

CALLAHAN ENTERS HIS PLEA

Declares Himself Not Guilty When Arraigned in County Court.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION NEXT MONDAY

Alleged Kidnapers Appear Without Counsel and Is Now a Prisoner in the "Solitary" Cell of County Jail.

James Callahan, with his small gray eyes close half the time and shifting uneasily while open, stood before Judge Vinsonhater in the county court yesterday and heard County Attorney Shields read the complaints charging him with being a principal in the Cudahy kidnaping. He entered a plea of not guilty to each of the three complaints and assented to the court's designation of next Monday morning as the time for a preliminary hearing.

Callahan was brought from the city jail in the police patrol wagon by Deputy Sheriff Jencks, with whom he shared a pair of cold steel bracelets. A large crowd of curious people had gathered in the court room and in the corridors, and when the deputy entered the west end door with his distinguished prisoner, crowds of people were stretched like rubber in order to make the little man who is said to have participated in the big crime the crocodile of all eyes. Callahan was brought through the corridor in a hurry, seeming almost a dwarf alongside the big deputy, and in less than half a minute after entering the building he was seated at the attorney's table in front of the bar of justice.

Vinsonhater Calls the Case.

"State of Nebraska against James Callahan," called the case.

Callahan sprang from his seat and approached the bench.

"Have you made any arrangements for counsel?" asked Judge Vinsonhater.

"No, your honor," answered the prisoner.

"I have had no chance to get an attorney. They have had me locked up since Saturday and have not allowed me to see anybody."

"Do you intend to engage counsel?"

"I don't know yet, but if they give me a chance to consult with my friends I think I will be able to get a lawyer."

County Attorney Shields then read the complaint charging Callahan with false imprisonment and to this the man at the bar promptly said "Not guilty." To the complaint of robbery, which was read next, and to the charge of grand larceny, which was last, the prisoner entered similar pleas.

During the reading of the complaints charging him with having perpetrated one of the most dastardly crimes ever committed in this state Callahan stood calmly before the court, displaying no flush of excitement, and he entered his pleas in a voice without a tremor. His hearing was much the same as one would expect of a prisoner charged with petit larceny.

"Will you be ready to get an attorney next Monday morning?" asked the court.

"I suppose so," said the prisoner with indifference.

The court then announced that the preliminary hearing would be held at 9 o'clock next Monday morning and asked the county attorney what amount of bail he desired. Mr. Shields thought $5,000 in each case would be sufficient, but the court suggested $2,000 instead. The county attorney said the prisoner was charged with having stolen $25,000 and he thought the bail should be proportionately high. Finally the court fixed the bond at $2,000 in each case, making $7,000 in all.

Wants to See His Friends.

Before being taken from the court room Callahan asked County Attorney Shields if he would be permitted to see his friends after being locked up in jail for the purpose of making arrangements for counsel to defend him. In reply to a question from the county attorney the prisoner said he wanted to see Ed O'Connell, a young lawyer of South Omaha. He was assured that he would be given a proper opportunity to make arrangements for counsel.

Callahan was taken through the judge's office and the south door of the court house to the jail, thus avoiding the crowd in the corridors. He stopped a moment in the judge's room to shake hands with an attorney, who asked him if his father was about. Callahan replied that he had not seen "the old man" and didn't expect to see him.

When he got to the jail Callahan seemed to be pleased with the fact that he was finally in charge of Jailer Tom Flynn and his assistant, Jim Swift, both of whom went to school with him. While Swift was searching the prisoner he said:

"Well, Jim, I didn't think in the old school days that I'd ever have to 'frisk' you under such circumstances."

"Don't find much, do you?" remarked Callahan, pleasantly. That was the only remark they didn't let me hear when they took my picture the other day. They put me under an old derby in order to make me look like somebody, but I'm just plain Jim Callahan, the same as I always was."

"Bath wouldn't hurt you," suggested Swift.

"I should say not. I've been lying in that city jail since Saturday and I'm not any cleaner than the law allows."

Callahan was sent down stairs to take a bath, after which he was locked up in the solitary cell on the top tier formerly occupied by murderer Ed Neal.

Callahan has retained Charles W. Haller.

Montana and Oregon Still at It. HELLENA, Mont., Feb. 21.—The result of the vote on Sunday was: Maginnis, 23; Frank, 23; Cooper, 7; Coburn, 2; Conrad, 2; Toole, 1; Clancy, 1; Kennedy, 1; A. A. Egan, 1. Feb. 22.—The result of the ballot today was: Belle, 23; Williams, 23; Hermann, 7; Inman (democrat), 2; Bennett, 1.

