

ENJOY DANCING IN THE BARN

Guests of the Jollyns Have a Swell Time in a Horse Palace.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENS IN THE RAIN

Storm Partially Nears the Event, but the Enthusiasts Play Golf and Dance with Much Fervor.

By far the most unique and among the most enjoyable social features of the season were the reception and dancing party given Wednesday and Thursday evenings by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jollyn in the splendid new barn that has just been completed on their grounds on West Davenport street. In dedication of the building, which is an exceptionally fine structure, Mr. and Mrs. Jollyn, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Conlin and Mr. and Mrs. Burdick, received about 250 of the oldest married people between 9 and 11 o'clock. The receiving party stood at the left of the main entrance of the carriage room, the polished floor and tiled walls of which, together with the exquisite floral decorations, presented a scene difficult to associate with a barn. The windows were latticed with ropes of smilax and in each stood boxes of flowers, while banks of ferns were suspended from the ceiling. In the harness room there was a profusion of carnations, the center of which was in a basket which stood in the center of the table. The guests present were: Mesdames French, Buchanan, Lyman, Peck, Yates, Morrison, McKenna, Green, Belden and Miss Boyd.

The participants in the recent Elks' benefit were given a dinner in the Elks' club-rooms Tuesday evening by the members of that order, the feast being followed by a dancing party. The affair was entirely informal, though none the less enjoyable, and a goodly representation of the Council Bluffs lodge was present. The rooms were elaborately decorated for the occasion and the evening a success in every particular.

A jolly party of young people gathered at the home of Miss Edith Smith on Thursday evening and from there started on a straw ride. The ride proved little more than a start, however, for the party had not gone far when the wagon broke down and they were compelled to abandon it. All returned to Miss Smith's home, where the evening was spent in a most enjoyable, if somewhat differently than had been intended.

Complimentary to her guest, Mrs. Alexander C. Dunn of Indianapolis, Mrs. V. H. Laderich entertained about twenty guests Friday at a luncheon at her home, 502 Broadway street. The house was effectively decorated in real, roses and carnations being the flowers used, and shaded candles furnishing the only light. The guests were seated at five small tables in the trimming of which the same flowers were employed. After the luncheon, the party was spent at high five, and at the close of the evening prizes were awarded Mrs. H. L. Whitney, Mrs. W. S. Recker and Mrs. H. L. Cummings.

The closing party of the winter season was given by the Winter club at Metropolitan hall Friday night. It was one of the most enjoyable dancing parties ever given in the city and came as a fitting finale to the series of pleasant affairs during the winter months. Arrangements were made to give the event every semblance of a May day party. The hall bore the appearance of a lawn. It was lighted by Japanese lanterns. Rustic seats surrounded the sides and hammocks were hung in profusion in the center of the dancing floor. A huge fountain, surrounded by potted palms and lilies, added attractiveness to the scene. A program of sixteen dances was given. The summer parties will be held monthly. The first will be held Thursday, June 6, either at Lake Manly or at the water works pumping station at Florence.

The "shirtwaist man" has become something besides a rumor, or at least something more tangible than the hero of a summer resort story, is really a fact and, furthermore, Omaha is to have at least one of these much-talked-of creatures this summer if his courage does not fail him, as it did last August. He is expected to arrive in town, who rather prides himself in the matter of dress, confided to a friend the other day, a woman, that he had placed an order with a Belfast maker for a dozen shirtwaists that are to be "stunners." He even went further and described one of them as "made of pure silk with white stripes in it and a double piece across the back, up next the neckband, and pleated down the front." He said he was going to wear them, too, even if he was the only fellow in town that did.

Pleasures Past.
Miss Viola Coffin was hostess at a dinner party on Thursday evening.
For Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie Clark, General and Mrs. Jordan gave a dinner Thursday.
Mrs. Harry Cowan entertained at a whist luncheon of seven tables, Saturday, about forty guests being present.
Mrs. Holterhoff was the guest of honor at a small and informal luncheon given by Mrs. Arthur Gulou at the Country club Friday.
Mrs. Ella Riggs of Twentieth and Dodge streets entertained the South Side Whist club Tuesday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Crickmore, Miss Tarrant and Mrs. Shoonline.
Mr. and Mrs. St. A. D. Balcombe celebrated their golden wedding on Wednesday evening, and in honor of the occasion a number of old-time friends gathered to extend congratulations.
Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Guckert entertained at dinner Thursday evening for Mrs. Alexander C. Dunn. There were eight guests present and pink and white roses were used in the trimming of the table.
In honor of her guest, Mrs. Holterhoff of California, Mrs. Will Redick entertained a party of nine at a luncheon Tuesday. Pink bridesmaid roses were used in the decoration of the table, a graceful bunch of them occupying the center. The guests present were: Mesdames Webster, Barton, Yates, Jollyn, Coutant, Morrison, Pritchett, Barker and Holterhoff.

