CONTENT AND HAPPY AT 55.

Gentlemen:—It affords me great pleasure in the present time to report to you that I feel an old man and enjoy the best of health. I am 55 years old and enjoy the best of health. I was once a weak and run-down man, but I was helped by DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY. After two or three bottles I noticed a change coming over me. Nature seemed to be taking on new force and life and strength were returning once more. My tired, worn-out nervous system was being renewed and I was able to do my work as usual. I had delightful sleep, and would awake refreshed, feeling that I was in the best of health. I am now a well-to-do man and I am proud to say that I owe my present condition to your Pure Malt Whiskey. I am satisfied it is prolonging my life, not a life of misery, but one of contentment and happiness. I shall continue to use it with the hope that I will live to see the century mark. Sincerely yours,
EZZA GOULD, Textile Mill, Newark, N. J.

GOVERNOR EXPLAINS ACTION

Insists Supreme Court Commission is Merely a Make-shift.

IT PROVIDES ONLY TEMPORARY RELIEF

Disavows Rumors That Others Influenced His Attitude Toward the Measure—Expects Nebraskans to Rise in Their Might.

LINCOLN, April 5.—(Special.)—Governor Dietrich today authorized the publication of the following relative to his action on several of the items in the appropriation bills:

As much has been said in the public press concerning my action on the appropriation for salaries of the supreme court commissioners, and as it has been alleged that I was influenced for and against the measure by divers persons, I embrace this opportunity to impartially and fully recite the facts.

"First—Neither before my first action nor after was I influenced by either Mr. Hoidt, Mr. Rosewater or Judge Norval. My original action was supplemented by reason of the earnest appeal which came to me for relief from litigants, attorneys and persons having causes awaiting determination by the supreme court from all parts of the state. In the conglomerate mass are cases that have been pending for years, involving titles, legacies, judgments, equities and property rights, upon whose speedy determination depended the moral, physical and financial well-being of many of our citizens. I had some knowledge of the conditions in this respect, but it was not until the appeals were brought out in response to my veto of the appropriation that I realized fully the distressing state of affairs obtaining, and the same honesty of purpose which guided me in the first instance directed my action in the second. By that and that only was I influenced.

Ample Work for Five Judges.

It was my sincere and earnest desire that the legislature should do something looking to permanent relief of the court. Perhaps in other states in the union are legal affairs so sadly demoralized. Causes are being finally adjudicated at this time which were instituted in our courts all the way from six to eight years ago. The simple fact is that the business of the court has permanently outgrown its adjudicating capacity and not even hasty and therefore unreliable and often inequitable determinations can enable that tribunal to successfully discharge its duties. There is ample work for at least five judges and until such provision is made unsatisfactory and distressing conditions attend the adjudication of legal questions, a condition affecting not alone actions in court, but ramifying to every line of business, and disarming the law of every provision intended for the conservation and protection of public and private rights.

Considers Commission a Make-shift.

As I stated in my veto, I consider the commission a mere make-shift, providing only temporary relief and at the same time trespassing upon a domain restricted and inhibited by the fundamental and organic law of this state. It is only in an emergency, yielding to no other solution and to no other remedy, that such an expedient and essentially vulnerable remedy are to be tolerated.

So far as the payment of court fees into the state treasury was concerned, that was of minor consideration. Imposing burdens upon the taxpayers of this state in the sum of $50,000 and at the same time permitting the clerk of the supreme court to appropriate to his own use $50,000 in court fees which should go into the treasury for relief of the taxpayers was in my opinion a most serious matter. My chief executive of this state could not dismiss without protest. Then, too, this feature of the case became all the more serious when I considered that this unreasonably unfair conversion of public property being systematically prosecuted, not alone within the very shadow of the court, but with its avowed knowledge and acquiescence. My attack on this lawless practice was not because any individual was injured, but because I saw in it a shameful assault on principle, a travesty on justice and an outrage on the taxpayers of Nebraska.

Expects People to Rise.

The same influence that defeated the proposition to submit a constitutional amendment was exercised to pass the commission bill, and I can conceive of no other motive for opposing the amendment than that those who are profiting by the fees of the court should not have their securities disturbed by any political changes which might follow. The welfare and interests of the people were not in my mind of concern. The people of Nebraska are patient and tolerant, but they will not stand sense of justice if they do not some day rise in their might and repress forever this and all other kindred injustices.

How the Commission Will Work.