Old Coughs

First you think it is a little cold, nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats. Then consumption.

Better stop the disease early. Better cure your cough today.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

takes away that feeling of suffocation; heals and makes strong.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express a large bottle to you. All sizes please. Be sure and give us your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

SAYS DAUGHTER INTERFERED

Josephine Vetrouski Files Her Answer to the Complaint of John Kudzoir.

Josephine Vetrouski, the 17-year-old girl who promised to marry 30-year-old John Kudzoir and received a house and lot from him for the promise, says the interference of Julia Socha, Kudzoir's daughter, was the only thing that prevented the wedding.

Kudzoir has a suit in the district court to annul the deed by which he conveyed the house and lot to Miss Vetrouski, and yesterday the girl filed her answer to his complaint. She admits that on January 3 she and Kudzoir were married, and she promised to do so, provided he would give her a house and lot. She admits further that on February 3 the property was deeded to her by Kudzoir and she had the deed carefully recorded. She denies, however, that she ever repudiated her promise to marry the aged lover, and insists that she is ready and willing to make good her promise at any time. She avers it is no fault of hers that she is not today the bride of Kudzoir, and asserts that he is the party in default on the marriage proposition.

Miss Vetrouski alleges that had it not been for the information of insanity filed against the old man by his daughter, Julia Socha, the contract by which she was to become his wife in consideration of one house and lot would have been completed long ago. As it is, she is willing to marry him, but not to give back the property.

Callahan was brought through the corridor in a hurry, seeming almost a dwarf alongside the big deputy, and in less than half a minute after entering the building he was seated at the attorney's table in front of the bar of justice.

AMUSEMENTS.

Why Smith Left Home.

For the second time since George H. Broadhurst penned this amusing bit of farcical nonsense, two years ago, a company of average merit tried last night to make clear to an audience not the largest and by no means the smartest that has sat in Boyd's theater this season, just why Smith deserted the family hearth, and whether it was successful in explaining the matter or not it did furnish two hours and a half of acceptable amusement.

Last season the original London company was seen here, and while this one as a whole is hardly up to its standard it is in every way capable of getting about all the laughs out of the piece there are in it.

Dean Raymond made an acceptable substitute for Maclay Arbuckle as John Smith, and May Thompson as Lavinia Daly, member of the Cook Ladies' union, looked and acted quite as brisk as Annie Yeamans.

The engagement will continue for the balance of the week, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

Front Bites and Chiblines quickly cured by Bonner Salve, the most healing remedy in the world. Myers-Dillon Drug Co., Omaha, Dillon's drug store, South Omaha.

REAL ESTATE MEN FEAST

First of a Series of Banquets is Given at the Commercial Club.

Members of the Omaha Real Estate exchange last night enjoyed the first of a series of banquets which will be in the Commercial club rooms at intervals of two or three months. The idea of giving these dinners is that the real estate men may become more intimately acquainted and profit by the discussion of questions in which they are interested.

At the close of the dinner last night there was a short program of toasts. W. H. Green, president of the Real Estate exchange, and ex-President A. P. Tukey spoke briefly, and the latter introduced Erastus Bracken, the first president of the exchange.

The speakers were: "Ups and Downs of Omaha," Dr. George L. Miller; "The Right Citizenship," Rev. Dr. A. C. Hirst, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church; "George Washington as a Real Estate Man," Alexander G. Charlton; "A Real Estate Ideal," G. G. Wallace.

"I had been in bed three weeks with grip when my husband brought me Dr. Miles' Nerve, Pain Pills and Nerve and Liver Pills. I was cured."—Mrs. J. Reintzer, Franklin, Ind.

Woman's Work in Club and Charity.

The tenth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which opened in Washington, D. C., on Monday, is attended by a larger number of delegates, alternates and visitors than any previous convention of the society.

Though there were 800 delegates accredited to the congress, only about 600 are present with nearly as many alternates, and over 2,000 visitors. The grand opera house, where the convention is in session, while not as lavishly decorated as last year, has been filled with visitors and a more general interest has been manifested in the assembly than ever before. Though each session has been filled with interesting business, it has been plainly evident since Sunday night, when the first delegates arrived, that the election is the all absorbing feature of the congress.

