"Helps for the Quiet Hour" is the title of a volume of prayers, collects and verses collated from many sources with a preface by the Rev. Jesse Bowman Young. The prayers are, as a rule, short, only half a page in length. The book is bound in flexible leather covers and is altogether a most admirable specimen of the bookmakers' art. Eaton & Mains, New York. Price $1.

Dr. David F. Lincoln, author of "School and Industrial Hygiene," "Hygienic Physiology," etc., has brought out a new book, entitled "Sanity of Mind: A Study of Its Conditions and of Means to Its Development and Preservation." The author illustrates his work into six chapters, entitled: "The Outlook," "The Nature of Mental Derangement," "Degeneracy," "Education," "Self-Education," and "Our Social and Civic Duties." The author goes into the subject deeply, but at the same time has the happy faculty of expressing himself clearly in a few words, so that the whole subject is comprised within 170 pages. It is a book that will prove interesting to students, scientists and medical men in general. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

"Old Wine in New Bottles" is the title of a very neat little volume of fifty odd pages. The author, Blanche Catherine Carr, is a resident of Pleasanton, Neb., and her work should receive careful attention at the hands of all Nebraskans. It is a book of aphorisms. The wine represents the thoughts or maxims which are, as a matter of course, very old, but the phrasing which represents the bottles is the author's own. The little volume is divided into three parts, "Charterhouse," "Cham-

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Omaha Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Omaha citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Omaha by Doan's Kidney Pills. Mrs. David Gorham of 401 North 11th says: "You are welcome to my name as an endorser of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had kidney complaint for about three years and tried doctors and medicines, but nothing seemed to do me much good. Backache, headache, and dizziness bothered me constantly. When I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Kuhn & Co.'s drug store, I was so weak I could not do anything. Their use brought me relief in a short time. Any of my neighbors can vouch for the great good Doan's Kidney Pills did me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

HIKE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Coroner's Jury Hears Details of Henry Whetstone's Death.

PRISONER IS NOW IN THE OMAHA JAIL

Whetstone is Said to Have Become Angry Because Hike Refused to Include Him in Invitation to Drink.

Wallace Hike, alleged murderer of Henry Whetstone, who recently died in the South Omaha hospital from skull fracture, was brought to this city from Sarpy county last night and lodged in the county jail. The inquest was held at Bellevue yesterday and the coroner's jury held Hike responsible for Whetstone's death. The assault was committed Saturday night just over the line in Sarpy county, but it is listed as a South Omaha crime because the trouble started there.

The first witness was Dr. W. C. Buel of South Omaha. He said he dressed the wounds of the deceased on Saturday night. By going into details the witness described minutely the wounds and asserted that the skull of Whetstone had been fractured by some blunt instrument. Two pieces of the skull removed by the witness were introduced in evidence and identified.

Dr. W. L. Curtis of South Omaha testified that he was one of the physicians who performed an autopsy on the deceased and he told the jury what the injuries were. Henry Hindman was the first witness to tell of the affair. He said that the men left South Omaha in his wagon about 9 o'clock for Bellevue. At the Half Way house a stop was made and some brandy was purchased. Another stop was made at the Palm Springs saloon, where possibly an hour was spent in drinking and talking. Hike offered to set up the drinks to a portion of the party, but not to the Whetstones. This brought forth a war of words, which was stopped by other members of the party.

Continuing the witness said that when near the Clifton house a call was made for the wagon to stop and Hike pulled off his coat and dared Henry Whetstone to climb down and fight. Whetstone accepted the challenge and Hike brought up the old affair at the saloon which was again recently settled. Witness said that all of those on the wagon with the exception of Patrick, Hindman and Beckstead left the wagon to participate in the melee.

On close examination by Mr. Patrick the witness said that Charles Whetstone and Hike each accused the other of striking the blow which made Henry Whetstone unconscious. The woodrack stick was offered in evidence and the witness said that the exhibit was similar to a stick he had in his wagon.

