THE RAILWAY SPECULATION.

To one not familiar with the subtle methods of speculation the course of the stock market yesterday appears incomprehensible, and even the professional speculator will find some difficulty in understanding it.

It was a disastrous experience for the speculators who had sold Northern Pacific at 150 and were compelled to pay several times that price for it.

Referring to the withdrawal of the American troops from China, the New York Evening Post says the fact rounds out an episode in American diplomacy.

Fortunes made in stock gambling always bring in a train of bankruptcy.

Jim Hill may not gobble the Burlington, but the Burlington will survive without interrupting its train service.

Omaha is ahead so far on hog slaughtering for the current year as compared with a year ago.

The San Francisco cooks have been joined by the bakers and unless a settlement is reached soon...

The medical regulars are arming for another fray with the osteopaths.

The safest thing for a man who has money is to invest it in legitimate enterprises.

What an expensive freak for the defaulting president of a Cleveland savings bank to travel all the way to San Francisco in order to put a bullet through his brain.

For an off year the interest in the governorship nomination in Iowa is warming up remarkably early.

Mr. Phillips' little corner in May corn has dropped out of sight since the Wall street speculators commenced to burn money.

Andrew Carnegie has something to give away besides libraries.

Russell Sage may have been wrong in his prediction of a panic, but those who refused to heed his warning can probably borrow a few million dollars from Russell if they have good security.

Indiana is starting in as a rival of Kansas in novel methods.

Ex-President Cleveland and Daniel Lamont are said to have made $800,000 out of the Northern Pacific flurry.

Mr. Lamont is intimately connected with Northern Pacific matters he probably gave his former chief a tip, and it is not the first time that the shrewd Daniel has been of material service to Mr. Cleveland.

Nebraska druggists would like to stop wars on physics and have finally decided to patronize no wholesalers who sell to rate-cutters.

Omaha jobbers have always been complaining about rate discriminations.

It is for the interest of the employer to make landholders of his working force.

Eight murder or manslaughter cases are scheduled for hearing in New England during this week.

As time goes on and the plans of "the allies" are more developed in China, American citizens have the more reason to congratulate themselves that the country is not included in the proceedings of "Christianity" in that empire.

The property of the United States in the capitol at Washington has not been regarded as in danger when congress is not in session.

The policy the sugar, tobacco and rice interests are trying to force upon the administration and congress in respect to Cuban trade is heartless toward Cuba and stupid toward ourselves.

The remarks of prominent labor leaders at the conference in New York offer a good illustration of the sobering effect of responsibility upon men who have brains enough to think.

No good reason exists why South Omaha should not be one of the principal centers for great live stock sales.

The rapid increase of Italian immigration to this country has been remarked for several years past.

In the six weeks that will end on Saturday next the immigration records kept on Ellis island show that 50,000 immigrants will have landed at New York.

President Loubet is one of the best guarded rulers in Europe.

The surrender of General Tinio, General Alejandro and divers and numerous other Filipino leaders so soon after Aguinaldo's proclamation calling for peace gives assurance of a speedy end to the trouble in the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—United States Minister Couger has arrived in Washington and is stopping with a relative here.

PROMOTING HOME OWNING.

Practical Helps to Workmen by Industrial Establishments. The example set by Chamberlain in England, by the Nelson Manufacturing company of St. Louis, by some of the branches of the Standard Oil company, and, indeed, by many of the leaders of industry, in supplying to their employes the means of housing, at a moderate price, is one of the truest charities and one of the wisest insurances against disorder and discontent that can be devised.

But, the belief of many good people to the contrary, the average company is not of the unjust and gain-fraught kind. It is composed of the men we meet in the street and in the market place, and in the church, and the club, and the home, and from these men not one in a thousand or five ever suffers insult or injury at their voices or their hands.

It is for the interest of the employer to make landholders of his working force.

It is not difficult for a company operating at a little distance from a town to buy a few acres for a settlement, and to build cottages as they may be needed.

It is likely that American exports of coal will reach large figures ere long.

BITS OF WASHINGTON LIFE.

One of the solemn sights of the eastern outskirts of Washington is the old Congressional cemetery, where rest all that is mortal of many forgotten statesmen.

It is 130 centophs to dead congressmen, stretching in monotonous rows through the cemetery, all of them, with two exceptions, of a uniform shape and size, and erected at government expense to the memory of the government's dead representatives.

Among the centophs is one to Pushmataha, a Choctaw chief who, the inscription states, "died of grief" in the 60th year of his age, while visiting Washington in 1824.

By a timely stretch of his pull Comptroller Dawes saved the job of Patrick Flynn, a civil war veteran, who saved the life of the uncle of the comptroller while scrapping with the rebels down in Georgia.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Rider Haggard is now a sober-going justice of the peace in Norfolk, England.

Mrs. J. Y. Sammons's gift of $61,000 in land to the University of Chicago is to be put to an immediate use and plans for the new building to be located on it are already well under way.

Levi P. Morton is seeking to be gradually relieved of the cares of business.

Senator Stewart of Nevada owns a great stock farm near Leesburg, Va., and has returned to Washington after a long jaunt through the Old Dominion, during which he made over 250 purchases of the live stock.

The Austrian Parliament has a member who is a waiter.

Orville J. Nave, an army captain, has the record of slipping out from under more assignments than any man in the service.

President Loubet is one of the best guarded rulers in Europe.

25 Years Younger. I am now seventy-two years of age and my hair is as dark as it was twenty-five years ago. People say I look at least that much younger than I am. I would be entirely bald or snow-white if it were not for your Hair Vigor.