The report that Mrs. Roebeling had withdrawn from the race and her enforced absence from the congress because of illness, seemed only to stimulate her supporters in their efforts to elect her. The supporters of each of the three strong candidates, Mrs. Donald McLean of New York, Mrs. Fairbanks of Indiana and Mrs. Roebeling of New Jersey, have lost no opportunity of emphasizing the prominence of their candidates, which was particularly noticeable in the applause which greeted each of the women as they have had occasion to address the meeting or in any way attract attention.

The reception to the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Cornudas Art gallery on Monday evening was one of the most brilliant functions of the winter and the women were given another splendid reception on Wednesday at the White House, these two being the only affairs for which the congress has deviated its business sessions, though numerous smaller affairs have been given in their honor. The election of the state regents on Thursday morning passed off as usual. Mrs. Laura B. Pound of Lincoln being elected regent of Nebraska and Mrs. Charles E. Armstrong, regent of Iowa.

The board of directors of the Woman's Christian association, operating the Old Ladies' Home, held its regular meeting on Tuesday morning in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association. After the business of the home had been disposed of and arrangements for an appropriate observation of the old ladies' birthday made, the time was given over to the discussion of several proposed plans for the extension of the work. Among these was the reopening of the cottage on the lot with the home, for the care of children, until a suitable building could be erected for conducting the work more extensively. This plan and the undertaking of the building were not considered advisable at present and it was suggested that the cottage be fitted up as a temporary lodging place for the many respectable people of limited means that come to the city and are com-

KNOWS HIM BY HIS WALK

Mrs. George F. Wittum Identifies Callahan as a Frequenter of Melrose Hill.

SELECTS HIM FROM A GROUP OF FIVE

Two New Witnesses Appear Upon the Scene in Behalf of the State—Mrs. Wittum Remains Unshaken in Her Judgment.

The strongest identification of Callahan thus far as one of the Cudahy kidnapers was that of Mrs. George F. Wittum, who yesterday picked him out of a line of five prisoners as they marched by her at the city jail.

Two days ago her husband, Attorney George F. Wittum, had identified Callahan under similar circumstances. The identification made by Mrs. Wittum is considered especially good, as various means were employed to confuse her and shake her judgment, but she remained firm in her decision that Callahan was the man she saw in the neighborhood of the Melrose Hill prison house ten or twelve times during the two weeks immediately preceding the abduction.

Mr. and Mrs. Wittum live at 3647 Boulevard avenue, a few hundred yards from the house in which young Cudahy was held prisoner. Their attention was attracted to Callahan then by reason of his unclean appearance. They regarded him as a suspicious character and scrutinized him closely whenever he showed himself in the vicinity. Having taken special notice of him on these occasions they were able to identify him positively.

His Last Appearance. "The last time I saw him," said Mr. Wittum, "was on Monday, December 17, the day before the kidnaping. It was between 12 and 1 o'clock in the afternoon. I happened to be home that day. I was sitting at the front window when my wife came in from the yard and called my attention to a man who was passing, walking slowly southward in front of the house. He was looking in at the window, and not being more than twenty feet away, I had an excellent opportunity to study his face.

Last season the original London company was seen here, and while this one as a whole is hardly up to its standard it is in every way capable of getting about all the laughs out of the piece there are in it.

Dean Raymond made an acceptable substitute for Maclay Arbuckle as John Smith, and May Thompson as Lavinia Daly, member of the Cook Ladies' union, looked and acted quite as brisk as Annie Yeamans.

The engagement will continue for the balance of the week, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

"I had been in bed three weeks with grip when my husband brought me Dr. Miles' Nerve, Pain Pills and Nerve and Liver Pills. I was cured."—Mrs. J. Reintzer, Franklin, Ind.

The tenth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which opened in Washington, D. C., on Monday, is attended by a larger number of delegates, alternates and visitors than any previous convention of the society.

Though there were 800 delegates accredited to the congress, only about 600 are present with nearly as many alternates, and over 2,000 visitors. The grand opera house, where the convention is in session, while not as lavishly decorated as last year, has been filled with visitors and a more general interest has been manifested in the assembly than ever before. Though each session has been filled with interesting business, it has been plainly evident since Sunday night, when the first delegates arrived, that the election is the all absorbing feature of the congress.