Miss Shell was hostess at a meeting of the Mexican club Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Farnam street. High five constituted the afternoon's entertainment, the majority of the members being present.
In honor of his birthday, William F. Gurdley gave a dinner at the Omaha club on Tuesday evening. The affair was elaborate in every detail, the decorations being entirely in scarlet, American Beauty roses being used.
Mrs. Frank Martin entertained about fifty women at a Kensington on Thursday afternoon at her home on Kountze Place, Smilax, ferns, and pink and white carnations were used in profusion, transforming the rooms into bowers of pink and green.
In celebration of her husband's birthday, Mrs. D. S. Lockwood entertained a large party of friends Thursday evening at her home, 232 Madison street. The evening was spent in playing whist and other games, refreshments being served at the close.
The women members of the Southwest Dancing club entertained the men members at a May party Wednesday evening at the Thurston Rifles' hall. Every detail of the occasion had been arranged by the entertainers and during the evening the usual order of things was reversed and it was the women who exercised the "choice." The affair proved most enjoyable.

Mrs. W. H. McCord was hostess at an elaborate luncheon Friday, given in honor of her guest, Mrs. Bullock of Chicago. The table was prettily trimmed with roses and lilies, the flowers being combined in a basket which stood in the center of the table. The guests present were: Mesdames French, Buchanan, Lyman, Peck, Yates, Morrison, McKenna, Green, Belden and Miss Boyd.

The participants in the recent Elks' benefit were given a dinner in the Elks' club-rooms Tuesday evening by the members of that order, the feast being followed by a dancing party. The affair was entirely informal, though none the less enjoyable, and a goodly representation of the Council Bluffs lodge was present. The rooms were elaborately decorated for the occasion and the evening a success in every particular.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jollyn were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. A. Redick and Mrs. Holterhoff, and in the harness room, which was used as a punch room, Mrs. Biddwell, Mrs. Ives, Mrs. Nott and Mrs. Hall presided.

The carriage room was the center of the merriment, it being used as the ball room, the dancers consisting of the younger members of society, while many more looked on.
If society's interest in the Country club had flagged, it seems to have entirely recovered again, for that delightful place has once more become a center of Omaha society. It may have been the ideal days that have stimulated this enthusiasm, but it is a coincidence, nevertheless, that ever since the restocking of the larder the attendance there has increased noticeably. The players that have gone out for a game late in the afternoon have waited until early evening to return, the hands being washed and small golf luncheons and informal dinners have been the result. The storm yesterday afternoon interfered materially with the formal opening, which was to have commenced with the golf tournament for the men. As it was fully 100 people were present and the hands were washed and small golf luncheons and informal dinners have been the result. The storm yesterday afternoon interfered materially with the formal opening, which was to have commenced with the golf tournament for the men. As it was fully 100 people were present and the hands were washed and small golf luncheons and informal dinners have been the result.

The rain did not dampen the spirits of those who were present, however, and after the game the dinner for the golfers and many others came off in a most enjoyable manner. Afternoon attendants came back to the city after the game and returned again in the evening for the dance. It was this part of the program more than any other that was affected by the inclement weather, and while the evening hop was not largely attended, it was altogether enjoyable, the more so because there was room for the dancers in the big main room and out on the veranda. While there was no attempt at elaborate decoration there was an effective arrangement of flowers and greens.

That the "shirtwaist man" has become something besides a rumor, or at least something more tangible than the hero of a summer resort story, is really a fact and, furthermore, Omaha is to have at least one of these much-talked-of creatures this summer if his courage does not fail him, as it did last August. He is expected to arrive in town, who rather prides himself in the matter of dress, confided to a friend the other day, a woman, that he had placed an order with a Belfast maker for a dozen shirtwaists that are to be "stunners." He even went further and described one of them as "made of pure silk with white stripes in it and a double piece across the back, up next the neckband, and pleated down the front." He said he was going to wear them, too, even if he was the only fellow in town that did.

Woman's in Club and Work
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Douglas county held its annual convention at Valley on Thursday. The morning session opened at 10:30 o'clock with a devotional exercise led by Mrs. E. B. Towle of South Omaha.
Mrs. Elizabeth M. Covell of Omaha presided at the business session, the first work of which was the appointment of the following committees for the coming year: Plan of work, Mrs. G. H. Whitmore of Valley, chairman; Mrs. Harrington of Waterloo and Mrs. Scott of Omaha; resolutions, Mrs. Shirock of Omaha, chairman; Mrs. Blair of Valley and Mrs. Towle of South Omaha; courtesies, Mrs. Robinson of Waterloo, Mrs. Whitmore of Valley and Mrs. Van Winkle of South Omaha; nominating, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. Shirock and Mrs. Towle.
The early part of the afternoon was devoted to the hearing of reports of unions represented at the convention. The addresses of welcome were delivered by Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Harrington and a paper was read by Mrs. Noyes of Waterloo.
It was decided that the expenses of the county officers should be paid by the county organization and the election of chairmen for the different branches of work was then taken up, resulting as follows: Superintendent of the Scientific Temperance Institute, Mrs. Weekly; county organizer, Mrs. Whitmore; superintendent of jail and prison work, Mrs. Shirock; of the flower mission, Mrs. Powell; press and literature, Mrs. Aston. After a paper on "How Best to Increase Our Membership," by Mrs. Towle, the reports of the committees were given, and the session adjourned.
The evening session opened at 8 o'clock with a devotional exercise. There was an address by Mrs. Covell and then came the feature of the evening, a discussion on Carrie Nation and her methods, led by Mrs. Shirock, Mrs. Towle and Mrs. Whitmore. The remainder of the evening was given over to a mixed program of music and recitations.
