The executive council has been squarely divided on the subject of railroad assessments from the beginning. Messrs. Shaw and Merriam have favored no substantial increase in the assessments and Martin and Gilbertson, the new members of the board, have favored an increase. Mr. Martin introduced a resolution at the beginning of the session of the board setting forth the great increase in reported earnings of the railroads doing business in Iowa and the year, and expressed a demand for an inrease of the railroad assessment to cormake railroad assessments about the same an exception in the case of the machinists

The average for the state, although acsessments are not made on gross earnings, is about 3 per cent. To equalize the ment on the various roads has been one of the chief tasks of the council. The result reached will be regarded as a deagainst an increase in assessment.