At its sitting next Monday the supreme court will probably outline the plan upon which the court commission is to act. Various methods of dividing the commission and apportioning the duties on the docket have been advanced, but the court decided to take no action on any of them until after the appointments are made. One plan is to divide the court and commission into four branches, each to consist of one judge and two commissioners and to classify the cases under the titles of equity, criminal and civil, the three branches to have the cases coming under these heads and the fourth branch to have all motions and miscellaneous business. Another and more likely method is to have the cases all apart from the commissioners. It has also been reported that the court proper would prepare no opinions, but it asserted unofficially that this is untrue. The judges will probably pass on most of the motions, but they will also have to argue on cases and prepare opinions as heretofore.

Appointments by the Governor.

The following appointments were announced today by Governor Dietrich: Nebraska commissioner at Pan-American exposition, Edgar L. Vance of Pawnee City.

Chief fish and game commissioner, George B. Simpkins of Lincoln; deputy fish and game commissioner, Joseph M. H. Brantner, deputy game warden, C. P. Combs of Omaha; Harry L. McConnell of Albia and George Carter of North Platte.

Chief oil inspector, E. R. Sizer of Lincoln; deputy oil inspectors, A. B. Ladd of Plattsmouth, Hugh Glasgow of Odell, S. J. Johnson of Minden, Eason Henshaw of St. Paul and J. L. Houston of Omaha.

Planning for State Fair.

Officers of the State Board of Agriculture will soon meet with the State Board of Public Lands and Buildings to select a permanent state fair site, for which an appropriation of $35,000 was voted by the legislature. Property on all sides of Lincoln, and of all grades of value, has been offered for sale to the state at prices ranging from $10,000 up to the full amount of the appropriation. All of these offers will receive serious consideration at the hands of the two boards, but the most likely choice, and one that has already been practically agreed on, is the land north of the city heretofore used for the state fair. This property is equipped with several buildings, a race track, an amphitheater and sheds for live stock, and has several advantages that the other sites offered do not possess. In its original form the bill providing for the appropriation of these grounds, but an amendment was adopted, giving authority to select the site in the Board of Public Lands and Buildings.

Addition to the Grounds.

It is asserted that the land north of the city can be bought for $22,000. It is probable that the board will add about six acres to the grounds and for all of the property pay about $25,000. Secretary Furnas said today that a portion of the appropriation would be used in improving the grounds.

"We expect," he added, "to put up some new sheds for live stock, repair all of the buildings now standing, and in addition construct a new barn that will be according to modern ideas. As to the location it can say nothing definite. The grounds north of the city are equipped with buildings that could not be reproduced for several thousand dollars, and it would be both economical and advisable to purchase them rather than a new site.

"The prospects for the next state fair are very encouraging," continued Secretary Furnas. "We will have better facilities than heretofore and it is our intention to

INCREASE THE PREMIUMS, ESPECIALLY FOR LIVE STOCK.

Corporations Legalized.

The secretary of state today legalized the following corporations:

St. Saviour's church, Omaha, by Bishop Scammiel and ten others; the Equitable Endowment company of Omaha, capital stock, $100,000, incorporators, Lester C. Landis, M. D. Gould and W. H. Winton; Grand Union Tea company, Newark, N. J., stock, $1,000,000, incorporators, Frank S. Jones of Brooklyn, Cyrus D. Jones of Scranton and William J. Burke of Scranton, Pa.

FAVORABLE CROP CONDITION

Hitchcock County Farmers Rejoice Over Excellent Outlook for the Year.

TRENTON, Neb., April 5.—(Special.)—The conditions were never more favorable for a crop in Hitchcock county than this year. After the big snow two smaller snows came, averaging a foot deep. The soil of the county is as good as can be found, always producing well. A large acreage of grain has been put in. Stock is in fine condition. Many old residents are acquiring more property and will stay here. Numerous newcomers are investing, as is shown by the land books of the county.

Nebraska State Normal School.

PERU, Neb., April 5.—(Special.)—The State Normal school is again in session for the last term of the year, with a large enrollment.

Miss Florence McGuire, teacher of drawing and art at Wesleyan university, was a Normal visitor this week.

The lecture on liquid air completed the course for the current year. The course of lectures given this year, though fewer in number than usual, was the most instructive any course given in recent years.

Miss Mears, formerly of the Normal faculty, but now a student at the University of Chicago, spent her vacation in Peru.

In general the faculty and students are attending the Southeastern Nebraska Teachers' association, now in session at Nebraska City.

The Normal band rendered an entertaining concert in the chapel last evening.
