Illustrious Clay Consigned to Bed of Ferns and Covered with Wreaths from Dear Ones.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 17.—In the center of a hollow square composed of fully 15,000 of his fellow citizens, the remains of Benjamin Harrison were this afternoon interred in the family lot in Crown Hill cemetery.

Of passionate grief there was little beyond the members of the family, but the tribute of respect was universal. It came from all alike; from those of his political faith and from those who differed with him concerning what is best for the nation's good.

The weather, like that of yesterday, was unpropitious, with the warm breath of spring in every breeze, and yet in the air a touch of winter.

The services at the church and grave were simple in extreme, all in most excellent taste and like the proceedings yesterday there was an utter absence of friction in everything that was done.

From the Home to the Church. At the Harrison home before the remains were taken to the First Presbyterian church, where the full funeral service was held, there were brief exercises for the members of the family and honorary friends of General Harrison.

President McKinley, accompanied by Governor Durbin, called at the house about 1 o'clock. At about the same time came the members of President Harrison's cabinet, and others continually arrived until the short services were over.

The procession was to have left the house at 1:30 o'clock, but it was fully thirty minutes later than that when everything was in readiness.

The doors were thrown wide open and the honorary pallbearers, who were General Benjamin F. Tracy of New York, John W. Wainwright of Philadelphia, W. H. Miller of Indianapolis, J. W. Noble of St. Louis and Charles Foster of Boston, O. General Lew Wallace of Indianapolis, Justice Harmon of Cincinnati and William A. Woods of Indianapolis, came slowly down the walk leading to the street.

Behind the casket came Mrs. Harrison, with her brother, Lieutenant Commander Parker of the navy, and little Elizabeth Harrison. Then came Secretary Tibbitt and Mrs. Tibbitt, Misses Mrs. Mayne, Russell Harrison and Mrs. Russell Harrison, then the other relatives of the ex-president. Directly after the members of the family came President McKinley and Governor Durbin, and following them the friends of the family.

The route of the procession was south on Delaware street, then one block east to Pennsylvania street and thence direct to the church, a total distance of twelve squares. Twelve mounted policemen, commanded by Captain Dawson, led the way and cleared the streets.

There were several thousand people around the Harrison residence as the funeral procession moved away, but the crowd there was insignificant to that which was gathered around the church. Two hours before the time set for the commencement of the services the people had begun to gather at this point and by the time the funeral procession arrived there was a solid mass of humanity stretching a block away on every sidewalk.

The streets were kept entirely clear by a detachment of police and company of the Second Infantry, commanded by Captain Porter. Sentries patrolled the street just outside the curb and nobody was permitted to approach, titling the holder to admission to the church was permitted to step off the walk.

Fire Truck Dashes Through. While the carriages were discharging their inmates at the door of the church the wild clanging of a fire engine was heard and down the street at top speed came dashing a fire truck. Its way lay

ROCKHILL FEARS FOR LI

Would Not Be Surprised to Hear of Chinese Diplomat's Death Today.

By "N. N." March 17.—The health of Li Hung Chang, the Russian minister said, "Li Hung Chang is a great diplomat, and his influence with the Chinese court is absolutely unique. No other man in China approaches him in this respect. His influence is not temporary, but it is particularly effective at critical moments in the history of China."

The removal of Li Hung Chang by death or any other cause would be very unfortunate at the present time. Mr. Li, the Russian minister said, "Li Hung Chang is a great diplomat, and his influence with the Chinese court is absolutely unique. No other man in China approaches him in this respect. His influence is not temporary, but it is particularly effective at critical moments in the history of China."

Orders have been received by United States troops to depart next month, leaving behind only 150 infantry. The German headquarters staff assert that these instructions are "a great mistake," alleging that it is necessary to retain a large body of foreign troops in the country for at least two years. Most of the ministers, however, believe the best course is to retain a few troops of each nation and withdraw the rest.

Of passionate grief there was little beyond the members of the family, but the tribute of respect was universal. It came from all alike; from those of his political faith and from those who differed with him concerning what is best for the nation's good.

JAPAN NEEDS READY CASH

Great Industrial Plan Lags for Lack of Money to Push It.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 26 (Via San Francisco), March 17.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The business depression continues, and predictions are freely made of a general crash among Japanese firms and industrial enterprises.