John Lewis, one of the party, said that Hike jumped off the wagon just below Chandler's and asked Henry Whetstone what he meant by the remarks made in a saloon in South Omaha. Whetstone replied that he meant just what he said. Then there was a fight. The witness asserted that he and Charles Whetstone parted the combatants. He had, he said, climbed onto the wagon when he heard further strife and upon going back to the wagon he found the ground. He heard Charles Whetstone say to Hike, "You have killed Henry." A dispute between Charles Whetstone and Hike, said the witness, followed about who had struck the blow.

Charles Whetstone, a brother of the deceased, was called to the stand and County Attorney Patrick reminded him of the fact that in replying to questions he need not incriminate himself. Whetstone said in reply that he was willing to answer any and all questions put to him. The story of the trouble at the saloon was gone over and then the part where Hike jumped off the wagon was brought out. Witness said that Lewis and himself parted Hike and Whetstone and that in doing so he struck Hike on the arm with a stick taken from the wagon. Witness asserted that when he found his brother was badly injured he insisted upon his being brought back to South Omaha in order to secure medical attendance. Upon arriving in South Omaha witness ordered the arrest of Hike and Officer Elstfelder made the arrest, after Henry Whetstone had been taken to the hospital.

James Van Norman, one of the men implicated, told of the difficulty at the saloon in South Omaha and said that Hike had the club and struck the blow. Charles Patrick, another witness, told the same story as the others. County Attorney Patrick announced at this stage that he had no further questions to ask and that the jury demanded a verdict and as there was no call for testimony the session closed and the jury retired to a private room to deliberate.

A verdict was found in accordance with the testimony introduced and the jury returned upon the return of the verdict Mr. Patrick filed an information before Justice Goss charging Hike with murder in the first degree. Upon arraignment Hike waived examination. Charles Whetstone and James Van Norman were held as witnesses in bonds of $200 each.

South Omaha News.

Two tall slim men entered Markley's bakery Twenty-fourth and B streets, about 9 o'clock and attempted to hold up the place. Both wore masks and were disguised in other sitting in a rear room and seeing the masks on the men surmised their intentions. He made a jump for his bedroom adjoining the room in which he was sitting with the intention of securing a revolver. The robbers went out quick for him however, and commenced firing before he had a chance to get his gun. Three shots were fired at Markley before he secured possession of the shooting iron and the last shot landed in the baker's left hand inflicting a slight flesh wound.

The noise of the shooting and the screams of the women in the household aroused the neighbors and the would-be robbers rushed out of the front door and ran down B street towards syndicate park.

Dr. R. H. Schindler was called to attend Markley and pronounced the wound a slight one. Markley cannot give any very good description of the men who held him up. He says that no attempt was made to rob the baker, but the robbers evidently thought that there was money in the back room.

The police secured a description of the men and a hunt was immediately instituted.

Mayor Kelly Declines. It is reported on what is considered good authority that Mayor Kelly will not be a candidate in the spring. Labor Temple Assured. Plan for the proposed labor temple are about completed and will be on exhibit within the next few days. Committees in charge of the work of raising funds are busily engaged in soliciting funds and so far have met with gratifying support. For the purpose of raising funds for the temple a ball will be given by the united labor societies on Friday evening, February 22, at the Coliseum building. No selection for a site has been made, but several first-class locations are being considered by the committee in charge of the work.

Scheme to Open R Street. There is a proposition before the council to open R street from Thirtieth to Twenty-fourth streets and to secure the grading of the street. There is one difficulty in the way of this matter, that for two blocks the street has never been dedicated. An effort is being made by Councilman Dvornak to secure the consent of certain property owners to the dedication, opening and grading of the street. A report on this matter will be made shortly to the council.

SMELTER EMPLOYES QUARREL As a Result William Steiner is Arrested for Assaulting Martin Dougherty.

Martin Dougherty came to police headquarters Tuesday afternoon with a wound on his left shoulder made by a butcher knife in the hands of William Steiner. The charge against Steiner was assault with a dangerous weapon. When arraigned before Judge Learn, Steiner admitted having stabbed Dougherty, but claimed that the assault was provoked and that he could produce evidence to that effect. He had almost entered a plea of guilty when the judge questioned him as to his understanding of the meaning of such a plea and he changed it to "not guilty."

