CARRIE NATION IN IOWA

Woman Behind the Hatchet Stops in Council Bluffs.

ON HER WAY TO THE STATE CAPITAL
Saloon Wrecker Holds a Prayer and Song Service at the Depot While Waiting for Her Train.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, the woman who broke into the newspapers and the Kansas joints simultaneously by means of a hatchet, stopped at the transfer depot in Council Bluffs yesterday on her way from Topeka to Des Moines, where she lectured last night.

Mrs. Nation had been scheduled for Council Bluffs Friday and local members of temperance societies had begun to make preparations for her reception. When it was announced through the press that she would be tried in Topeka Saturday for some of her exuberant demonstrations against the joints the Iowa people did not understand the marvelous ubiquity of a Kansas sensationalist and supposed that she would not be able to reach Council Bluffs on schedule time, so the preparations were discontinued.

No One to Welcome.
When she with her party arrived there was no one to welcome her and bid her goodnight. The seven persons constituting the party were accompanied by four reporters. They came in over the Kansas City road at 6 o'clock and immediately went into the waiting room, where, at the suggestion of the bartender, putting the saloon on the back and asking them if they were serving God or the devil. The replies she received were of various sorts. Some persons gave her considerable attention, while others attempted to make sport of her. These latter persons were unable to stand before the motherly look of the agitator and their grins of derision ceased.

Asks for Bartender.
Her work at the depot gave her an appetite, for in about an hour she took a second breakfast, and then another praise service was held, and the principal feature of which was a new arrangement of words to the tune of "John Brown's Body."

Mrs. Nation then asked if there was a saloon at the depot and expressed her intention of holding a private prayer meeting with the bartender. She found no saloon and so continued her exhortations to those present, asking them to fight the demon drink.

At 7:40 o'clock the party left for Des Moines over the Rock Island, the matronly agitator requesting her hearers as a last wish to meet her in heaven.

As soon as Mrs. Nation and her party called the depot Special Officer Quinn and Officer Callaghan to see the depot to watch Mrs. Nation and see that she did not start on any saloon-smashing tour. Officer Weir was detailed at the local depot to hold a private prayer meeting, but neither were required. Mrs. Nation had left her ax in Topeka and her present tour is to lecture and incidentally reap in a few dollars for the cause, as she terms it, and not for herself. She hopes to raise $2,000 by her lectures.

When it became known that Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon-smasher, had spent nearly two hours at the transfer depot considerable disappointment was felt by the people generally, that she had not taken time to visit the city. Every one was anxious to get a glimpse of the woman and her famous ax, and had her arrival here from Kansas City been announced beforehand, the early hour would not have deterred hundreds of people from gathering at the transfer depot to take a look at her and her party. As it was, outside of the few persons waiting for the early morning trains and the employes at the transfer, none saw her or even knew her name until after her departure for Des Moines.

There were numbers of funny incidents during her short stay at the transfer and L. J. Reno, manager of the hotel, was the victim of one of them.

Lectures a Total Abstinence.
One of the attaches of the ticket office pointed out to Mrs. Nation and her party that a party it was that while he was such a "nice man in every respect, he was unfortunately"—Mrs. Nation did not wait for anything further, but at once jumped to the conclusion that Landlord Reno was in it subject for her exhortations and she forthwith pounced upon him and read him a lecture on his evil ways that took his breath completely away. She exhorted him to forsake the devil and on leaving she hid a speck of dirt on his shoulder and, as he turned round, said to him: "Take that nasty weed out of your mouth and throw it away. You ought always to take a drink when you drink and if you bet the woman who goes round smashing saloons with an ax, you ought to be ashamed of yourself." This took Mrs. Nation somewhat by surprise and all she could say was "I don't know what she means." She then turned her attention to a group of women and, taking her bible from under her arm, read them a number of verses from it.

