WASHINGTON, March 13.- Deep interst was exhibited in all of the executive departments throughout the day in the reports that came as to the condition of ex-President Harrison. As office hours had closed for the day before the end came, the first official action regarding the death will be deferred until tomorrow, when, following precedents. President McKinley wil: issue his proclamation to the people, notifying them of General Harrison's death and setting out in becoming terms his virtues and characteristics. He also will order salutes to be fired at the various army osts the day of the funeral and on shipboard when the news is received. The secretary of war and the secretary of the navy will send out special notices to soldiers and sailors conveying the president's directions in this matter. Little more can be done officially, as the act of March 3, 1893, specifically forbids the draping of public buildings in mourning or the closing of the executive departments on the occasen of the death of an exofficial. It is a curious fact that two orders issued by President Harrison himself probably brought about the enactment of this law January 18, 1892, the president was obliged to issue an order announcing the death of ex-President Hayes, closing the departments on the day of the funeral and ordering all public buildings to be draped in mourning. General Harrison a Frequent Diner Out and Theater Attendant Since Leaving Office.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.-Since General Harrison's retirement from the presidency, he had devoted himself almost entirely to his law practice, his only public service being his appearance in 1898 as counsel for Venezuela in the South American republic's dispute with England over her boundary line.

Notwithstanding his large practice, General Harrison has devoted much time since retiring from the presidency to amusement. He attended the theater, receptions, was a great diner out and was at all social gatherings one of those most thoroughly entertained and happy. He attended local musical concerts, was president of the University club, which he asisted in organizing three years ago, was a member of the Indianapolis Dramatic club and made many informal social calls. In all of these affairs he was attended by Mrs. Harrison General Harrison loved a good dinner and bright social atmosphere of witty conersation to go with it. He accepted in ulcerated condition of the neck of the womb can produce all of these symptoms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our portrait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N.J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medi-cine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they ask for it at a store.
