

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM OMAHA.

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

MINOR MENTION.

Davis sells drugs. Stockert sells lace curtains. Fine A B C beer, Neumayer's hotel. Victor heaters. Bixby & Son, agents. Weisman, scientific optician, 423 B way. Pasturage, Johnson, 222 Sixth ave. Tel. 383. Schmidt's fine photos guaranteed to please. Thirty-eight fine plants for sale. Address N. Bee office.

Colonel Charles R. Hannan has returned from a visit in the east. For sale, clean, sharp tank sand, carboys, W. H. Cooper, 1217 Broadway. W. F. Graft, undertaker and distainer, 101 South Main street. Phone 206. Get your work done at the popular Eagle laundry, 121 Broadway. Phone 151. Use Hall's Magic Compound, Best draft cure and hair preserver known. Special attention given to wedding presents. C. E. Alexander, C. O. 233 B way. For sale, household furniture and home accessories, cheap. Inquire Dr. A. Hammon, Grand hotel.

A want ad in The Bee will bring results. The same advertisement placed in the Council Bluffs as at the Omaha office. Take home a brick of Vanilla cream, 25 cents. Neighbors, 1217 Broadway. Twin Brother's emulsion No. 42, independent Order of Odd Fellows, 1217 Broadway. There will be work in the patriarchal degree. For rent, good house, stable and five-acre garden land. Will rent to good carpenter or painter. Will take all the rent in work. Apply to Leonard Engle, 1217 Broadway. The school board at a special meeting called for tonight will consider the bids for the blackboards for the new high school building, also the question of furniture. Mrs. W. C. James left last evening for Chicago, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Eaton. Before returning Mrs. James will visit the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo.

The city council will meet in monthly session this evening. A number of special matters will be called up in addition to the monthly agenda, and a busy session will probably result. W. M. and J. R. Harcourt left last night for Fort Morgan, Colorado, to inspect the irrigation lands in Morgan county. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lattin were members of the party. The Great Western circus fared badly in Council Bluffs. The threatening weather of Saturday afternoon prevented a large audience from attending the performance, while the heavy showers which came up early in the evening kept away all spectators. Two residences were placed under quarantine yesterday because of one case of smallpox, the patient being James McKenney. He has been boarding at the Caldwell residence, 216 E. Tenth st., and was isolated here yesterday by the health authorities. McKenney spent Saturday night at the home of his brother, 122 West Broadway, and in consequence his house will be under quarantine seven days.

N. Y. Plumbing Co., telephone 253. SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN CONVENTION.

Pottawattamie Looks for One of the Best Gatherings.

The plans for the convention of the Sunday schools of Pottawattamie county are maturing rapidly as the time for the meeting draws near. The prospects are that the convention will be one of the best ever held by the county association. At a meeting of the executive committee and the superintendents of the Council Bluffs schools last week the date for the convention was set for Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8. The Friday session will be in the German Methodist Episcopal church, North Seventh street, and the Saturday session will take the form of a picnic at Fairmount park. A basket dinner will be served at noon. A special effort is to be made to draw out a large attendance of children. To this end prizes have been offered for the largest percentage of the enrollment present on that day. Food making the best showing will be given $10; to the town school, barring Council Bluffs, $10; to the school in Council Bluffs, best showing, $10, second best, $5. It is hoped later to offer two more prizes of $15 and $10 to the schools having the largest and the second largest number of scholars present, this being open to all schools, including Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs, though no school will be allowed to carry away more than one prize.

Davis sells glass.

Gravel roofing. A. H. Read, 541 Broadway.

REALLY OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

DeLong Industrial Mission Will Have a Day's Outing.

A rally of the children of the DeLong industrial mission is to be Saturday afternoon. The program includes a basket lunch in the new hall, 525 East Broadway, followed by a trolley ride over the system of the street railway. The lunch is to be served in the hall at 12 o'clock, each one present being expected to bring his lunch in a basket. Then will be given a program of singing and short talks. Rev. W. J. Calfee, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church, leading.

The trolley ride is planned for 2 o'clock. The motor company has made a special round trip rate for the circuit, which will include a trip to Omaha and return and to Lake Manawa and return. An invitation is being extended to all who desire to participate in the party.

Davis sells paint.

Rubber stamps at DeLong's, 307 B way.

Full Measure. In value—Dollar for dollar—Penny for penny—When you buy shoes at our store. For the latest novelties in footwear see our show windows. SARGENT'S. Look for the Bear.

FARM LOANS. Negotiated in Eastern Nebraska and Iowa. James N. Casady, Jr., 126 Main St., Council Bluffs.

LEWIS OUTLER. Funeral Director. Inquirer to W. C. Estep, 28 PEARL STREET. Phone 97.

IT'S AN OLD STORY. BUT REPEATING. Our Soda Fountain is now open and we are serving the most delicious drinks you have ever tasted. Dell G. Morgan's, Drug Store, 142 West Broadway.

Wedding Gifts. of value, beauty, of practical use, in sterling silver, quadruple, silver plate and silver with gold trim. Here in tempting variety—scores of other things equally sensible for wedding or bridal presents. Before investing your money for a friend's wedding outfit, be sure to look through our stock. Herman M. Leffert, Graduate Optician, 236 Broadway, Council Bluffs.

WET AND PROUD OF IT

Council Bluffs Receives Thirty Men from Omaha with Open Bars.

VISITORS' MOTTO IS "DRIVEN FROM HOME"

Theater and Saloons Do a Flourishing Business and Many Convey Their Bottles of Bait to Secluded Fishing Pond.