"Tax Ferry" Case Adjudged.
The Board of County Supervisors adjourned yesterday morning until February

11. It had expected at this session to take some action in regard to the contract with F. M. Cunningham, "tax ferry," but owing to the failure of Judge Thornell to hand down any decision in the Shinn injunction case adjourned without doing so. Judge Thornell had promised the board to render his decision yesterday, but was prevented from doing so owing to illness.

When the board meets, February 11, it will go into committee on the whole and check up the accounts of all the county officers. This is at the request of the county officers themselves.

The only business transacted by the board yesterday morning was the appointment of J. J. Holmbeck as justice of the peace in Garner township to fill a vacancy.

Settlement of Insurance.
Caspar Marti, a former resident of Minden, this county, followed the rush to the Klondike in search of wealth. For several years his family had been in receipt of a small amount of money, rather than death at Skaguay in the fall of 1898. While the information of his death was probably authentic there was no positive proof.

Before leaving for Alaska Marti had taken out a policy of life insurance for $1,000 in the Federal Life association of Davenport, Ia., which company later turned over its business to the National Mutual Life association of Minneapolis. Jacob Marti, a brother, as administrator of Caspar Marti's estate, sought to collect on the policy, but was met with the difficulty of furnishing proof of his brother's death. The National Mutual Life association, however, has offered to pay $500 in full settlement of the claim, and yesterday Jacob Marti applied to the court to be permitted to accept the compromise. He also asked that the court order the National Mutual Life association to pay the balance of the claim, which was $500 in full settlement of the claim, and yesterday Jacob Marti applied to the court to be permitted to accept the compromise. Resigns to Marry.
The Board of Education held a short special session yesterday afternoon at the office of Superintendent H. H. Dyer, at which the resignation of Miss Louise Boesche of the High school faculty was received and accepted and Miss Emeline Jensen appointed to fill the vacancy. Miss Boesche, during her five years at Dakota, was highly respected by her pupils and teachers and her departure is much regretted. Her resignation is due to the fact that she is to be married.

Miss Emeline Jensen is a graduate of the University of Iowa and has recently completed five years' studies in Berlin, Germany, where she specially prepared herself to instruct in German in French. For the present she will teach German in the High school, and will continue in the fall course of French will be added to the curriculum.

In Absence of the Judge.
Judge Thornell was still too indisposed to hold court yesterday, but rather than further delay the trial of the Wightman estate case he ordered that the attorneys make the arguments to the jury in the absence of the judge. The attorneys who were read to by Judge Wheeler.

In Judge Wheeler's court the case of Maria Cline against A. C. Ellsworth was argued yesterday afternoon. The introduction of evidence is concerned and arguments will be made Monday morning.

The defendants in the suit of Henry Branz against Droge Bros. filed a motion for a new trial.

Women Plead with Barkeepers.
FORT DODGE, Ia., Feb. 8.—(Special Telegram.)—Women yesterday pleaded with barkeepers to stop selling beer to saloons today distributing tracts and exhorting the barkeepers to quit their "nefarious traffic." Mrs. Jenkins is actively engaged in this work, and is now in progress at the Methodist church, where she succeeded in arousing great religious enthusiasm. The women visited the leading saloons at an hour of the day when they were most crowded and spent some little time in each. They were very peaceable and they deny having any intention of following in the footsteps of Mrs. Nation.

Smallpox in Garner Township.
A case of smallpox was reported from Garner township yesterday, the patient being a member of the Stageman family. The residence is near that of the Houser family, nearly every member of which has had the disease recently, and it is supposed the contagion came from there.

Women Plead with Barkeepers.
FORT DODGE, Ia., Feb. 8.—(Special Telegram.)—Women yesterday pleaded with barkeepers to stop selling beer to saloons today distributing tracts and exhorting the barkeepers to quit their "nefarious traffic." Mrs. Jenkins is actively engaged in this work, and is now in progress at the Methodist church, where she succeeded in arousing great religious enthusiasm. The women visited the leading saloons at an hour of the day when they were most crowded and spent some little time in each. They were very peaceable and they deny having any intention of following in the footsteps of Mrs. Nation.