There does not exist here, however, the general financial condition which leads to panics in every country. The credit system being almost unknown, the difficulty lies in the absolute lack of capital wherewith to carry on the great scheme of industrial development initiated after the China-Japanese war. It is beginning to be realized that Japan should have used in this direction the Chinese indemnity instead of expending it for increased armament.

A curious paradox exists. Owing to its habits of economy, Japan is relatively one of the richest nations, but now it is in the depths of poverty with its efforts at industry brought to almost a complete standstill. The remarkable steadiness of foreign stocks in the twenty ports in spite of the general depression is very noticeable. Dividends of from 8 to 12 per cent keep steadily up to the mark, while Japanese investment enterprises divide still larger profits.

EXPOSITION BUILDING IS A WRECK

Blaze Spreads to It from Hair-Felt Factory and Injures Total Property Loss of $250,000.

PITTSBURG, March 17.—During the progress of a fire today at the corner of Duquesne way and Fort street one man lost his life and three others were badly hurt. The property loss will be fully $250,000, well insured.

WILLIAM MILLER, driver No. 3 hose company. Injured: George J. Snyder, hoseman, same company. Harry Griffith, ladderman, truck Co. H. E. Schreckler, hoseman, company 29. All the injured men are in the hospital in rather bad shape, but all will recover.

The fire broke out in the boiler room of the Hiram W. French company's hair felt factory, just opposite the Exposition main building. Through some confusion no alarm was turned in for some time and it was fully twenty minutes after the fire was discovered before the engines reached the scene. From the felt factory, the flames jumped across the street and in a very short time the exposition building was burning fiercely. All the firemen could do here was to prevent the flames spreading. After hard work, this was accomplished and Machinery hall, with its valuable contents, was saved.

Much Valuable Lumber. The main building was a complete wreck. Two lumber yards adjoining the felt factory soon succumbed. Gallagher & Banker lost 1,000,000 feet of lumber and Henry Henk 350,000 feet of valuable hard wood. Three small dwellings near the lumber yards were destroyed, but so far as known all the inmates escaped.

Three Young Women Are Found Dead in St. Joseph Fire.

OTHERS MAY DIE OF THEIR HURTS

Search for the Victims is Kept Up Until Darkness Sets In.

IRONWORK INTERFERES WITH RESCUE

Lack of Record of Street Addresses Interferes with Tracing Out Employees to Learn Who Are Missing.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 17.—(Special Telegram.)—The bodies of three women were taken from the ruins of the Noyes, Norman & Co. and the Richardson, Roberts & Co. factories today, the scene of yesterday's fire at Third and Jule streets. They are: MISS LOUISE BLONDEAU, 612 Water street. MISS DORA BATES, 510 Faron street. MISS LAURA HENDERSON, Main and High streets. The injured, some fatally, are: Mrs. Henrietta Berry, Mrs. Maude Riordan, Miss Abbie Terry, Miss Anna Gatswood, William Miller, William Dyer, Thomas Kowitski, John Freid, fireman.

At dark the searchers for bodies were compelled to desist. They met with severe difficulties all day long by reason of the heavy structural iron, that was warped and twisted, holding the debris securely until heavy hoisting machinery could be brought into requisition. Coroner John Doyle believes there are other bodies in the ruins, which will probably be recovered tomorrow. The owners of the factories have been endeavoring to locate their employees, and have only partially succeeded. The employees had no record of street addresses, and as many recently given employees were comparative strangers in the city and had been stopping at first one place and then another the task has been complicated.

Two on Plant System Take Fire Suddenly, Nearly Destroying Many Passengers.

PALATKA, Fla., March 17.—The Pullman sleeping cars Tabita and Elmer on the Plant system train from Tallahassee to Jacksonville were completely burned early this morning at Buffalo Bluff, seven miles from this city. At the time of the discovery of the flames they had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish them and the train was run to Buffalo Bluff, where the burning cars were shovelled onto a siding.

The seventeen passengers, including several women, in the burning cars, were hurried into the other sleepers and made as comfortable as possible. Several lost their clothing and personal effects. Blankets were taken away from the sleeping cars, and the passengers were wrapped in these until Jacksonville was reached, where the Plant system and Pullman officials provided for their wants.

One man lost his trousers and several men were without coats. The women lost the majority of their wearing apparel. The railroad officials had the measures of the passengers taken for clothing, dresses, shoes, etc., and they were supplied within a half hour of the time of the arrival of the train. The loss in jewelry and money is, according to the statement of passengers, between $10,000 and $15,000. The total loss is estimated at $69,000.