The report that Mrs. Roebeling had withdrawn from the race and her enforced absence from the congress because of illness, seemed only to stimulate her supporters in their efforts to elect her. The supporters of each of the three strong candidates, Mrs. Donald McLean of New York, Mrs. Fairbanks of Indiana and Mrs. Roebeling of New Jersey, have lost no opportunity of emphasizing the prominence of their candidates, which was particularly noticeable in the applause which greeted each of the women as they have had occasion to address the meeting or in any way attract attention.

The reception to the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Cornudas Art gallery on Monday evening was one of the most brilliant functions of the winter and the women were given another splendid reception on Wednesday at the White House, these two being the only affairs for which the congress has deviated its business sessions, though numerous smaller affairs have been given in their honor. The election of the state regents on Thursday morning passed off as usual. Mrs. Laura B. Pound of Lincoln being elected regent of Nebraska and Mrs. Charles E. Armstrong, regent of Iowa.

The board of directors of the Woman's Christian association, operating the Old Ladies' Home, held its regular meeting on Tuesday morning in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association. After the business of the home had been disposed of and arrangements for an appropriate observation of the old ladies' birthday made, the time was given over to the discussion of several proposed plans for the extension of the work. Among these was the reopening of the cottage on the lot with the home, for the care of children, until a suitable building could be erected for conducting the work more extensively. This plan and the undertaking of the building were not considered advisable at present and it was suggested that the cottage be fitted up as a temporary lodging place for the many respectable people of limited means that come to the city and are complished to seek cheap lodgings, especially the cases that come under the observation of the Travelers' Aid, kept at the stations by the Woman's club. As there is a great demand for such a lodging place, it could doubtless be made self-supporting, if not, it could be supported as a part of the charity of the association. The matter was referred to a committee who, after investigation, will report upon the feasibility of the plan at the next meeting. Suggestions were then called for by the advancement of the work among the old ladies. The association is now planning for a new building for carrying on this work and the women are all of the opinion that when a new building is erected it should be equipped for more extensive work than has yet been undertaken. Several plans were suggested, any one of which was practical, considering the sum the association already has on hand, but one that met with special favor was for the maintenance of a home for old men as well as women.

Facilities of this kind, in various parts of the country, were cited as the management discussed. The necessity for such a home in Omaha is becoming greater each year and the women felt that there could be no greater work than the maintenance of a high-class institution where aged people might spend their declining years and surroundings conducive to their happiness.

While the women realize the magnitude of such an undertaking, other associations have proven them largely self-supporting. Though nothing definite was decided upon, investigation will continue and be reported at the next meeting.

The Dundee Woman's club held its regular meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Montgomery. Mrs. D. L. Johnson, the president, presided. A number of resolutions were announced. Owing to the light attendance the business was entirely suspended. The current topics last hour was devoted to a discussion of current literature. The regular lesson is still confined to the events of the reign of Henry VIII. A number of biographical sketches were read of famous characters of that period, among whom were Sir Thomas Moore, Cardinal Wolsey, Thomas Cranmer and Thomas Cromwell.

Readings were given from Shakespeare and Miss Muhlback on Henry VIII and his court.

Physiology was the science treated at Thursday morning's meeting of the household economics department of the Woman's club, the subject being outlined and set forth in a paper by Mrs. C. E. Townsend, which was unusually good. The regular lesson, a chapter from "Human Nature Explained," was read by Mrs. Beard and brought forth a general discussion. A number of the program of the next open meeting is in charge of this department arrangements that it occupied some time and the program promises to be one of unusual ex-pleased with the identifications furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Wittum, as they are, if possible, more positive than any that have preceded, and as both will make good witnesses for the state, not likely to be shaken by cross-examination.

ST. PAUL SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Detective Says They Are Kidnapers, but Chief Donahue Thinks Not.

A telegram to The Bee received late Thursday afternoon from St. Paul, Minn., says two men are under arrest there, charged with complicity in the Cudahy kidnaping case. They are known as Patrick Hussey and John P. Lane, alias Torr, and the message says were arrested upon a warrant sworn out by a detective named John M. Baum. The arrests were made Thursday night, but were kept secret until Thursday.

Chief Donahue says that he knows nothing of the two men who are said to be under arrest, but that he has had some correspondence with Baum. He turned to a letter bearing date of February 19, written at St. Paul, in which Baum says he knows the men who kidnaped young Cudahy, and knows "where he can put his hand on them at a moment's notice," though the three men are in three different states. He goes on at some length outlining a plan whereby they may be arrested "simultaneously all at once," and suggests that a certain sum of money be advanced to pay his traveling and hotel expenses. The letter was signed "John M. Baum, 525 Main street, St. Paul."

