Etrong Probability Louisville and Indianapolis Will Be in Western League.

Plan Proposes the Dropping of Denver and the Estmination of a Badly Lop-Sided Circuit-Magnates Meet Tuesday.

There is more than a remote possibility that Indianapolis and Louisville will be simitted into the Western league. Indeed. base ball affairs have taken such a turn in the past two weeks that it now seems probable that the two cities mentioned will be in Thomas Jefferson Hickey's organization the coming season. A majority of the magnates of the lengue are known to favor such an outcome and it is now up to Watkins of Indianapolis and Pulliam of Louisville to make a move.

If these two cities are to have class A base ball this season the Western league alone affords the opportunity. Their only alternative is to join the Interstate league, along with Grand Rapids, Dayton, Fort Wayne, Columbus, Detroit and Mansfield, The Interstate league is a class B organization and the fans of Louisville and Indianapolis, used as they are to the best article of base ball, will hardly be content with

How it would delight the heart the Vinton street reservation next summer and see a battle on the diamond between other teams belonging to a circuit such as that outlined above. It would seem like a return to the good old days when the Western league was in its heydey.

He favored the admission of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Kansas City when certain of his counsellors predicted dire disaster in such a step. No one doubts perform satisfactory service for Decatur is the wisdom of the course pursued by the league officials thus far, and none questions the success of the coming season in the face of the more than flattering outlook, Now Mr. Rourke goes on record in favor of Louisville and Indianapolis. "I think the prospects for the admission of these two ities into the league are very bright," he says. "There is no doubt but that the league would be strengthened thereby and the circuit would certainly be a better one than with a lop-sided circuit, such as will be necessary with Denver as the only west-

'The influence of the league would be added to by the admission of these cities and the strength of the organization from an executive standpoint would be greatly increased with Watkins and Pulliam in managerial positions. The circuit would be an admirable one, and there wouldn't be a weak team nor a weak city in the entire league. It was the unexpected that happened in local bowling circles last week. The mighty Clarksons were made to bite the dust of defeat by one of the admittedly weak teams of the city league—the Kfug Parks. At Clark's alleys Monday night the Krug Parks won two of the three games played and the members of the victorious team took as keen enjoyment out of their who delight in seeing a grueling match achievement as if they had jumped up to second or third place in the percentage where there is lots of gore and plenty of

In the beginning it was plain to the spec-tators that the Clarksons were out of form, although they won the first game. Lancaster made a total score in this game of 263 and Ciarkson chalked up 265 points. These were the only scores in the zeries that went 200 or better. In the first game Creedon of the Krug Parks scored 197. The Clarksons' total score in the first game was 895 and the Krug Parks 839. In the hissed by the crowd and he determined to second and third games the Clarksons went all to pieces and their opponents, profiting by the evident weakening of the Clarksons, bowled their very best. The Krug Parks, by a coincidence, made the same score in the second and third games-809. The Clarksons scored 800 in the second and 796 in the third. In the series the Clarksons scored 2,491 and the Krug Parks

The teams participating in this match consisted of the regular membership. The Krug Parks were Conery, Nellsen, Hansen, Creedon and F. Krug. The Clarksons were Denman, Brunke, Lancaster, Courad and Clarkson.

> There is also considerable discussion about the formation of a tri-city league, with members from Orlaha, South Ornaha and Council Bluffs. At both South Omaha and the Bluffs there are a number of teams composed of bowlers of recognized ability and they are anxious to get into a ledgue with the Omaha clubs.

> It is unlikely that there will be a midsummer league. Proprietors of the bowling alloys expect that there will be no flagging of interest in bowling during the summer months. They base this belief on the fact that last summer there was a great deal of enthusiasm manifested in the game and at that time bowling interest was by no means as deeply rooted as it is at present During the summer, however, there will be so many other attractions that a schedule would be interfered with by reason of the absence of members of certain of the teams This would make an unsatisfactory condition of affairs and it is thought the better plan by prominent bowlers not to attempt a midsummer league. After the spring tournament ends the balance of the season until the beginning of the fall tournament will be occupied in individual work and diligent practice on the part of candidates who hope to be members in the teams that enter the fall and winter leagues.

A league which is in prospect for the spring is one composed of teams representing the reveral banking establishments of the city. In all of the banks there are enthusiastic bowlers and this winter a numher of contests have been indulged in by teams from the various banks. King Denman, one of the finest bowlers in the city, is connected with the First National bank and is prominent in the councils of the bank employes who are considering the organization of the bankers' league.

Fred Flanagan still holds the city record at tenpins with his score of 267. D. A. Rubin came within one of tieing Flanagan's score last week. The fact that diseases of a private nature are his specialties, gives him a decided advantage over the general practitioner, and wherever inquiry was made among leading merchants, bankers and county officials and others, the strongest preponderance of testimony showed beyond doubt that Dr. McGrew does all that he agrees to do; that very claim he makes is lived up to fully. Dr. McGrew is a thoroughly trained physician, a deep thinker, a keen reasoner, a persistent reader of the literature of his profession, and hence a wide-awake and intelligent specialist. Series of Contests Will Be Played in This City Next Friday Night.

A great deal of interest is being mani-

Three games in one night will be enough to satisfy the most ardent basket ball crank. The big game will be between the lioux City Young Men's Christian association team and the local association team. The Sioux City team defeated the local men February 26 at Sloux City for the first time in three years. Omaha has won three out of four games and intends to make i four out of five. When the Omaha boys met defeat at Sioux City the local team was in rather poor condition, owing to sickness of three of the men, Moneghan, Stemn and Owens. They are all getting back into form now and will, make Friday night's game interesting for Sloux City. The second game will be between the High school team and the High school faculty. The High school team is prepafing for a state championship game with Lincoln and is putting up fast ball. The faculty team is composed of old athletes like Pearse, Bernstein and Benedict and they are playing strong basket ball. The third game will be between the South

Omaha Young Men's Christian association team and the working boys. These games will be full of activity and good playing and will be worth witnessing.