"Driven from Home!" "Alive in Council Bluffs!"

These badges adorned the coats of many of the thirty men from the Nebraska side of the river who spent Sunday in Council Bluffs, where they could secure an unlimited supply of liquid refreshment of most any kind. The first badge was printed on white paper and was worn by the incoming delegation. Some enterprising Bluffs took pity on the visitors and soon trotted out the other badge, printed on buff colored ribbon. The crowd was an orderly one and, though the guests visited the saloons frequently, securing entrance by the side doors, there were no arrests for intoxication during the day. The police commented in the orderly manner in which the visitors conducted themselves. The storm of course cut down the size of the delegation that left the dry town. The saloon and refreshment men on this side of the river were prepared for a heavy day's business, and were disappointed that the weather man should have dampened the opportunity afforded by Mayor Moore's closing edict. The Orpheum show at the Dobay theater was well patronized both afternoon and evening, two-thirds of the audience coming from Omaha. Lake Manawa, with its excellent opportunity for fishing, was also an attractive place for a number who were not to be scared out by a few showers. It is said that most of the fishermen coming from Omaha provided themselves with bottles as they passed through Council Bluffs.

LARGE ACCESSION TO CHURCHES.

Missionary from China Tells of Her Work Abroad.

Fourteen persons were received into the First Congregational church at the May communion service yesterday. Twelve of these came on confession of faith and the others with letters from other congregational churches. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Wilson, read a sermon especially addressed to the new members. He showed that the secret of the holy life depends on the work of God in transforming the character and bringing out the beauties of the soul. This is a gradual work, lasting from the beginning of the life. He mentioned three secrets of this growth: Spirit communion with God, a definite consecration to God and His service; the consistent life.

Miss Cora Schwartz, a member of the choir of the Kountze Memorial church in Omaha, sang a solo, "God Be Merciful," which was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Helen Galloway, who has been in the missionary work in west China, spoke in the Broadway Methodist church yesterday morning. Her field of labor was nearly 2,000 miles up the Yang Tse Kiang river from Shanghai, so that she was far removed from the scenes of the recent disturbances. With all the other missionaries she was ordered out of the country last July. She told of the work she has been engaged in, the principal effort being to found Christian homes by educating the girls in the boarding school and seeing that they were married to deserving men graduated from the boys' boarding schools. This work proved successful. A collection for the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions was taken after the address.

Next Sunday is to be observed as anniversary Sunday by the Broadway Methodist church and the members are planning for a large celebration. The festivities will begin with a family gathering of the church Friday evening in the church parlors, which will be a program and refreshments. At that time the members are expected to return the envelopes which were sent out recently. Sunday will have several special services, though the program is not yet completed. Rev. Dr. Hirst, pastor of the First Methodist church in Omaha, will preach at the afternoon service and an effort is being made to have one of the church bishops present during the day.

A musical service composed of selections from the works of the late Sir John Stainer, the great English organist and composer, was given in connection with the evening service at St. Paul's Episcopal church last night.

Commencing last night the evening services in all of the Council Bluffs churches began at 8 o'clock. This will be the hour until September 1.

Too Much Fireworks for Passengers.

Four persons had experience during the storm Saturday afternoon which they do not care to repeat. They were in one of the small motor cars when the storm came up and the shutting off of the power caught them about Eighteenth street.

While the rain was pouring on the outside a bolt of lightning struck the trolley wire and passed down through the motor. There was a whizzing noise and a puff of smoke, which frightened men, women and children. After the storm had subsided and the power was turned on the motor man attempted to start his car. As he turned the power into the controller a flash of fire shot through the car door and the car was filled with the odor of burning insulation. After repeating this performance it was decided to await the coming of the electrician.

ARRESTED FOR OMAHA THEFT.

Mamie Gibson is Discovered Through a Prisoner's Letter.

Mamie Gibson was arrested in Council Bluffs yesterday morning and taken to Omaha in answer for the theft of a gold watch and chain and a black silk waist from the Paxton hotel. Her presence in the city was revealed by a letter from her found in the pocket of E. W. Cook, arrested on a charge of being drunk and a vagrant. Cook, who is known to the police under several aliases, will probably be held for disposing of stolen property, as he had pawned the watch.

Mamie Gibson was a chambermaid in the Paxton hotel at the time when she admits she stole the jewelry and waist. She then made her home in this city. She had had some dealings with Cook at Grand Island, Neb., where he went under the name of J. W. Wilson. A letter thus addressed to Wilson, with a return card on the envelope bearing the girl's address at the Paxton hotel, caught the attention of Detective Savage, Dunbar and Donahue of Omaha, who recognized the name as the one connected with the Paxton hotel theft.

In Cook's pocket was also found the pawn ticket for the watch. The waist and the chain were in the possession of the Gibson woman, who, when arrested by Chief Albro, was willing to return to Omaha with the officers.

PICKPOCKETS FOLLOW CIRCUS.

Council Bluffs Police Round the Gang Up in a Sideshow.

The police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working. E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E. W. Cook, alias J. W. Wilson, alias "Kid" Cook of Denver, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and will probably be held in connection with the disposal of the watch alleged to have been stolen by Mamie Gibson, is said to have been one of the show gang, following the circus in town. Fifteen of the gang were rounded up in a sideshow and "told where they were at." It is believed that the storm, which lasted most of the night, prevented any attempt at house-working.

Police consider that the city escaped largely unscathed at the hands of the house-working E.