Dougherty and Steiner are smelter employees. It is said that their quarrel was due to a squabble of the head that occurred at a simultaneous inebriation. While Dougherty's wound is painful, it is not serious. The date of Steiner's hearing has not been set.

TO COLLECT SPECIAL TAXES

Assistant City Attorney Will Levy on Personal Property.

CITES LAW IN SUPPORT OF HIS POSITION

Distress Warrants for Personal Delinquents Are Quite Common, But It is an Innovation in Special Taxes.

For the first time in the history of Omaha personal property of taxpayers will be levied upon to satisfy delinquent special taxes. Under section 150 of the charter the city treasurer is empowered to seize the personal property of persons who refuse to pay taxes which have been levied upon real estate for special improvements, but this extreme measure has never been resorted to. The idea has prevailed that this section of the charter is invalid. James H. Adams, assistant city attorney, thinks otherwise and has instructed the city treasurer to seize the personal property of persons who were recently exempted from questioning the validity of certain special taxes. It is a common practice to levy on all sorts of personal property to collect personal taxes, and every few days distress warrants are issued for that purpose. No such plan has been tried, however, in the collection of taxes which were levied for the construction of sidewalks, paving and other special improvements. So little effort has been made to force the payment of special taxes that the man who cares for his special assessments is the exception.

Cases Are Well Adapted. These cases in which the owners of property are exempted from questioning special taxes on account of special benefit they have derived from the taxes are particularly well adapted to the purposes of the legal department and the treasurer in testing section 150 of the charter. The owners of this property are specifically enjoined by the court from bringing the validity of these special taxes into question, and the city officials will escape objection proceedings which would probably be brought in the case of other property for the purpose of delaying the collection of taxes.

The portion of section 150 which empowers the treasurer to take personal property of real estate owners who refuse to pay their special assessments is as follows: "In all cases of general or special taxes the city treasurer shall have the right and authority, after the same or any part thereof shall become delinquent, to seize personal property of the party who owns the real estate upon which such taxes have been levied and to sell such personal property for the satisfaction of such taxes."

The amount of special taxes involved in the recent cases wherein the owners were exempted from bringing into question the validity of the proceedings under which the improvements were made, on the ground that they had profited by the taxes, is about $10,000. Immediate steps will be taken to appropriate personal property enough to satisfy these taxes, unless the owners of the property prefer to settle the taxes in some other way.

Property Owners Aroused. The active campaign was commenced for the collection of delinquent special taxes many property holders have called at the city hall and announced their intention of caring for their obligations. Many cases are now pending in the courts, in which persons who owe large amounts of delinquent taxes are seeking to pay the original assessments and have the interest remitted.

BELT LINE TAX TOO HIGH

James F. Stout Asks the City Council to Have It Reduced to $6,200 Per Mile.

The city council is sitting as a board of equalization. For not less than five days it will consider protests against general tax assessments. James F. Stout appeared before the board and offered a complaint concerning the assessment of $12,000 a mile made on the 9.887 miles of track comprised in the belt line.

Under the state laws Mr. Stout maintains that all railroad property must be assessed at a valuation placed upon it by the state board, which has fixed the taxable valuation of all railroad lines at $5,200 per mile. Acting upon the advice of City Attorney Connell, Tax Commissioner Fleming fixed the taxable value of the Belt Line, regardless of the action of the state board, at $15,000 per mile. The Board of Review reduced this sum to $12,000 and the owners now seek to have it reduced to $6,200.

Omaha Investors in Railroad Stocks Make a Wise Move to Avoid Slump in Market.

Omaha investors in industrial and railroad stocks were among the wise ones last week and just before the slump which caught many of the operators on the street they unloaded their holdings generally and got on the right side of the market before the decline in prices.

With the slight advance in stocks yesterday the Omaha men are not tempted to invest and on the recovery they stand to lose to a certain extent, but as one of the experienced ones said yesterday, "At the present time it is a manipulator's market and the Omaha contingent is staying out until the flurry is over."