"I answered this letter," said Chief Donahue, "telling him that anything he could do to help us in the apprehension of the criminals would be greatly appreciated, but suggested that the reward offered for the arrest of the proper parties ought to be enough to warrant him in paying his own expenses. I received no reply to this letter."

"I think the chances are very much against his having the right men. The probabilities are he is some visionary young man with ambitions to become a detective and has reckoned without his best."

Turns Into a Huge Joke. Later dispatches from St. Paul say "Something of a sensation was created today when an attorney in the police court demanded the production of Patrick Hussey. The police judge was unaware that such a person was in custody and upon the county attorney being sent for, it developed that Hussey had been taken into custody this morning upon a warrant sworn out by John M. Baum, John M. Baum, who was said to be a detective from Omaha, charging him with being implicated in the abduction of Edward Cudahy. Later John E. Layne was arrested in Minneapolis on a similar warrant."

"It now turns out that instead of being an Omaha detective, Baum is a local amateur. It is said that Baum's wife left him some time before the Cudahy kidnaping and when the detective heard that a woman with gold teeth had been in some way connected with the abduction, he seems to have jumped to the conclusion that it was no other than his missing wife. By following various clues the sleuth finally evolved what seemed to him a gigantic conspiracy, which included in its ramifications a number of men, among them Hussey and Layne. Finally, when he had his case well in hand, he went to County Attorney Kane and, according to that gentleman's statement, told such a plausible story that he felt it necessary to issue warrants."

"Hussey is a well-known local character, and it is said on good authority that he has not been out of this city for fifteen years. Mr. Layne is a well-known and highly respected contractor of Minneapolis, being a member of the firm of Corbett & Layne. Both men have been released, and the police officials consider the affair a huge joke."

"When I was prostrated with grip and my heart and nerves were in bad shape, Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure gave me new life and health."—Mrs. Geo. Colie, Elgin, Ill.

General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

Leave Buffalo 8:00 P. M. Arrive New York 7:55 A. M. via Lehigh Valley railroad.—Exposition Express. Luxurious sleeping cars.

Omaha's Sick Men. General C. F. Manderson still continues to improve. There is no appreciable change in the patient, and it is believed that he will neither better nor worse than he has been for the past week.

HENRY GEORGE A GREAT CIGAR E. E. Bruce & Co., Distributors. OMAHA, NE

Reduced Rates to the WEST $25.00 TO CALIFORNIA $28 Via THE UNION PACIFIC THE ONLY DIRECT LINE

SPARKS TO LEAP ATLANTIC

Teals on the New Jersey Coast Expects Signals to Fly to Spain.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IN PRACTICE

James Galbraith to Get in Line with Nikola on Forth Parallel and Finish Messages Over the Wavetops.

(Copyright, 1901, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Feb. 21.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram)—James Galbraith, a member of Tesla's New York staff, left London Thursday night for Lisbon, with electrical apparatus to be used in connection with the installation of a system of wireless telegraphy across the Atlantic.

Galbraith, before leaving, said he was going to establish a receiving station on the Spanish coast at the fourth parallel and Tesla, exactly opposite on the New Jersey coast, will try to set up communication.

ERNEST STUHT BOUND OVER

Former Councilman Held to District Court for Alleged Theft of Water.

Ernest Stuhst, against whom the Omaha Water Supply has filed a charge of misappropriating 1,320,000 gallons of water, appeared in the police court yesterday afternoon and waived preliminary hearing. He was held to the district court under $600 bonds.

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician. First and foremost, REST. Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest and must have it. If the attack is severe, go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of large quantities of food. Drink plenty of pure, cold water. It allays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nerve Pills per day, and if you cannot sleep take an extra dose at bedtime. To further control the fever and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

Dr. Miles' Remedies can be found at any drug store, and they are sold on a positive guarantee that first bottle or package benefits or money refunded.

Reduced Rates to the WEST $25.00 TO CALIFORNIA $28 To Portland, Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle

INDIGESTION

Constipation, Bloating after eating, Heartburn, Nervous Weakness, Impurities in the Blood and every disorder in the Kidneys or Liver is set right by

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

THE SYSTEM REGULATOR It brightens the eye, steadies the nerves, sweetens the breath, brings color to the cheek, creates appetite, makes the body strong and the brain active.

SOLD AT DRUG STORES. PRICE, $1.00.

<