Sketch of His Life.

Colonel Shaw was 50 years of age, and a veteran of the civil war. He was a widower, his wife dying just one year ago yesterday. He was the picture of health, of commanding stature, strongly built with square shoulders and erect figure, which with white hair and mustache made him a conspicuous figure in the house. An active worker during his incumbency of the commander-in-chief's office, he frequently came to Washington and took a hand in urging legislation for the old soldiers, before the committee of congress.
