LINCOLN, Jan. 27 .- (Special Telegram.)-The third week for balloting for United States senator starts out with the deadlock still unbroken and with the competing candidates little changed in their relative positions. The closeness of the figures representing the Thompson and the Meiklejohn columns, together with the fact that a large tumber of members in each column are to found in both, lends color to the reports that these candidates are co-operating more or less, but all intimations of combinations between any two candidates are emphatically repudiated when brought to their personal notice. While several of the leaders have moved up during the last week, the position of Mr. Rosewater, reinforced by the accession of Speaker Sears and Representative Hall, the two Burt county members, has been materially strengthenedin fact, so much so that Congressman Mercer, who has been hanging around since the opening waiting for something to drop his way, has given it up as a had job and started back to Washington, carrying his disappointment with him. Outside of the joint session it must be admitted that some headway has been made the opponents of D. E. Thompson, bent on beating him at any cost, in lining up their forces and formulating a common plan of action. These men are really opposed to any caucus at all for the presentsome of them are positive in saying they will not go into caucus as long as Thompson is a factor. On the other hand, the other members who have been holding out against the single nomination caucus have signed a paper for a caucus on a simultaneous nomination basis in evidence of their good faith and are gaining favor all

The inquiry is now said to have been instituted by the Thompson ites to head off a similar move threatened by his enemies. If the inquisition committee is no more anxious to proceed with the work than the members as a whole the investigation will be a decidedly slow-grinding affair.

Although Handicapped by Lack of Fire Department All the Citizens Turn Out as Bucket Brigade and Conquer the Enemy.

GOTHENBURG, Neb., Jan. 28 - 2 a. m. -Special Telegram.)-Twenty horses were urned to death in a fire that did $14,000 damage in the heart of Gothenburg this morning.

The fire is the most destructive that has visited the thriving little city since its organization.

All the town, except the night watchman churches in England held special memorial and Dr. Shute, returning from a patient, was abed when, shortly after midnight, flames burst through the walls of Amos P. Singer's large livery barn. The glare shone through the windows of the neighboring houses and Everywhere particular attention was paid awoke some of the people, and the clangor

Gothenburg has no fire department, but the entire population, half dressed, rushed London and canon of St. Paul's cathedral, forth from the beds from which they had been rudely awakened, to battle with the flames. Every man, and many women, grabbed up buckets and ran to the scene of the fire, and while strong arms pumped water from wells, long lines of men passed the brimming vessels up to those who braved the intense heat, and for two hours

All saw at the outset that the Singer barn was doomed and from its seething interior came heartrending cries of the animals that were perishing in the flames.

Sprends with Great Rapidity.

The blaze leaped to the Odencrauts building near the livery barn and it was speedily a mass of flames. In less than an hour Singer's building, the Odencrants block, the Carlson Hardware company's building and R. G. Stack's restaurant were entirely conmony be without music.
