Will Be Brought West for Trial on Charge of Trying to Victimize Merchants of Hastings with Stolen Drafts.

G. H. Grant, alleged mail-box robber, was arrested in Buffalo yesterday after He made a sensational escape from the custody of United States Deputy Marshal Just and equitable assessment. J. O. Moore and Police Sergeant Dempsey in the union station at Chicago the morning of April 7.

Intelligence of the arrest was received by Chief Donahue lest night from Postoffice Inspector Vickery. He telegraphed from Buffalo that Grant had been arrested there, but gave no particulars. The inspector asked to have Sergeant Dempsey bring Grant's property to Cincinnati, where his trial is to be. It has not been decided by the authorities here whether it will be necessary for Dempsey to return to the Grant, in company with his pal, Prentice Tiller, made a daring attempt to escape, in which only Grant was successful. The prisoners, handcuffed together, had been taken from the train by the officers to get breakfast and were in the waiting room when the dash was made. Dempsey missed the keys for the handcuffs and returned to the car to get them.

In his absence the prisoners, who had secured possession of the keys before leaving the car and unlocked their irons, sprang upon the deputy marshal and overpowered him. Tiller ran up the states and out of sight while Grant told the crowd which had gathered that Moore was a crazy man in his care. In the excitement not so fortunate, being recaptured by Chicago officers before he had gotten many feet from the station.

Grant had been photographed and measured by the Bertillon system while under arrest in Omaha and his picture and description were sent broadcast over the country. The federal authorities were unremitting in their search for him and his recapture was only a question of time.

000000 0000 00000 0000 00 0000 Even though all liquor licenses expired at midnight on April 50, only four local liquor dealers saw fit to pay into the city treasury the sum exacted yesterday. The regular license fee is, according to the Slocum law, $1,000 and in addition to this there remains the old occupation tax of $209. Saloon keepers have been vainly looking for some ray of light in this connection and hourly expecting a special meeting of the council to repeal this occupation tax ordinance.

It was rumored early yesterday morning that a special meeting of the council would be held at 10 a. m., but nothing transpired. Still the applicants for privileges did not himself, will have to pay for tags. come in with the money and, as the mayor did not besie any orders to the police to notify dealers in liquors, the saloons were permitted to operate the entire day without licerise.

It is thought that when the liquor dealers see today that there is no hope of having the occupation tax ordinance repealed they will pay up without further ado. Of the $1,200 demanded by City Treasurer Koutsky $1,000 goes to the school district and the school board needs the money, as the building of the proposed High school is to come the time they are there. Mrs. A. L. Hunup for revious consideration Monday night and it will be necessary to know at that time how much money there is available. Nearly every member of the council says that, while the tax is a little high, it will have to be paid this year, as the funds are exhausted and, owing to the change in the charter ,the expenses are increased.

Show Down Today.

A meeting of the South Omaha Street Fair company will be held today for the purpose of arranging the final details of the organization. According to the articles. the company will be incorporated with a capital of $5,000 and the members of the company will be expected to pay in their proportion at the meeting today. The incorporators of the company assert that there will be no lack of funds with which to carry forward the project and a big attendance is expected. Many of the representative business men are interested and. while the enterprise is to be a private one. a great many merchants are taking part and have announced their intention of assisting in the work pertaining to the conducton of a first-class street fair.
